1. Introduction	1
1.1 Static Focal Points	1
1.1.1 Coordination	1
1.1.2 Bargaining	4
1.2 Dynamic Focal Points	6
1.3 Outline	7
2. Static Focal Points in Framed Strategic Games	9
2.1 Introduction	9
2.2 Examples	10
2.3 Harsanyi and Selten's Symmetry Invariance Requirement	13
2.3.1 Introduction	13
2.3.2 Strategic Games	14
2.3.3 Solution Concepts	15
2.3.4 Invariance with Respect to Isomorphisms	16
2.3.5 Symmetry Invariance	19
2.4 Rationalizing Static Focal Points	24
2.4.1 Rationalizing the Choice of a Salient Option	24
2.4.2 The Variable Frame Theory of Focal Points	26
2.4.3 Sugden's Labelling	34
2.4.4 The Principle of Coordination	36
2.5 Framed Strategic Games (FSGs)	38
2.5.1 Frames	38
2.5.2 Language Invariance	41
2.5.3 Symmetry Invariance	43
2.5.4 Meaning and Structure of Labels—an Extraterrestrial's Perspective	45
2.5.5 Separating FSGs	46
2.5.6 Applications	48
2.6 Focal Points in FSG Representations of VUMGs	51
2.6.1 FSG Representations of VUMGs	52
2.6.2 An Example	52
2.6.3 Reduction of FSGs and Focal Points in VUMGs	53

3.	Weak Isomorphisms of Extensive Games	55
3.1	Introduction	55
3.2	Finite Extensive Games with Perfect Recall	58
3.2.1	Definition	58
3.2.2	Perfect Recall	61
3.2.3	Strategies	63
3.2.4	Subgames	64
3.2.5	Solution Concepts	65
3.3	Invariance with Respect to Weak Isomorphisms	67
3.3.1	Weak Isomorphisms of Extensive Games	67
3.3.2	Weak Isomorphism Invariance	73
3.3.3	Weak Symmetry Invariance	74
3.3.4	The Order of Actions	75
3.4	Strong Isomorphisms of Extensive Games	83
3.5	Traditional Extensive Representations of Strategic Games	86
3.5.1	Definition	86
3.5.2	Symmetry in Traditional Representations of Strategic Games	87
3.6	Conclusion	89
4.	Dynamic Focal Points in Framed Extensive Games	91
4.1	Introduction	91
4.2	Examples	93
4.2.1	Crawford & Haller's Rule for Repeated Matching Games	93
4.2.2	Conscious Production of a Description	94
4.3	Modelling Dynamic Focal Points	95
4.3.1	Extensive Games	95
4.3.2	Extensive Games with History	97
4.3.3	Framed Strategic Games—Ad hoc Approach	100
4.3.4	Framed Strategic Games—General Approach	101
4.4	Framed Extensive Games (FEGs)	107
4.4.1	Frames	107
4.4.2	Weak Isomorphisms of FEGs and Language Invariance	108
4.4.3	Weak Symmetries of FEGs	109
4.5	Modelling Dynamic Focal Points by FEGs	109
4.5.1	Crawford & Haller's Rule	109
4.5.2	Conscious Production of a Description	111
4.5.3	History Labelled Agent Normal Forms	112
5.	Conclusion	115
5.1	Static Focal Points in Framed Strategic Games	115
5.2	Weak Isomorphisms of Extensive Games	116
5.3	Dynamic Focal Points in Framed Extensive Games	118
5.4	Perspective	118
