

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This volume gathers the first part of the program which was presented by the World Phenomenology Institute at its Third International Congress of Phenomenology/Philosophy and the Sciences of Life, which was held at the Collegium Medicum of the Jagiellonian University, of Krakow, Poland, on September 13–16, 1999. The theme of the congress was: “Forces, Dynamisms, and the Shaping of Life: Vital, Existential, Creative.” It continued our exploration of Phenomenology and the Sciences of Life. We owe our sincere gratitude to Professor Dr. Hab. Aleksander Koj, Rector Magnificus emeritus of the Jagiellonian University for his gracious support of this venture when it was first proposed and to Professor Dr. Hab. Franciszek Ziejka, Rector Magnificus of the Jagiellonian University for his support and hospitality at the time of its realization. To Dean Włodzimierz Rydzewski of the Jagiellonian University we likewise owe a debt of gratitude.

For the World Phenomenology Institute and myself, its president, the presence at the opening of the congress of the Honorable David Fried, American Ambassador to Poland, together with Mark Toner, American Consul General in Krakow, and their suite, was a special privilege.

The faculty, staff, and students of the Institute of Philosophy of the Jagiellonian University, under the direction of Dr. Justyna Miklaszew offered us substantial help in organizing this magnificent event. In particular we are grateful to colleagues Tadeusz Czarnik, Piotr Mróz, Joanna Handerek from this Institute, but also to Leszek Pyra and Ignacy Fiut from other departments of the University, who together with our valued collaborator Robert Wise, Jr. have carried out the day-to-day progress of the event. Thanks to Zbigniew Zalewski who has obtained for the congress the incomparable setting of the Collegium Medicum for lectures and opening of the congress!

We owe them all and each in a particular way warmest thanks for the outstanding success of this event. It should not be forgotten the behind-the-scenes painstaking and dedicated efforts of Jeffrey Hurlburt, who on the premises of the Institute in Belmont, Massachusetts, took in hand and orchestrated all the moves of this philosophical play to be performed upon the stage of the Jagiellonian University in the far-off land of Poland.

To him and to Rosemary Lunardini and Robert Wise, Jr. for their care in editing the presented papers for publication, I owe my heartiest personal thanks.

The authors/speakers who flocked to Krakow from all around the world merit a special ovation.

A-T.T.

Life Energies, Forces and the Shaping of Life: Vital, Existential

Book I

Tymieniecka, A.-T. (Ed.)

2002, XXXIV, 398 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-1-4020-0627-2