

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
1. Introduction	1
1. Organization of the Soviet State	4
2. The Linguistic Map of the Soviet Union	8
3. Ethnic Composition of the USSR	20
4. Analyzing the Soviet Union	26
2. An Overview of Soviet Language Policy	35
1. The Early Soviet Years	35
2. Constructing Nationalities	38
3. The Nationalities Question	40
4. The Literacy Campaign	45
5. Language Policy under Stalin, 1930–1950	54
6. Language Policy after World War II	57
7. Brezhnev and the 1970's	58
8. Language and Education	59
9. Perestroika	62
3. The Slavic Republics and Moldova	65
1. The Russian Soviet Federate Socialist Republic	66
2. The Ukrainian SSR	82
3. The Belorussian SSR	86
4. The Moldavian SSR	89
5. The Backlash of Reform	93
4. The Baltic States	95
1. Introduction to the Baltics	95
2. The Estonian SSR	97
3. The Latvian SSR	99
4. The Lithuanian SSR	104
5. Reform and Revolt	108
5. The Caucasus	111
1. Overview of the Caucasus	111
2. The Georgian SSR	115
3. The Armenian SSR	122
4. The Azerbaijan SSR	123
5. The North Caucasus	125
6. Summary View of the Caucasus	134

6.	Central Asia	137
1.	Overview of Central Asia	137
2.	Turkestan	141
3.	The Uzbek SSR	143
4.	Central Asia Prior to World War II	149
5.	Central Asia after Stalin	157
6.	Language Reform	159
7.	The North	161
1.	Languages of the North	161
2.	The Literacy Campaign in the North	162
3.	“Small” Languages of the North	167
4.	Language Development	173
5.	The “Large” Minorities	179
6.	Language Endangerment	187
8.	The Impact of Soviet Language Policy	193
1.	Language Shift	193
2.	Shifting Demographics	197
3.	The New “Nativization” Movements	204
4.	Conclusion	209
	Appendix	211
	Works Consulted	219
	Language Index	227
	Subject Index	231
	Map of the Soviet Union, 1980	237

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-4020-1298-3>

Language Policy in the Soviet Union

Grenoble, L.A.

2003, X, 240 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-1-4020-1298-3