

Contents

|          |                                                                      |           |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1 | SPRINGS AND ELASTIC COMPONENT                                 | 1  |
| 1.1      | SPRING CONSTANT . . . . .                                            | 1         |
| 1.1.1    | Definition of the Spring . . . . .                                   | 1         |
| 1.1.2    | Tangential Gradient . . . . .                                        | 2         |
| 1.1.3    | System of Multiple Degrees of Freedom . . . . .                      | 2         |
| 1.2      | ELASTIC COMPONENT IN A VIBRATION SYSTEM . . . . .                    | 3         |
| 1.2.1    | Vibration Equations . . . . .                                        | 3         |
| 1.2.2    | Chords of a Guitar . . . . .                                         | 4         |
| 1.2.3    | Wave Equation . . . . .                                              | 6         |
| 1.3      | FIRST STAGES OF ANALYSIS . . . . .                                   | 7         |
| 1.3.1    | Orientation . . . . .                                                | 7         |
| 1.3.2    | Steps of Analysis . . . . .                                          | 8         |
| 1.3.3    | A Pitfall in the Approximate Solution . . . . .                      | 9         |
| 1.3.4    | Element Stiffness of Elastic Component . . . . .                     | 10        |
| 1.4      | ONE-DIMENSIONAL COMBINATION OF COMPONENTS . . . . .                  | 11        |
| 1.4.1    | Coupling Between Components . . . . .                                | 11        |
| 1.4.2    | Generalized Matrix Equation for Coupled Elastic Components . . . . . | 13        |
| 1.4.3    | Verification of Boundary Condition Type . . . . .                    | 14        |
| 1.4.4    | Parallel Coupling of Elastic Components . . . . .                    | 16        |
| 1.4.5    | Transverse Stiffness of Elastic Components . . . . .                 | 17        |
| 1.5      | PLANE STRUCTURES . . . . .                                           | 19        |
| 1.5.1    | Transformation of Coordinates . . . . .                              | 19        |
| 1.5.2    | Obliquely Connected Components . . . . .                             | 21        |
| 1.5.3    | From Components to Finite Elements . . . . .                         | 25        |
| 2 | OUTLINE OF FINITE ELEMENT METHOD (FEM)                        | 29 |
| 2.1      | FUNDAMENTALS OF ELASTO-PLASTICITY DYNAMICS . . . . .                 | 29        |
| 2.1.1    | Viewpoint of Continuum Dynamics . . . . .                            | 29        |
| 2.1.2    | General Equations . . . . .                                          | 30        |
| 2.1.3    | Basic Equations for Linear Elastic Body . . . . .                    | 31        |
| 2.1.4    | Principle of Virtual Work . . . . .                                  | 33        |
| 2.2      | EXPANSION TO NONLINEAR PROBLEMS . . . . .                            | 34        |

|          |                                                                   |           |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 2.2.1    | Geometrical Nonlinearity . . . . .                                | 34        |
| 2.2.2    | Material Nonlinearity . . . . .                                   | 36        |
| 2.3      | EXPANSION TO DYNAMIC PROBLEMS . . . . .                           | 38        |
| 2.3.1    | Mass and Damping Matrix . . . . .                                 | 38        |
| 2.3.2    | Natural Frequency . . . . .                                       | 40        |
| 2.3.3    | Simulation . . . . .                                              | 44        |
| 2.4      | SPATIAL DISCRETIZATION . . . . .                                  | 45        |
| 2.4.1    | Derivating Procedure of Element Stiffness . . . . .               | 45        |
| 2.4.2    | Stiffness of Truss Elements . . . . .                             | 46        |
| 2.4.3    | Element Stiffness of Plane Stress . . . . .                       | 48        |
| 2.4.4    | Element Stiffness of a Three-dimensional Elastic Body . . . . .   | 50        |
| 3 | ROLE OF FEM IN SPRING ANALYSIS                             | 53 |
| 3.1      | COMPARISON OF FEM WITH CONVENTIONAL DESIGN METH-ODS . . . . . | 54        |
| 3.1.1    | Assumption in Model Construction . . . . .                        | 54        |
| 3.1.2    | From Linear to Nonlinear . . . . .                                | 56        |
| 3.2      | THE UTILIZATION OF FEM SOFTWARE . . . . .                         | 57        |
| 3.2.1    | Use of Commercial Software . . . . .                              | 57        |
| 3.2.2    | Selection of Commercial Software . . . . .                        | 58        |
| 3.2.3    | Development of Dedicated Programs . . . . .                       | 59        |
| 3.3      | EFFECTIVENESS IN DESIGN PRACTICE . . . . .                        | 60        |
| 3.3.1    | Single Spring and Peripheral Parts . . . . .                      | 60        |
| 3.3.2    | Simulation of the Manufacturing Process . . . . .                 | 61        |
| 3.4      | PROSPECT OF FUTURE APPLICATION . . . . .                          | 63        |
| 3.4.1    | Optimum Design . . . . .                                          | 63        |
| 3.4.2    | Nonlinear Problems in Manufacturing Simulation . . . . .          | 64        |
| 3.4.3    | Necessity of Material Data . . . . .                              | 66        |
| 4 | CLASSIFICATION AND APPLICATION OF ELEMENT                  | 69 |
| 4.1      | INTRODUCTION OF VARIOUS ELEMENTS . . . . .                        | 69        |
| 4.1.1    | Beam Elements . . . . .                                           | 69        |
| 4.1.2    | Plate Elements . . . . .                                          | 72        |
| 4.1.3    | Axisymmetric Elements . . . . .                                   | 74        |
| 4.1.4    | Cubic Elements (Solid Elements) . . . . .                         | 76        |
| 4.1.5    | Contact Elements . . . . .                                        | 77        |
| 4.2      | SELECTION OF ELEMENT AND DISCRETIZING PRACTICE . . . . .          | 78        |
| 4.2.1    | Selection of Elements . . . . .                                   | 78        |
| 4.2.2    | Tips on Discretization . . . . .                                  | 80        |
| 5 | ELEMENTARY ANALYSIS                                        | 83 |
| 5.1      | FORMED WIRE SPRINGS . . . . .                                     | 84        |
| 5.2      | STABILIZER BARS . . . . .                                         | 94        |
| 5.3      | HELICAL COMPRESSION SPRINGS . . . . .                             | 100       |
| 5.3.1    | Static Analysis . . . . .                                         | 101       |

|          |                                                                                           |            |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 5.3.2    | Analysis of Eigenvalue . . . . .                                                          | 119        |
| 5.4      | HELICAL EXTENSION SPRINGS . . . . .                                                       | 121        |
| 5.5      | HELICAL TORSION SPRINGS . . . . .                                                         | 125        |
| 5.6      | SPIRAL SPRINGS . . . . .                                                                  | 128        |
| 5.7      | LEAF SPRINGS . . . . .                                                                    | 137        |
| 5.8      | FLAT SPRINGS . . . . .                                                                    | 151        |
| 5.9      | STRESS CONCENTRATION . . . . .                                                            | 155        |
| 5.9.1    | Stress Concentration on the Periphery of a Center Bolt Holefor Leaf Springs . . . . . | 155        |
| 5.9.2    | Stress Concentration at the Slit Bottom of a Disc Spring . .                              | 159        |
| 5.9.3    | Stress Concentration at the End of a Torsion Bar Spring . .                               | 163        |
| 6 | EXPANSION OF ANALYTICAL HANDLING                                                   | 169 |
| 6.1      | STABILIZER BARS . . . . .                                                                 | 170        |
| 6.1.1    | Tubular Stabilizer Bars . . . . .                                                         | 171        |
| 6.1.2    | Effect of Bush . . . . .                                                                  | 176        |
| 6.2      | HELICAL COMPRESSION SPRINGS . . . . .                                                     | 180        |
| 6.2.1    | Problem of Contact . . . . .                                                              | 181        |
| 6.2.2    | Non-circular Cross Section . . . . .                                                      | 188        |
| 6.2.3    | Presetting . . . . .                                                                      | 193        |
| 6.2.4    | Surging . . . . .                                                                         | 198        |
| 6.3      | LEAF SPRINGS . . . . .                                                                    | 201        |
| 6.3.1    | RBA Type Leaf Springs . . . . .                                                           | 202        |
| 6.3.2    | Effect of Shackle and Contact Plate . . . . .                                             | 205        |
| 6.3.3    | Hysteresis Characteristic . . . . .                                                       | 209        |
| 6.3.4    | Wind-up . . . . .                                                                         | 213        |
| 6.3.5    | Presetting . . . . .                                                                      | 215        |
| 6.4      | DISC SPRINGS, RING SPRINGS . . . . .                                                      | 219        |
| 6.4.1    | Disc Springs . . . . .                                                                    | 219        |
| 6.4.2    | Ring Springs . . . . .                                                                    | 223        |
|          | INDEX                                                                              | 229 |

FEM for Springs

Shimoseki, M.; Hamano, T.; Imaizumi, T. (Eds.)

2003, XIV, 234 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-540-00046-4