
Contents

1	Business Across Borders	1
1.1	Overview of International Business	1
1.1.1	What Makes a Business Transaction “International”?	2
1.1.2	Types of Transaction	3
1.1.3	Types of Entities	6
1.2	Six Forms of Separation	7
1.2.1	Political Separation	8
1.2.2	Physical Separation	9
1.2.3	Relational Separation	11
1.2.4	Environmental Separation	12
1.2.5	Developmental Separation	12
1.2.6	Cultural Separation	18
1.3	Looking Forward	22
	References	22
2	Gains from Trade	25
2.1	Comparative Advantage in the Short Run	26
2.2	Comparative Advantage in the Long Run	28
2.3	The Shoe Story and Economic Reality	31
2.4	From Comparative to Competitive Advantage	32
2.5	Shoe Story II: Returns to Scale	33
	References	37
3	Factor Advantages	39
3.1	Factor Abundance	39
3.2	The Case of Cashmere	44
3.3	Factor Quality	45

3.4	Dynamics of Comparative Advantage	48
	References	53
4	Trade Costs	55
4.1	Physical Separation and the Distance Effect	55
4.1.1	Freight Costs	57
4.1.2	Time Costs	60
4.1.3	Travel and Communication Costs	62
4.2	Political Separation and the Border Effect	63
4.2.1	Estimated Border Effects	64
4.2.2	Trade Policy Barriers	66
4.2.3	Currency Conversion Costs	66
4.3	Relational Separation and Transaction Costs	67
	Appendix: INCO Terms	72
	References	74
5	Trade Rules	75
5.1	National Trade Policies	75
5.1.1	Standard Customs Procedures	75
5.1.2	Special Import Measures	78
5.2	The World Trade Organization	79
5.3	Dumping	81
5.3.1	Developments in Antidumping Policy	81
5.3.2	Antidumping Procedures in the US, EU, and Canada	82
5.3.3	Strategies for Coping with Antidumping	85
5.4	Subsidies and Countervailing Duties	85
5.5	Safeguards	86
5.6	Disguised Protection	87
5.7	Preferential Trade Agreements	89
5.7.1	The European Union	90
5.7.2	The North American Free Trade Agreement	92
	References	93
6	Market Adaptation	95
6.1	The Levitt Argument	95
6.2	Examples of Adaptation	97
6.3	Environmental Adaptations	100
6.4	Developmental Adaptations	101
6.5	Cultural Adaptation	101
6.5.1	Traditions and Imprinting	102
6.5.2	Conformism and the Social Interaction Effect	102

6.5.3	Communication Standards	104
6.5.4	Technical Standards	105
6.6	The Costs of Adaptation	106
6.7	Weighing the Benefits and Costs	107
6.8	Pricing to Market	108
	References	110
7	Multinational Formation	111
7.1	Examples of Real World Multinational Forms	111
7.1.1	Mercedes-Benz	111
7.1.2	Nestle's Food Products	112
7.1.3	Mattel's Barbie	112
7.2	Multinational "Business" Strategy	113
7.3	Combining the Four Elements	117
7.4	Multinational Corporate Strategy	120
7.4.1	Forms for Two Vertically Related Products	120
7.4.2	Three Product Forms	125
7.5	Revisiting the Exemplars	130
	References	131
8	Internalization	133
8.1	Asset Heavy or Asset Light?	133
8.2	Organizing Business Relationships	135
8.3	Problems with Spot Transactions	136
8.3.1	Relationship-Specific Investment	136
8.3.2	Downstream Incentive Problems	137
8.3.3	Information Transfer	138
8.3.4	Reputation Transfer	140
8.4	Contracts Versus Internalization	141
8.5	Internal Allocation of Resources	144
	References	148
9	Competitive Interactions	149
9.1	Motivating Examples	149
9.1.1	SUVs in the USA	149
9.1.2	Retail in China	150
9.2	Key Concepts	151
9.2.1	Sources of Strategic Complementarity	152
9.2.2	Sources of First-Mover Advantages	157
9.3	Multinational Location Games	159
	References	166

10 Foreign Exchange Risk	167
10.1 Exchange Rate Systems	168
10.2 Fundamental Valuation	170
10.2.1 Parity (Price) Standards	171
10.2.2 Equilibrium (Quantity) Standards	177
10.3 Responses to Exchange Rate Risk	180
11 Political Risk	181
11.1 Political Analysis	181
11.2 Political Strategy	183
11.2.1 Understand Host-Country Objectives	183
11.2.2 Catalogue Host-Country Policy Instruments	184
11.2.3 Calculate Host-Country Bargaining Power	184
11.2.4 Enhance the Firm's Own Strategic Position	185
References	187
12 International Taxation	189
12.1 Jurisdiction: Who Taxes Whom	189
12.2 Simple Algebra of International Taxation	190
12.3 Taxation of MNCs' Earnings from Abroad	193
12.4 Withholding Taxes	196
12.5 Tax Reduction Strategies	197
12.5.1 Transfer Pricing	197
12.5.2 Thin Capitalization	199
12.5.3 Tax Havens	199
References	201
13 Expatriate Assignment	203
13.1 Typical Features of Expatriate Assignments	203
13.1.1 Compensation	203
13.1.2 Expatriate Life	205
13.2 Selection of Managers in Foreign Locations	206
13.2.1 Advantages of Expats	206
13.2.2 Advantages of Locals	206
13.2.3 Strategy and Staffing	207

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-540-44765-8>

Elements of Multinational Strategy

Head, K.

2007, XII, 208 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-540-44765-8