

Contents

Foreword by Ray Browne	v
Introduction	1
1 Grant funding	5
1.1 States aids	5
European states aid rules	6
What can be funded?	7
1.2 Additionality	9
Market failure	9
Knowledge spill-over	10
Knowledge transfer	11
Criticality of funding	12
Technology readiness levels	13
1.3 Eligible costs	14
Labour costs	14
Overheads	16
Other eligible cost headings	17
1.4 Financial management	19
Keeping records	19
Audit requirements	20
Monitoring your spending	20
1.5 Grant contracts and offers	21
Grant terms and conditions	22
Reporting and monitoring	24
1.6 Winning grants	25
Picking the right grant	26
Instructions and briefings	26
Get the basics right	28

Build the right team	30
Interviews	32
Learn from disappointments	33
1.7 So in conclusion	34
2 Legal arrangements	37
2.1 Purpose of the agreement	38
2.2 Agreement terms	39
Scope of the project	39
Responsibilities and liabilities	39
Project management	40
Changing the consortium	41
Termination	42
Financial management & grant distribution	43
Intellectual property rights	44
Publication and announcements	45
Confidentiality	46
Boiler plate	47
2.3 Working with lawyers	47
2.4 So in conclusion	48
3 Getting off to a good start	49
3.1 The business case	49
Qualitative and quantitative objectives	51
Analysing the benefits	52
Define the customers	53
Analysing the problems to be solved	53
The market opportunities	55
The project deliverables	56
Potential returns	56
Do you have a project?	59
3.2 Collaborative project planning	60
Do you still have a project?	73
3.3 So in conclusion	74

4 Maintaining momentum	77
4.1 Project control	78
Steering committees	79
4.2 Detailed planning	82
4.3 Managing risk	83
Types of risk	83
Risk management	84
4.4 Project leadership	88
Communication	89
4.5 Working with monitoring officers	90
4.6 So in conclusion	91
5 Working with academics	93
5.1 Academic objectives	93
Publications	95
5.2 Attitude to risk	96
5.3 Agility	97
5.4 Academic seasons	98
5.5 Ownership of IPR	99
5.6 Academic finance offices	100
5.7 So in conclusion	101
6 Working with industrialists	103
6.1 Commercial motivations	103
6.2 Agility	104
6.3 Cash flow	105
6.4 Micro companies	106
6.5 So in conclusion	109
7 Managing problems	111
7.1 Partner problems	111
Finding replacement partners	116
7.2 Relationship breakdowns	118
7.3 Delays and overspends	120
7.4 Technical failures	122
7.5 Market changes	122

7.6 How to avoid problems	123
7.7 So in conclusion	124
8 Exploiting the results	127
8.1 What counts as exploitation?	127
8.2 Business case	129
8.3 When and what to plan	129
8.4 Market understanding	130
Analysing the market opportunity	131
Quantifying the market opportunity	137
Understanding the industry forces	140
8.5 Exploitation plan	145
The market opportunity	146
The route to market	146
Additional development requirements	146
Standards and accreditation	147
The plan for the future	147
Presentation	147
8.6 Licensing	148
Access to background intellectual property	148
Ownership of foreground intellectual property	149
Third party licensing	149
8.7 Exploitation vehicles	149
8.8 Dissemination	150
8.9 So in conclusion	151
9 Project completion	153
9.1 Reaching the finishing line	153
9.2 Documentation	155
9.3 Post completion reviews	156
9.4 Project close meeting & festivities	156
9.5 So in conclusion	157
10 Closing remarks	159

Glossary	161
Index	167

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-540-46052-7>

Collaborative Research and Development Projects
A Practical Guide

Harris, T.

2007, XIII, 170 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-540-46052-7