
Contents

Conversations for Reflection Mark Aakhus	1
An Activity Centered Framework for Knowledge Management Stephen Gourlay	21
Trust and Knowledge Sharing in Organizations Claire R. McInerney and Stewart Mohr	65
The Practice Gap Caroline Simard and Ronald E. Rice	87
Can Organizations Really Unlearn? Emil Turc and Philippe Baumard	125
Managing Knowledge for Innovation Jacky Swan	147
Where and When was Knowledge Managed? Elisabeth Davenport and Keith Horton	171
Knowledge Processes and Communication Dynamics in Mobile Telework Donald Hislop	187
The Critical Role of the Librarian/Information Officer as Boundary Spanner Across Cultures Robert M. Mason	209
Sensemaking and the Creation of Social Webs Minu Ipe	227

Consumer Knowledge, Social Sensemaking and Negotiated Brand Identity
Andreina Mandelli	247
Knowledge Processes and Organizational Learning
Angela Lacerda Nobre	275
Management of the Knowing and the Known in Transactional Theory of Action (TTA)
Manuel Zacklad	301
Knowing and Indexical Psychology
Ronald E. Day	331
Author Biographies	349

Rethinking Knowledge Management
From Knowledge Objects to Knowledge Processes
McInerney, C.R.; Day, R.E. (Eds.)
2007, XII, 359 p. 18 illus., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-3-540-71010-3