

Contents

|          |   |          |
|----------|---|----------|
| 1 | Emotion: A Gateway to Wisdom Engineering ..... | 1 |
|          | Shuichi Fukuda  |          |
| 1.1      | Introduction .....                                    | 1        |
| 1.2      | From Designer-centric to User-centric Design .....    | 2        |
| 1.3      | Role of Emotion in Decision Making .....              | 2        |
| 1.4      | The Creative Customer .....                           | 3        |
| 1.5      | Emotion = Move Out .....                              | 4        |
| 1.6      | Babies .....  | 5        |
| 1.7      | Quality Function Deployment (QFD) .....               | 5        |
| 1.8      | The Fluctuation Equation .....                        | 5        |
| 1.9      | The Emotion Equation .....                            | 6        |
| 1.10     | Rationalizing Our Actions Using Emotion .....         | 6        |
| 1.11     | Closed and Open Worlds .....                          | 7        |
| 1.12     | Reflective Practice .....                             | 8        |
| 1.13     | Homo Faber .....                               | 8        |
| 1.14     | Homo Ludens .....                              | 8        |
| 1.15     | Pragmatism .....                                      | 9        |
| 1.16     | Learning from Failure .....                           | 10       |
| 1.17     | Maslow’s Hierarchy of Human Needs .....               | 11       |
| 1.18     | Short-duration and Long-duration Emotions .....       | 13       |
| 1.19     | Continuous Prototyping .....                          | 14       |
| 1.20     | Creating Markets .....                                | 16       |
| 1.21     | One Time Value and Lifetime Value .....               | 16       |
| 1.22     | Concluding Remarks .....                              | 18       |
|          | References .....                                      | 19       |

|          |  |           |
|----------|--|-----------|
| 2 | SHOJI: A Communication Terminal for Sending and Receiving Ambient Information                     | 21 |
|          | Masaki Shuzo and Ichiro Yamada   |           |
| 2.1      | Introduction   | 21        |
| 2.2      | Ambient Information  | 22        |
| 2.2.1    | Definition   | 22        |
| 2.2.2    | Related Works  | 23        |
| 2.2.3    | Our Approach   | 24        |
| 2.3      | Target Usage   | 24        |
| 2.4      | Technical Functional Requirements  | 25        |
| 2.5      | Questionnaire  | 26        |
| 2.5.1    | Overview   | 26        |
| 2.5.2    | Results  | 27        |
| 2.6      | Prototype Terminal   | 29        |
| 2.7      | Emotion Extraction from Voice  | 31        |
| 2.7.1    | Voice/Non-voice Recognition Process  | 31        |
| 2.7.2    | Speaker Recognition Process  | 32        |
| 2.7.3    | Emotion Recognition Process  | 33        |
| 2.8      | Field Experiment   | 34        |
| 2.8.1    | Method   | 34        |
| 2.8.2    | Results  | 35        |
| 2.9      | Conclusion   | 37        |
|          | References   | 37        |
| 3 | A Mixed Reality-based Emotional Interactions and Communications for Manufacturing Skills Training | 39 |
|          | Keiichi Watanuki   |           |
| 3.1      | Introduction   | 40        |
| 3.2      | Skills Transfer  | 41        |
| 3.2.1    | Present Situation and Problem Points Regarding Methods of Skills Transfer                                | 41        |
| 3.2.2    | New Methods of Skills Transfer   | 43        |
| 3.2.3    | Knowledge Creation and Skills Transfer by Sharing of “Ba”  | 44        |
| 3.2.4    | Conversation Analysis and Extraction of Knowledge  | 46        |
| 3.2.5    | Proficiency and Corporeality   | 47        |
| 3.3      | Skills Transfer and Human Resource Development in the Foundry Industry                                   | 48        |
| 3.3.1    | Knowledge and Skills Transfer of Casting Technology  | 48        |
| 3.3.2    | New System for Skills Transfer   | 49        |
| 3.3.3    | Skills Transfer System Using Multimedia Technology   | 49        |
| 3.3.4    | Casting Skills Acquisition System Using VR Space   | 51        |
| 3.3.5    | Skills Transfer and Human Resources Development Through Emotional Interaction in VR Space                | 53        |

|          |  |           |
|----------|--|-----------|
| 3.3.6    | Skills Transfer with an Annotation Display System .....  | 54        |
| 3.3.7    | Work Training by OJT and Sharing a Bain a Virtual Training System .....                                      | 55        |
| 3.4      | Augmented Reality-based Training System .....  | 57        |
| 3.4.1    | Augmented Reality .....  | 57        |
| 3.4.2    | Training System for Pouring .....  | 58        |
| 3.5      | Work Support for Elderly or Female Workers .....   | 59        |
| 3.5.1    | Aging Society and Labor Problems .....   | 59        |
| 3.5.2    | Work Support for the Work of the Elderlyor Female Workers.....   | 60        |
| 3.5.3    | Construction of a Teleworking Environmentas a Work Form with Variety.....                                    | 60        |
| 3.6      | Conclusions .....  | 61        |
|          | References.....  | 61        |
| 4 | Exploitation of Designers and Customers' Skills and Creativityin Product Design and Engineering..... | 63 |
|          | Monica Bordegoni   |           |
| 4.1      | Introduction .....   | 63        |
| 4.2      | One Product, many Customers .....  | 65        |
| 4.3      | The Product Development Process.....   | 66        |
| 4.3.1    | Designers and Engineers .....  | 68        |
| 4.3.2    | Tools for Design and Engineering .....   | 70        |
| 4.3.3    | Methods and Tools for Product Testing.....   | 71        |
| 4.3.4    | Remarks About the Product Development Process.....   | 72        |
| 4.4      | A Paradigm Shift in the Product Development Process .....  | 72        |
| 4.4.1    | Product Customization and Participatory Design .....   | 73        |
| 4.4.2    | PDP Scenario Based on User-centered Design .....   | 74        |
| 4.5      | Design Tools for Product Designers and Customers .....   | 75        |
| 4.5.1    | Enactive Interfaces.....   | 75        |
| 4.5.2    | Design Tools Based on Enactive Interfaces.....   | 78        |
| 4.5.3    | An Example: Enactive Interface for Shape Evaluation....  | 79        |
| 4.5.4    | Remarks .....  | 81        |
| 4.6      | Product Prototyping and Testing .....  | 82        |
| 4.6.1    | An Example: Mixed Reality Applicationfor Product Evaluation .....  | 82        |
| 4.7      | Conclusion.....  | 84        |
|          | References.....  | 84        |
| 5 | A Study on the Relationships Between Drivers' Emotionand HUD Image Designs .....                     | 87 |
|          | Shana Smith and Shih-Hang Fu   |           |
| 5.1      | Introduction .....   | 87        |
| 5.2      | Experiment Procedures.....   | 88        |
| 5.2.1    | The First Experiment .....   | 89        |

|          |   |            |
|----------|---|------------|
| 5.2.2    | The Second Experiment .....   | 96         |
| 5.3      | Conclusions .....   | 100        |
|          | References.....   | 100        |
| 6 | Emotional Design in the Virtual Environment.....             | 103 |
|          | Tetsuro Ogi   |            |
| 6.1      | Introduction .....  | 103        |
| 6.2      | Design in the Virtual Reality Environment .....                     | 104        |
| 6.2.1    | Interactive Visualization .....                                     | 104        |
| 6.2.2    | Haptic Sensation .....  | 106        |
| 6.2.3    | Application of VR to Design.....                                    | 107        |
| 6.3      | Design Using an Augmented Reality Environment.....                  | 108        |
| 6.3.1    | Integration of Virtual Image with Real World .....                  | 108        |
| 6.3.2    | AR View .....   | 108        |
| 6.3.3    | Application of AR to Design.....                                    | 110        |
| 6.4      | Emotional Communication.....  | 111        |
| 6.4.1    | Tele-immersion Environment .....                                    | 111        |
| 6.4.2    | Video Avatar Technology .....                                       | 112        |
| 6.4.3    | Video Avatar Communication .....                                    | 114        |
| 6.5      | Education of Emotional Design.....                                  | 115        |
|          | References.....   | 116        |
| 7 | Emotional Robot Competence and Its Use in Robot              |            |
|          | Behavior Control .....                                       | 119 |
|          | Natascha Esau and Lisa Kleinjohann                                  |            |
| 7.1      | Introduction .....  | 119        |
| 7.2      | Aspects of Emotional Competencein Human–Robot Interaction ..... | 121        |
| 7.3      | Related Work.....   | 123        |
| 7.4      | Modeling of Emotions .....  | 124        |
| 7.5      | Emotion Recognition.....  | 126        |
| 7.5.1    | Overview of VISBER .....  | 126        |
| 7.5.2    | Overview of PROSBER.....  | 127        |
| 7.5.3    | Fuzzy Emotion Classification .....                                  | 128        |
| 7.6      | Dynamics of Emotions and Drives .....                               | 129        |
| 7.6.1    | Drives.....   | 131        |
| 7.6.2    | Emotions .....  | 133        |
| 7.7      | Control of Robot Behavior by Emotions and Drives.....               | 135        |
| 7.7.1    | Behavior System .....   | 136        |
| 7.7.2    | Control of the Behavior Systemby the Emotion Engine.....        | 137        |
| 7.8      | Example of MEXI’s Emotional Competence .....                        | 138        |
| 7.9      | Conclusions .....   | 141        |
|          | References.....   | 141        |

|           |   |     |
|-----------|---|-----|
| 8  | Shape Design and Modeling with <math>1/f</math> Fluctuation Characteristics .....            | 143 |
|           | Katsuhiro Maekawa   |     |
| 8.1       | Introduction .....  | 143 |
| 8.2       | Shape Extraction from a Japanese Teacup .....   | 144 |
| 8.2.1     | Experimental Method.....  | 144 |
| 8.2.2     | Results and Discussion.....   | 148 |
| 8.3       | Shape Design with $1/f$ Fluctuation Characteristics .....   | 150 |
| 8.3.1     | Use of Measured Teacup Characteristics .....  | 150 |
| 8.3.2     | Use of Mathematical Patterns .....  | 152 |
| 8.3.3     | Use of Artificial Patterns.....   | 154 |
| 8.4       | Modeling by Rapid Prototyping .....   | 156 |
| 8.5       | Summary .....   | 158 |
|           | References.....   | 159 |
| 9  | Human-entrained Embodied Interactionand Communication Technology .....                  | 161 |
|           | Tomio Watanabe  |     |
| 9.1       | Introduction .....  | 161 |
| 9.2       | Embodied Virtual Communication System.....  | 163 |
| 9.3       | Speech-driven Embodied Interaction System.....  | 165 |
| 9.4       | Embodied Interaction and Communication Technology .....   | 170 |
| 9.5       | Conclusions .....   | 176 |
|           | References.....   | 176 |
| 10 | Personal Cognitive Characteristics in Affordance Perception:Case Study in a Lobby ..... | 179 |
|           | Y.S. Kim, J.Y. Jeong, M.K. Kim, S.W. Lee, and M. Kim  |     |
| 10.1      | Introduction .....  | 180 |
| 10.2      | Background .....  | 182 |
| 10.2.1    | Affordance .....  | 182 |
| 10.2.2    | Personal Creativity Modes .....   | 183 |
| 10.3      | Case Study – Experiments.....   | 186 |
| 10.3.1    | Participants and User Tasks .....   | 186 |
| 10.3.2    | Activities and Related Affordances.....   | 188 |
| 10.3.3    | Personal Creativity Modes .....   | 190 |
| 10.4      | Case Study – Analysis on Personal Creativity Modesand Actives .....                             | 193 |
| 10.4.1    | Task: Waiting (T-1) .....   | 193 |
| 10.4.2    | Task: Eating a Snack and Reading the Magazine (T-2) ...   | 195 |
| 10.4.3    | Task: Sketching on Paper (T-3) .....  | 198 |
| 10.4.4    | Task: Lacing Shoes and Shaking Sand (T-4).....  | 202 |
| 10.4.5    | Discussions .....   | 204 |
| 10.5      | Conclusions .....   | 205 |
|           | References.....   | 205 |

|           |  |            |
|-----------|--|------------|
| 11 | Emotion-oriented Human–Computer Interaction .....                               | 207 |
|           | Toshiyuki Yamashita, Ahmad Eibo, Takumi Ichimura,and Kazuya Mera                   |            |
| 11.1      | Introduction .....   | 207        |
| 11.2      | Facial Expressions as a Human Interface .....  | 208        |
| 11.2.1    | Face Selection by Fuzzy Reasoning Model .....  | 208        |
| 11.2.2    | An Application of the Model to e-mail .....  | 210        |
| 11.2.3    | Comparisons Among Faces .....  | 213        |
| 11.2.4    | User’s Faces .....   | 214        |
| 11.2.5    | Noh Mask .....   | 216        |
| 11.3      | Verbal Communication .....   | 219        |
| 11.4      | Conclusions .....  | 220        |
|           | References .....   | 221        |
| 12 | BROAFERENCE: A Prototype of an Emotion-based TV QualityRating System ..... | 223 |
|           | Terumasa Aoki and Uwe Kowalik  |            |
| 12.1      | Current TV Rating System and Its Problems .....  | 223        |
| 12.2      | System Overview: the BROAFERENCE System .....  | 225        |
| 12.3      | Face Detection, Face Feature Point Detection, and Tracking .....                       | 226        |
| 12.3.1    | Abstract of Face Detection, Face Feature PointDetection, and Tracking .....        | 226        |
| 12.3.2    | Emotional Parameters .....   | 227        |
| 12.3.3    | Interest Parameters .....  | 229        |
| 12.4      | Global Head Motion Compensation .....  | 229        |
| 12.4.1    | How to Compensate Global Head Motion .....   | 229        |
| 12.4.2    | Evaluation .....   | 231        |
| 12.5      | Action Unit Detection with Artificial Neural Networks .....                            | 233        |
| 12.5.1    | How to Detect Action Units .....   | 233        |
| 12.5.2    | Classifier Training .....  | 235        |
| 12.5.3    | Evaluation .....   | 236        |
| 12.6      | Gaze Tracking Approach .....   | 237        |
| 12.6.1    | How to Estimate Gaze Information .....   | 237        |
| 12.6.2    | Mapping to 3D World Coordinates .....  | 237        |
| 12.6.3    | Evaluation .....   | 240        |
| 12.7      | Other Applications .....   | 241        |
| 12.7.1    | Content Indexing Based on the Emotional Component ...                                  | 241        |
| 12.7.2    | Remote Health Care Prevention and Life Support .....                                   | 242        |
| 12.7.3    | Advanced Human–Computer Interface .....  | 243        |
| 12.8      | Conclusion .....   | 243        |
|           | References .....   | 244        |

|           |  |            |
|-----------|--|------------|
| 13 | Shape Evaluation Properties in Real Space and Virtual Space .....         | 247 |
|           | Masashi Okubo  |            |
| 13.1      | Introduction .....   | 248        |
| 13.2      | System Evaluation .....  | 249        |
| 13.2.1    | 3D Models and Objects Used in the Experiment .....                               | 249        |
| 13.2.2    | Sensory Evaluation .....   | 251        |
| 13.2.3    | Experimental Results .....   | 251        |
| 13.3      | Influence of Viewpoint on Shape Evaluation in Virtual Space .....                | 254        |
| 13.3.1    | Three Types of Viewpoint .....   | 254        |
| 13.3.2    | Influence of Avatars' Forearms on 3D ShapeEvaluation .....                   | 255        |
| 13.3.3    | Experimental Results .....   | 255        |
| 13.3.4    | Influence of Avatar's Upper Body Image .....                                     | 258        |
| 13.4      | Conclusions .....  | 260        |
|           | References.....  | 261        |
| 14 | Affective Driving.....  | 263 |
|           | Yingzi Lin   |            |
| 14.1      | Introduction .....   | 263        |
| 14.2      | Natural-contact Biosensor Method .....   | 266        |
| 14.3      | Inference of Human Emotion .....   | 266        |
| 14.4      | Emotion Versus Performance in Driving .....                                      | 270        |
| 14.5      | Issues and Future Research Directions.....                                       | 272        |
| 14.6      | Conclusions .....  | 273        |
|           | References.....  | 273        |
| 15 | Approximate Multi-objective Optimizationof Medical Foot Support..... | 275 |
|           | Masao Arakawa  |            |
| 15.1      | Introduction .....   | 275        |
| 15.2      | Approximate Multi-objective OptimizationUsing Convolute RBF .....            | 277        |
| 15.2.1    | Convolute RBF .....  | 277        |
| 15.2.2    | Satisficing Method .....   | 277        |
| 15.2.3    | Data Addition.....   | 278        |
| 15.3      | Arch Support .....   | 279        |
| 15.4      | Model of an Arch Support.....  | 279        |
| 15.4.1    | Spline Curve.....  | 279        |
| 15.4.2    | How to Make a Foot Support Model.....  | 280        |
| 15.5      | Design of Personal Medical Foot Support.....                                     | 281        |
| 15.5.1    | Initial Pattern.....   | 282        |
| 15.5.2    | Ideal Position of Arch .....   | 282        |
| 15.5.3    | Detection from X-ray Digital Data .....  | 282        |
| 15.5.4    | Procedure of the Proposed Method .....   | 283        |

|           |  |            |
|-----------|--|------------|
| 15.6      | Validation Test of Personal Medical Foot Support.....  | 284        |
| 15.6.1    | Myoelectric Potential Measurement.....   | 285        |
| 15.6.2    | Experiment.....  | 285        |
| 15.6.3    | Results.....   | 286        |
| 15.7      | Conclusions .....  | 286        |
|           | References.....  | 287        |
| 16 | Kansei Quality in Product Design .....  | 289 |
|           | Hideyoshi Yanagisawa   |            |
| 16.1      | What Is Kansei Quality?.....   | 289        |
| 16.2      | Approaches Towards Kansei Quality in Product Design .....                                    | 290        |
| 16.3      | Towards Diverse and Latent Kansei.....   | 291        |
| 16.4      | A Method for Extraction of Diverse and Latent EvaluationCriteria of Kansei Quality.....  | 292        |
| 16.4.1    | Extraction of Multiple Kansei Scales ConsideringDiverse Kansei Qualities.....            | 293        |
| 16.4.2    | Strategies of Setting Design Feature Values .....  | 295        |
| 16.5      | Case Study: Product Sound Quality .....  | 296        |
| 16.5.1    | Sound Quality Metric as Design Parameters.....   | 297        |
| 16.5.2    | Sensory Test Using Existing Samples(First Experiment).....                               | 298        |
| 16.5.3    | Extracting Patterns of Personal Kansei Scales .....  | 299        |
| 16.5.4    | Multiple Scales of a Target Kansei Quality .....   | 301        |
| 16.5.5    | Unexplored Design Area in Feature Space .....  | 302        |
| 16.5.6    | Gradient of a Target Kansei Quality in Feature Space.....                                    | 302        |
| 16.5.7    | Setting Feature Values and Creating New Sounds.....  | 304        |
| 16.5.8    | Sensory Test Using Composite Samples(Second Sensory Test) .....                          | 304        |
| 16.5.9    | Comparison of SD Scales Obtained from Firstand Second Experiment Data .....              | 305        |
| 16.5.10   | Finding Kansei Factors .....   | 306        |
|           | References.....  | 309        |
| 17 | Emotion in Engineering Design Teams.....  | 311 |
|           | Neeraj Sonalkar, Malte Jung, Ade Mabogunje   |            |
| 17.1      | Introduction .....   | 311        |
| 17.2      | Why Study Emotion in Engineering Design?.....  | 312        |
| 17.3      | Perspectives in Emotion Research.....  | 313        |
| 17.3.1    | Assigning the Label “Emotion” .....  | 315        |
| 17.3.2    | How Does an Emotion Come About? .....  | 316        |
| 17.3.3    | Distinguishing Between Different Emotions .....  | 317        |
| 17.3.4    | Emotion in the Context of Current Studies .....  | 317        |
| 17.3.5    | Measuring Emotion.....   | 318        |
| 17.4      | Research Study 1 – The Role of Emotion in Group Ideationin Engineering Design Teams..... | 319        |

|           |   |            |
|-----------|---|------------|
| 17.5      | Research Study 2 – Team Conflict in Engineering                         |            |
|           | Design Teams .....  | 322        |
| 17.6      | The Cultural Context of Emotion .....                                   | 324        |
| 17.7      | Looking Forward .....   | 324        |
| 17.8      | Conclusion .....  | 325        |
|           | References .....  | 325        |
| 18 | Measurement of Wakuwaku Feeling of Interactive Systems           |            |
|           | Using Biological Signals .....                                   | 327 |
|           | Michiko Ohkura, Masahide Hamano, Hiroyuki Watanabe,and Tetsuro Aoto |            |
| 18.1      | Introduction .....  | 327        |
| 18.2      | Indexes of the Wakuwaku Model .....                                     | 329        |
| 18.3      | Evaluation Experiment .....   | 329        |
|           | 18.3.1 Construction of Evaluation Systems .....                         | 329        |
|           | 18.3.2 Experiment to Evaluate the Systems .....                         | 332        |
|           | 18.3.3 Experimental Results .....                                       | 333        |
|           | 18.3.4 Derivation of Wakuwaku Model .....                               | 335        |
|           | 18.3.5 Confirmation of Wakuwaku Model .....                             | 336        |
| 18.4      | Experiment 2 .....  | 338        |
|           | 18.4.1 System Construction .....  | 338        |
|           | 18.4.2 Experiment to Evaluate the Systems .....                         | 340        |
|           | 18.4.3 Discussion .....   | 341        |
| 18.5      | Conclusion .....  | 342        |
|           | References .....  | 343        |
| 19 | Footwear Fitting Design .....                                    | 345 |
|           | Tsuyoshi Nishiwaki  |            |
| 19.1      | Introduction .....  | 345        |
|           | 19.1.1 Running Shoe Construction .....                                  | 346        |
|           | 19.1.2 Property Requirements .....                                      | 347        |
|           | 19.1.3 Running Shoe Design Flow .....                                   | 348        |
| 19.2      | Fitting .....   | 349        |
| 19.3      | Optical Measuring Instrument .....                                      | 351        |
|           | 19.3.1 Current Technique .....  | 351        |
|           | 19.3.2 New Technique .....  | 351        |
| 19.4      | Evaluation Method of Shoes Fitting .....                                | 354        |
|           | 19.4.1 Definition of Measurement Areas .....                            | 354        |
|           | 19.4.2 Measurement .....  | 356        |
|           | 19.4.3 Measurement Results .....  | 356        |
|           | 19.4.4 Fitting Quantitative Evaluation Method .....                     | 357        |
|           | 19.4.5 Validity Checking .....  | 358        |
| 19.5      | Design Examples .....   | 360        |
| 19.6      | Summary .....   | 361        |
|           | References .....  | 362        |

|           |   |     |
|-----------|---|-----|
| 20 | Psychological Teamology, Emotional Engineering,and the Myers–Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) ..... | 365 |
|           | Douglass J. Wilde   |     |
| 20.1      | Introduction .....  | 365 |
| 20.2      | Underlying Psychological Theory .....   | 366 |
| 20.3      | Cognitive Modes .....   | 367 |
|           | 20.3.1 Relative Scores and Coupled Attitudes .....  | 369 |
|           | 20.3.2 Graphical Interpretation .....   | 370 |
| 20.4      | Team Construction .....   | 371 |
| 20.5      | Team Organization .....   | 372 |
| 20.6      | Conclusions .....   | 374 |
|           | References .....  | 374 |
| 21 | Designing Emotional and Creative Motion .....  | 377 |
|           | Toshiharu Taura and Yukari Nagai  |     |
| 21.1      | Introduction .....  | 377 |
|           | 21.1.1 Emotion and Design .....   | 377 |
|           | 21.1.2 Designing the Emotional and Creative Motion .....  | 378 |
| 21.2      | Method of Designing Emotional and Creative Motion .....   | 379 |
|           | 21.2.1 Analogy to Natural Objects .....   | 379 |
|           | 21.2.2 Emphatic Blending of Motions .....   | 380 |
|           | 21.2.3 Outline of Proposed Method .....   | 380 |
| 21.3      | Detailed Method and Example .....   | 381 |
|           | 21.3.1 Designing Emotional and Creative Motionby Focusing on Rhythmic Features .....                    | 381 |
|           | 21.3.2 Example of Designing an Emotional and CreativeMotion Using the Proposed Method .....             | 383 |
| 21.4      | Summary and Conclusions .....   | 386 |
|           | References .....  | 387 |
|           | About the Editor .....   | 389 |
|           | Index .....  | 391 |

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-84996-422-7>

Emotional Engineering

Service Development

Fukuda, S. (Ed.)

2011, XVIII, 395 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-1-84996-422-7