

Contents

|                                                                                                                              |           |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Nucleosome Remodelling and Epigenome Diversification . . . . .                                                        | 1  |
| Peter B. Becker                                                                                                              |           |
| Synaptic Epigenesis and the Evolution of HigherBrain Functions . . . . .                                         | 11 |
| Jean-Pierre Changeux                                                                                                         |           |
| Plasticity of the Circadian System: Linking Metabolism to EpigeneticControl . . . . .                            | 23 |
| Lorena Aguilar-Arnal, Loredana Zocchi, Selma MasriSayako Katada, and Paolo Sassone-Corsi                                 |           |
| Epigenetics and the Environmental Regulation of Genomic Structureand Function: Implications for Health . . . . . | 31 |
| Carine I. Parent, Tie-Yuan Zhang, and Michael J. Meaney                                                                      |           |
| Epigenetic Inheritance in Mammals . . . . .                                                                           | 55 |
| Johannes Bohacek and Isabelle M. Mansuy                                                                                      |           |
| Control of Neuronal Gene Transcription and Behavior by the EpigeneticSuppressor Complex G9a/GLP . . . . .        | 63 |
| Anne Schaefer                                                                                                                |           |
| The Role of Histone Acetylation in Long-TermMemory Storage . . . . .                                             | 71 |
| Shane G. Poplawski and Ted Abel                                                                                              |           |
| DNA Methylation in Memory Formation . . . . .                                                                         | 81 |
| J. David Sweatt                                                                                                              |           |
| Epigenetic Mechanisms Regulating Memory Formation in Healthand Disease . . . . .                                 | 97 |
| Li-Huei Tsai                                                                                                                 |           |

|                                                                        |            |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| Genetics and Epigenetics of Autism Spectrum Disorders . . . . . | 105 |
| Thomas Bourgeron                                                       |            |
| Analysis of MeCP2 Function in the CNS . . . . .                 | 133 |
| Ege T. Kavalali and Lisa M. Monteggia                                  |            |
| Epigenetic Mechanisms of Drug Addiction . . . . .               | 145 |
| Ian Maze and Eric J. Nestler                                           |            |
| Index . . . . .                                                 | 161 |

Epigenetics, Brain and Behavior
Sassone Corsi, P.; Christen, Y. (Eds.)
2012, X, 166 p., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-3-642-27912-6