

Contents

Part I Defining the Problem

1 Introduction: From Enterprise to Entrepreneur	3
Who on Earth is Xinmao?	3
Xinmao Supported the Chinese Government?	6
2 Entrepreneurship	11
Defining Entrepreneurship	11
Schools of Thought on Entrepreneurship	12
Economic Approach	12
Critique on Economic Approach	13
Traits Approach	13
Critique on the Traits Approach	14
Side Step: Mr. Du Kerong	17
Social Identity Approach	18
Discovery of Opportunities	20
Securing Resources	20
Obtaining Legitimacy	20
Social Integration Theory	21
Social Integration and Networks	26
Life Story Analysis: A Historic Approach	29
Narrative Analysis	31
Naturalistic Inquiry	33
3 Chinese Entrepreneurs in Society	37
The Enterprise in Premodern and Modern China	37
Fuel: Coal	38
Institutional Environment	38
Living Standards	38
Legal Environment: Property Rights	38

The Enterprise in the PRC	40
Danwei the Basic ‘Unit’ of Socialist Society	40
Enterprises: The Early Typology	41
Contexts of the Early Industrial Units	43
The Post-reform Situation	46
State Owned Enterprises	46
Collective Enterprises	47
Private Enterprises	48
Groups/Conglomerates	49
Limited Companies	51
Foreign Invested Enterprises	52
Growing Influence in Society	53

Part II Case Histories

4 Real Estate Entrepreneur Wang	61
Introduction	61
The Social Construction of Yihai Education	63
Wang’s Entrepreneurship	66
Education as Core Business	67
5 Textile Spin-Off Niu	71
Introduction	71
Life Chapter 1: Employee	71
Chapter 2: On His Own Feet	72
Chapter 3: From Trader to Producer	73
Chapter 4: Decline	74
Chapter 5: Hanging on	75
6 LangLib: An Online English Study Community	77
Introduction	77
Life Chapters Du	78
Chapter 1: Childhood	78
Chapter 2: Beijing Institute of Technology (BIT)	79
Chapter 3: Tsinghua University	79
Life Story of Jin Jing	80
Chapter 1: Beijing Jiaotong University (BJTU)	80
Chapter 2: Beijing Join-Cheer Software Co., Ltd. (JC)	80
Chapter 3: LangLib	82
7 Home Renovator Cheng	83
Introduction	83
Life Chapters	83
Chapter 1: Starting from an Apprenticeship	83
Chapter 2: A “Free” Agent, a Genuine Guerrilla Worker in the Renovation Market	85

Chapter 3: Small Company Owner	86
Chapter 4: Higher-Grade Construction Company Owner	87
Conclusions	89
8 Migrant Tailor Yuan	91
Introduction	91
Life Story	91
Chapter 1: (Before 1984): Days in His Hometown	91
Chapter 2: (1984–2000): Early Development in Beijing	92
Chapter 3: (After 2000): The Consolidation and Further Development in Beijing	93
Theoretical Analysis	93
Before the Year of 1985	94
1985–1995	94
1996–2011	95
Summary and Reflection	95
9 Restaurant Entrepreneur Mr. B	97
Introduction	97
Life Chapters	98
Chapter 1: In the Village	98
Chapter 2: An Outstanding Apprentice and Employee	98
Chapter 3: Debut on the Business World	99
Chapter 4: More on His Own	100
Conclusions	101
10 Less Successful Entrepreneur Meng	103
Introduction	103
Life Chapters	103
Chapter 1: 1983–2001	103
Chapter 2: 2001–2003	104
Chapter 3: 2003–2005	104
Chapter 4: 2005–2006	105
Chapter 5: 2007–2010	105
Chapter 6: 2011–Now	105
Conclusion	106

Part III Elements of Entrepreneurial Identity

11 Family	111
Core of Society	111
Family as Basic Unit of the Economy	112
Family = Region	113
Family Ties as Social Relations	113
Family as Incentive for Entrepreneurship	114
Family as Stepping Stone	115

Family as Burden	115
Family as Impediment	116
Family as Narrative	117
12 Home Region	125
Hearing the Neighbor's Dog	125
Regional Embassies	126
From Rural to Subaltern	128
Zhejiang Village . . . in Beijing	130
Virtual Villages	131
Home Region as Inspiration	132
Home Town Influences	133
13 Friends	137
Chinese Friendship	139
Friends of the Case Entrepreneurs	141
An Army of Friends: Back Again to Mr. Du Kerong	141
Entrepreneur Without Friends (?)	142
14 Government	145
Multiple Economies	145
Province	146
Municipality	148
Municipal District	149
Neighborhood	149
Community: The Youngest Child	150
Matrix Between Administrative Levels and Industries	150
Chinese Enterprises and Government Agencies	151
Law Enforcement: Seeking Peaceful Coexistence	152
Changing Policies: Going Along or Against	153
Conclusions and Beyond	155
Author Biographies	161
References	163
Index	169

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-642-28205-8>

Chinese Entrepreneurship
A Social Capital Approach
Peverelli, P.J.; Song, J.
2012, XIV, 174 p., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-3-642-28205-8