

Contents

|                                                                                                                                 |           |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1 Sexual Conduct and Peacekeeping . . . . .                                                                              | 1  |
| 1.1 Background to the Research . . . . .                                                                                        | 3         |
| 1.2 Purpose and Scope of the Book . . . . .                                                                                     | 5         |
| 1.3 Methodology . . . . .                                                                                                       | 7         |
| 1.4 Structure of the Book . . . . .                                                                                             | 9         |
| 2 UN Peacekeeping Operations: The Emerging Problem of Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                                      | 13 |
| 2.1 Introduction . . . . .                                                                                                      | 13        |
| 2.2 The Origins and Development of UN Peacekeeping Operations from the League of Nations Through to the End of the Cold War . . | 14        |
| 2.3 The Multi-Dimensional Nature of UN Peacekeeping Operations After 1990: The Case of Bosnia and Herzegovina . . . . .         | 19        |
| 2.4 The Profile of Peacekeepers: Who Are They? . . . . .                                                                        | 26        |
| 2.5 The Profile of Beneficiaries and UN Peacekeeping Operations: Who Are Peacekeepers Protecting? . . . . .                     | 31        |
| 2.6 The Problem of Sexual Exploitation in UN Peacekeeping Operations . . . . .                                                  | 33        |
| 2.7 Conclusions . . . . .                                                                                                       | 37        |
| 3 The Secretary-General's Bulletin: Evolution and Reception . . . . .                                                    | 39 |
| 3.1 Introduction . . . . .                                                                                                      | 39        |
| 3.2 Phase 1: Ad hoc Mission-Level Responses to Allegations of Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                              | 40        |
| 3.3 Phase 2: Attempts at Coordinated Responses Within the UN System . . . . .                                                   | 43        |
| 3.4 Phase 3: The Adoption of a Comprehensive 'Zero Tolerance Policy' . . . . .                                                  | 46        |
| 3.4.1 The Adoption of the SGB . . . . .                                                                                         | 46        |
| 3.4.2 Sexual Relationships . . . . .                                                                                            | 50        |
| 3.4.3 Prostitution . . . . .                                                                                                    | 58        |

|          |                                                                                 |            |
|----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 3.4.4    | Conclusions . . . . .                                                           | 68         |
| 3.5      | Responses to the ‘Zero Tolerance Policy’ by Researchers . . . . .               | 69         |
| 3.6      | Conclusions . . . . .                                                           | 76         |
| 4 | Research Background, Aims and Methods . . . . .                          | 79  |
| 4.1      | Introduction . . . . .                                                          | 79         |
| 4.2      | Gender Politics in Bosnia and Herzegovina (BH) . . . . .                        | 80         |
| 4.2.1    | Brief History of the Creation of the State of BH . . . . .                      | 80         |
| 4.2.2    | Gender Politics and Sexual Norms Before theConflict in BH . . . . .         | 82         |
| 4.2.3    | Gender and Sexual Violence in BH During the Conflict . . . . .                  | 85         |
| 4.2.4    | Gender Politics During the Post-conflict Transitional Period . . . . .          | 86         |
| 4.2.5    | Positioning Myself Within the Research . . . . .                                | 88         |
| 4.3      | Aims and Methods . . . . .                                                      | 90         |
| 4.3.1    | Aims and Methodology . . . . .                                                  | 91         |
| 4.3.2    | Designing the Interview Questions . . . . .                                     | 94         |
| 4.3.3    | Ethical Considerations . . . . .                                                | 96         |
| 4.3.4    | Finding the Interviewees . . . . .                                              | 97         |
| 4.3.5    | Conducting the Research . . . . .                                               | 100        |
| 4.3.6    | Research Challenges and Limitations . . . . .                                   | 103        |
| 4.4      | Conclusions . . . . .                                                           | 107        |
| 5 | Sexual Relationships in UN Peacekeeping Operations . . . . .             | 109 |
| 5.1      | Introduction . . . . .                                                          | 109        |
| 5.2      | Group A . . . . .                                                               | 110        |
| 5.2.1    | The Reasons for Entering into Their Relationships . . . . .                     | 111        |
| 5.2.2    | Expectations from Their Relationships . . . . .                                 | 113        |
| 5.2.3    | ‘Inherently Unequal Power’ . . . . .                                            | 114        |
| 5.2.4    | UN Credibility and Integrity . . . . .                                          | 118        |
| 5.2.5    | Response to ‘Strong Discouragement’ of SexualRelationships . . . . .        | 119        |
| 5.2.6    | Conclusions . . . . .                                                           | 120        |
| 5.3      | Group B . . . . .                                                               | 121        |
| 5.3.1    | Perceptions of Reasons for UN Staff Entering intoRelationships . . . . .    | 122        |
| 5.3.2    | Perceptions of Reasons for Local Women Entering intoRelationships . . . . . | 123        |
| 5.3.3    | ‘Inherently Unequal Power’ . . . . .                                            | 125        |
| 5.3.4    | UN Credibility and Integrity . . . . .                                          | 126        |
| 5.3.5    | Response to ‘Strong Discouragement’ of Relationships . . . . .                  | 127        |
| 5.3.6    | Conclusions . . . . .                                                           | 129        |
| 5.4      | Group C . . . . .                                                               | 130        |
| 5.4.1    | ‘Inherently Unequal Power’ . . . . .                                            | 131        |
| 5.4.2    | UN Credibility and Integrity . . . . .                                          | 133        |
| 5.4.3    | Response to ‘Strong Discouragement’ of Relationships . . . . .                  | 136        |
| 5.4.4    | Conclusions . . . . .                                                           | 138        |
| 5.5      | Conclusions . . . . .                                                           | 140        |

|                                                                                                          |            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 6 Sexual Exploitation and Prostitution in UN Peacekeeping Operations . . . . .                    | 145 |
| 6.1 Introduction . . . . .                                                                               | 145        |
| 6.2 Group A . . . . .                                                                                    | 146        |
| 6.2.1 Defining Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                                                             | 146        |
| 6.2.2 Whether Prostitution Is Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                                              | 147        |
| 6.2.3 Perspectives on the SGB's Approach to Sexual Exploitation and Prostitution . . . . .               | 149        |
| 6.2.4 Conclusions . . . . .                                                                              | 149        |
| 6.3 Group B . . . . .                                                                                    | 150        |
| 6.3.1 Defining Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                                                             | 150        |
| 6.3.2 Whether Prostitution Is Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                                              | 151        |
| 6.3.3 Perspectives on the SGB's Approach to Sexual Exploitation and Prostitution . . . . .               | 152        |
| 6.3.4 Conclusions . . . . .                                                                              | 153        |
| 6.4 Group C . . . . .                                                                                    | 153        |
| 6.4.1 Defining Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                                                             | 154        |
| 6.4.2 Whether Prostitution Is Sexual Exploitation . . . . .                                              | 156        |
| 6.4.3 Perspectives on the SGB's Approach to Sexual Exploitation and Prostitution . . . . .               | 159        |
| 6.4.4 Conclusions . . . . .                                                                              | 160        |
| 6.5 Conclusions . . . . .                                                                                | 160        |
| 7 Rethinking 'Sexual Exploitation' in UN Peacekeeping Operations . .                              | 165 |
| 7.1 Introduction . . . . .                                                                               | 165        |
| 7.2 Distinguishing Between Exploitative and Non-Exploitative Sex in UN Peacekeeping Operations . . . . . | 166        |
| 7.3 Looking Ahead: Implications for UN Policymakers . . . . .                                            | 168        |
| Bibliography . . . . .                                                                            | 175 |

Regulation of Sexual Conduct in UN Peacekeeping Operations

Simic, O.

2012, XXII, 194 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-642-28483-0