

Contents

1 Elements of Cutaneous Embryology, Anatomy, and Biochemistry	1
Cutaneous Embryology	1
Embryology of the Skin	1
Embryology of the Cutaneous Adnexa	1
Cutaneous Anatomy and Biochemistry	1
Epidermis	2
Merkel Cells	8
Langerhans Cells	9
Biochemistry of the Subepidermal Components of the Skin	9
Proteins	9
Fibrillar Components	10
Basement Membrane Zone	10
Basement Membrane and Hemidesmosome	11
Hypodermis	12
Cutaneous Adnexa	12
Cutaneous Irrigation	17
Cutaneous Innervation	18
References	20
2 Classification of Cutaneous Lesions	21
3 Hereditary Lesions	23
Genodermatoses	24
Lesions Associated to Genodermatoses of Upper Epidermal Level of Expression	25
Lesions Associated to Genodermatoses of Mid Epidermal Level of Expression	28
Lesions Associated to Genodermatoses of Low Epidermal Level of Expression	31
Hereditary Polysystemic Disorders with Cutaneous Participation	32
Hereditary Metabolic Errors with Cutaneous Repercussion	35
Hereditary Metabolic Errors Associated to Cutaneous Lesions	35
Hereditary Metabolic Errors Associated with Defective Skin	37
Cutaneous Lesions Resulting from Hereditary Impaired Control and Defense Mechanism	38
Lesions due to the Failure in Repair of the Organism	38
References	38

4 Malformative Lesions	39
Early Malformations	39
Melanocytic Lesions	39
Fusion Line Cysts	40
Vestigial Embryonic Structures	41
Late Malformations	45
Minus Malformations	45
Plus Malformations	45
References	58
5 Inflammatory Cutaneous Lesions	59
Evolutionary Inflammatory Lesions	62
Lesions of Predominant Epidermal Localization	62
Exfoliating Lesions	63
Spongiotic Lesions	66
Necrotizing Lesions	68
Lesions with Inflammatory Infiltration	72
Epidermolytic Lesions	77
Subepidermal Bullae, Supralaminar	81
Subepidermal Bullae, Sublaminar	84
Lesions of Predominantly Dermal Localization	85
Lesions of Predominantly Dermal Localization and Prevalent Vascular Character	85
Lesions of Predominant Dermal Localization and Prevailing Cellular Character	88
Conditions Associated to Figurate Exanthems	89
Conditions Associated to Diffuse Exanthems	90
Periadnexal Infiltrates	91
Band-Like Infiltrates	91
Granulomas	95
Foreign Body Granulomas	95
Palisading Granulomas	96
Sarcoidal Granulomas	96
Tuberculoid Granulomas	97
Diffuse Dermal Infiltrates	97
Diffuse Dermal Infiltrates, Noninfectious	98
Diffuse Dermal Infiltrates, Infectious	99
Lesions of Predominant Subcutaneous Localization	101
Lesions with Prevailing Vascular Character	103
Lesions of Prevailing Cellular Character	105
Lesions of Predominantly Adnexal Localization	106
Lesions of the Hair Follicle	106
Sebaceous Gland Inflammatory Lesions	109
Inflammatory Lesions of the Tubular Glands	109
Inflammatory Conditions of the Nail	110
Cartilaginous Inflammatory Conditions	111
Postevolutionary Inflammatory Lesions	111
Dystrophic Lesions	111
Atrophic Lesions	112
Scars	112
Transitional Inflammatory Lesions	113
Histiocytic Lesions	113
Langerhans Cell Lesions	113
T Cell Lesions	113
References	113

6 Proliferative Cutaneous Lesions	115
Reactive Cutaneous Proliferations	115
Reactive Epidermal Proliferations	115
Reactive Dermoepidermal Proliferations	119
Reactive Adnexal Proliferations	127
Reactive Mesenchymal Proliferations	127
Neoplastic Cutaneous Proliferations	127
Neoplastic Epidermal Proliferations	130
Neoplastic Adnexal Proliferations	145
Neoplastic Mesenchymal Proliferations	157
Tumors of Adipose Tumors	170
Tumors of Peripheral Nerves	170
Cutaneous Neoplasias of Extracutaneous Origin	171
References	176
7 Miscellaneous Cutaneous Lesions	179
Lesions Caused by Dysregulated Fibroblastic Activity	179
Lesions Caused by Faulty Collagen Production	179
Lesions Caused by Faulty Mucin Production	181
Lesions Caused by Faulty Elastin Production	181
Cutaneous Deposits	181
Cutaneous Deposits, Endogenous	181
Cutaneous Deposits, Exogenous	183
Metaplasias	183
Degradative Process	184
Involution	184
Degenerations	185
Atrophies	185
Acquired Cysts	186
Retention Cysts	186
Implantation Cyst	186
References	190
Abbreviations	191
Glossary	193
Index	197

Dermatopathology

Classification of Cutaneous Lesions

Zappi, E.; Zappi, E.A.

2013, XVI, 204 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-1-4471-2893-9