

Contents

|          |  |          |
|----------|--|----------|
| 1 | Gas Exchange  | 1 |
| 1.1      | The Respiratory Centre                                     | 3        |
| 1.2      | Rhythmicity of the Respiratory Centre                      | 4        |
| 1.3      | The Thoracic Neural Receptors                              | 5        |
| 1.4      | Chemoreceptors   | 6        |
| 1.5      | The Central Chemoreceptors and the Alpha-Stat Hypothesis   | 7        |
| 1.6      | Peripheral Chemoreceptors                                  | 8        |
| 1.7      | Chemoreceptors in Hypoxia                                  | 9        |
| 1.8      | Response of the Respiratory Centre to Hypoxemia            | 10       |
| 1.9      | Respiration  | 11       |
| 1.10     | Partial Pressure of a Mixture of Gases                     | 12       |
|          | 1.10.1 Atmospheric Pressure                                | 12       |
|          | 1.10.2 Gas Pressure  | 12       |
| 1.11     | Partial Pressure of a Gas                                  | 13       |
| 1.12     | The Fractional Concentration of a Gas ( $F_{\text{gas}}$ ) | 14       |
| 1.13     | Diffusion of Gases   | 15       |
| 1.14     | Henry's Law and the Solubility of a Gas in Liquid          | 16       |
| 1.15     | Inhaled Air  | 17       |
| 1.16     | The $O_2$ Cascade  | 18       |
| 1.17     | $PaO_2$  | 20       |
| 1.18     | The Modified Alveolar Gas Equation                         | 21       |
| 1.19     | The Determinants of the Alveolar Gas Equation              | 22       |
| 1.20     | The Respiratory Quotient (RQ) in the Alveolar Air Equation | 23       |
| 1.21     | $FIO_2$ , $PAO_2$ , $PaO_2$ and $CaO_2$                    | 24       |
| 1.22     | $DO_2$ , $CaO_2$ , $SpO_2$ , $PaO_2$ and $FIO_2$           | 25       |
| 1.23     | $O_2$ Content: An Illustrative Example                     | 26       |
| 1.24     | Mechanisms of Hypoxemia                                    | 27       |
| 1.25     | Processes Dependent Upon Ventilation                       | 28       |
| 1.26     | Defining Hypercapnia (Elevated $CO_2$ )                    | 29       |
| 1.27     | Factors That Determine $PaCO_2$ Levels                     | 30       |

|          |  |           |
|----------|--|-----------|
| 1.28     | Relationship Between $\text{CO}_2$ Production and Elimination . . . . .                              | 31        |
| 1.29     | Exercise, $\text{CO}_2$ Production and $\text{PaCO}_2$ . . . . .                                     | 32        |
| 1.30     | Dead Space . . . . .   | 33        |
| 1.31     | Minute Ventilation and Alveolar Ventilation . . . . .  | 34        |
| 1.32     | The Determinants of the $\text{PaCO}_2$ . . . . .  | 35        |
| 1.33     | Alveolar Ventilation in Health and Disease . . . . .   | 36        |
| 1.34     | Hypoventilation and $\text{PaCO}_2$ . . . . .  | 37        |
| 1.35     | The Causes of Hypoventilation . . . . .  | 38        |
| 1.36     | Blood Gases in Hypoventilation . . . . .   | 39        |
| 1.37     | Decreased $\text{CO}_2$ Production . . . . .   | 40        |
|          | 1.37.1 Summary: Conditions That Can Resultin Hypercapnia . . . . .                               | 40        |
| 1.38     | V/Q Mismatch: A Hypothetical Model . . . . .   | 41        |
| 1.39     | V/Q Mismatch and Shunt . . . . .   | 42        |
| 1.40     | Quantifying Hypoxemia . . . . .  | 43        |
| 1.41     | Compensation for Regional V/Q Inequalities . . . . .   | 44        |
| 1.42     | Alveolo-Arterial Diffusion of Oxygen ( $\text{A-aDO}_2$ ) . . . . .                                  | 45        |
| 1.43     | $\text{A-aDO}_2$ is Difficult to Predict on IntermediateLevels of $\text{FIO}_2$ . . . . .       | 46        |
| 1.44     | Defects of Diffusion . . . . .   | 47        |
| 1.45     | Determinants of Diffusion: $DL_{\text{CO}}$ . . . . .  | 48        |
| 1.46     | Timing the ABG . . . . .   | 49        |
| 1.47     | $\text{A-aDO}_2$ Helps in Differentiating Betweenthe Different Mechanisms of Hypoxemia . . . . . | 50        |
| 2 | The Non-Invasive Monitoring of Blood Oxygenand Carbon Dioxide Levels . . . . .           | 51 |
| 2.1      | The Structure and Function of Haemoglobin . . . . .  | 53        |
| 2.2      | Co-operativity . . . . .   | 54        |
| 2.3      | The Bohr Effect and the Haldane Effect . . . . .   | 55        |
| 2.4      | Oxygenated and Non-oxygenated Hemoglobin . . . . .   | 56        |
| 2.5      | $\text{PaO}_2$ and the Oxy-hemoglobin Dissociation Curve . . . . .                                   | 57        |
| 2.6      | Monitoring of Blood Gases . . . . .  | 58        |
|          | 2.6.1 Invasive $\text{O}_2$ Monitoring . . . . .   | 58        |
|          | 2.6.2 The Non-invasive Monitoring of Blood Gases . . . . .   | 58        |
| 2.7      | Principles of Pulse Oximetry . . . . .   | 59        |
| 2.8      | Spectrophotometry . . . . .  | 60        |
| 2.9      | Optical Plethysmography . . . . .  | 61        |
| 2.10     | Types of Pulse Oximeters . . . . .   | 62        |
| 2.11     | Pulse Oximetry and $\text{PaO}_2$ . . . . .  | 63        |
| 2.12     | $\text{P}_{50}$ . . . . .  | 64        |
| 2.13     | Shifts in the Oxy-hemoglobin Dissociation Curve . . . . .  | 65        |
| 2.14     | Oxygen Saturation ( $\text{SpO}_2$ ) in Anemiaand Skin Pigmentation . . . . .                    | 66        |
| 2.15     | Oxygen Saturation ( $\text{SpO}_2$ ) in Abnormal Formsof Hemoglobin . . . . .                    | 67        |

|          |  |           |
|----------|--|-----------|
| 2.16     | Mechanisms of Hypoxemia in Methemoglobinemia. . . . .  | 68        |
| 2.17     | Methemoglobinemias: Classification. . . . .  | 69        |
| 2.18     | Sulfhemoglobinemia . . . . .   | 70        |
| 2.19     | Carbon Monoxide (CO) Poisoning . . . . .   | 71        |
| 2.20     | Saturation Gap . . . . .   | 72        |
| 2.21     | Sources of Error While Measuring SpO <sub>2</sub> . . . . .  | 73        |
| 2.22     | Point of Care (POC) Cartridges. . . . .  | 75        |
| 2.23     | Capnography and Capnometry . . . . .   | 76        |
| 2.24     | The Capnographic Waveform . . . . .  | 77        |
| 2.25     | Main-Stream and Side-Stream Capnometers. . . . .   | 78        |
| 2.26     | P <sub>Et</sub> CO <sub>2</sub> (E <sub>t</sub> CO <sub>2</sub> ): A Surrogate for PaCO <sub>2</sub> . . . . . | 79        |
| 2.27     | Factors Affecting P <sub>Et</sub> CO <sub>2</sub> . . . . .  | 80        |
| 2.28     | Causes of Increased PaCO <sub>2</sub> -P <sub>Et</sub> CO <sub>2</sub> Difference . . . . .                    | 81        |
| 2.29     | Bohr's Equation . . . . .  | 82        |
| 2.30     | Application of Bohr's Equation . . . . .   | 83        |
| 2.31     | Variations in E <sub>t</sub> CO <sub>2</sub> . . . . .   | 84        |
| 2.32     | False-Positive and False-Negative Capnography. . . . .   | 85        |
| 2.33     | Capnography and Cardiac Output . . . . .   | 86        |
| 2.34     | Capnography as a Guide to Successful Resuscitation . . . . .   | 87        |
| 2.35     | Capnography in Respiratory Disease. . . . .  | 88        |
| 2.36     | Esophageal Intubation . . . . .  | 90        |
| 2.37     | Capnography in Tube Disconnection and Cuff Rupture . . . . .   | 91        |
|          | 2.37.1 Biphasic Capnograph . . . . .   | 91        |
|          | References. . . . .  | 93        |
| 3 | Acids and Bases. . . . .  | 95 |
| 3.1      | Intracellular and Extracellular pH . . . . .   | 96        |
| 3.2      | pH Differences. . . . .  | 97        |
| 3.3      | Surrogate Measurement of Intracellular pH . . . . .  | 98        |
| 3.4      | Preferential Permeability of the Cell Membrane. . . . .  | 99        |
| 3.5      | Ionization and Permeability. . . . .   | 100       |
| 3.6      | The Reason Why Substances Need to Be Ionized. . . . .  | 101       |
| 3.7      | The Exceptions to the Rule . . . . .   | 102       |
| 3.8      | The Hydrogen Ion (H + , Proton) . . . . .   | 103       |
| 3.9      | Intracellular pH Is Regulated Within a Narrow Range . . . . .  | 104       |
| 3.10     | A Narrow Range of pH Does Not Meana Small Range of the H + Concentration. . . . .               | 105       |
| 3.11     | The Earliest Concept of an Acid . . . . .  | 106       |
| 3.12     | Arrhenius's Theory . . . . .   | 107       |
| 3.13     | Bronsted-Lowry Acids. . . . .  | 108       |
| 3.14     | Lewis' Approach . . . . .  | 109       |
| 3.15     | The Usanovich Theory. . . . .  | 109       |
| 3.16     | Summary of Definitions of Acids and Bases. . . . .   | 110       |
| 3.17     | Stewart's Physico-Chemical Approach . . . . .  | 111       |
| 3.18     | The Dissociation of Water . . . . .  | 112       |
| 3.19     | Electrolytes, Non-electrolytes and Ions. . . . .   | 113       |

|          |   |            |
|----------|---|------------|
| 3.20     | Strong Ions . . . . .   | 114        |
| 3.21     | Stewart's Determinants of the Acid Base Status . . . . .                              | 115        |
| 3.22     | Apparent and Effective Strong Ion Difference . . . . .                                | 116        |
| 3.23     | Strong Ion Gap. . . . .   | 117        |
| 3.24     | Major Regulators of Independent Variables . . . . .                                   | 118        |
| 3.25     | Fourth Order Polynomial Equation . . . . .  | 119        |
| 3.26     | The Workings of Stewart's Approach . . . . .  | 121        |
| 4 | Buffer Systems. . . . .  | 123 |
| 4.1      | Generation of Acids. . . . .  | 124        |
| 4.2      | Disposal of Volatile Acids . . . . .  | 125        |
| 4.3      | Disposal of Fixed Acids. . . . .  | 126        |
| 4.4      | Buffer Systems. . . . .   | 127        |
| 4.5      | Buffers . . . . .   | 128        |
| 4.6      | Mechanisms for the Homeostasis of Hydrogen Ions. . . . .                              | 129        |
| 4.7      | Intracellular Buffering . . . . .   | 130        |
| 4.8      | Alkali Generation. . . . .  | 131        |
| 4.9      | Buffer Systems of the Body. . . . .   | 132        |
| 4.10     | Transcellular Ion Shifts with Acute Acid Loading . . . . .                            | 133        |
| 4.11     | Time-Frame of Compensatory Responsesto Acute Acid Loading. . . . .                | 134        |
| 4.12     | Quantifying Buffering . . . . .   | 135        |
| 4.13     | Buffering in Respiratory Acidosis. . . . .  | 136        |
| 4.14     | Regeneration of the Buffer. . . . .   | 137        |
| 4.15     | Buffering in Alkalosis . . . . .  | 137        |
| 4.16     | Site Buffering. . . . .   | 138        |
| 4.17     | Isohydric Principle. . . . .  | 139        |
| 4.18     | Base-Buffering by the Bicarbonate Buffer System. . . . .                              | 140        |
| 4.19     | Bone Buffering . . . . .  | 141        |
| 4.20     | Role of the Liver in Acid-Base Homeostasis . . . . .                                  | 142        |
| 5 | pH . . . . .   | 143 |
| 5.1      | Hydrogen Ion Activity. . . . .  | 144        |
| 5.2      | Definitions of the Ad-hoc Committee of New YorkAcademy of Sciences, 1965. . . . . | 145        |
| 5.3      | Acidosis and Alkalosis . . . . .  | 146        |
| 5.4      | The Law of Mass Action . . . . .  | 147        |
| 5.5      | Dissociation Constants. . . . .   | 148        |
| 5.6      | pK . . . . .  | 149        |
| 5.7      | The Buffering Capacity of Acids. . . . .  | 150        |
|          | 5.7.1 Buffering Power. . . . .  | 150        |
| 5.8      | The Modified Henderson-Hasselbach Equation . . . . .                                  | 151        |
| 5.9      | The Difficulty in Handling Small Numbers. . . . .                                     | 153        |
| 5.10     | The Puissance Hydrogen . . . . .  | 154        |
| 5.11     | Why pH? . . . . .   | 155        |
| 5.12     | Relationship Between pH and $H^+$ . . . . .   | 156        |

|          |  |            |
|----------|--|------------|
| 5.13     | Disadvantages of Using a Logarithmic Scale . . . . .                                       | 157        |
| 5.14     | pH in Relation to pK . . . . .   | 158        |
| 5.15     | Is the Carbonic Acid System an Ideal Buffer System? . . . . .                              | 159        |
| 5.16     | The Bicarbonate Buffer System Is Open Ended . . . . .                                      | 160        |
| 5.17     | Importance of Alveolar Ventilation to theBicarbonate Buffer System . . . . .           | 161        |
| 5.18     | Difference Between the Bicarbonate andNon-bicarbonate Buffer Systems. . . . .          | 162        |
| 5.19     | Measuring and Calculated Bicarbonate. . . . .  | 163        |
| 6 | Acidosis and Alkalosis . . . . .  | 165 |
| 6.1      | Compensation . . . . .   | 166        |
| 6.2      | Coexistence of Acid Base Disorders . . . . .   | 167        |
| 6.3      | Conditions in Which pH Can Be Normal . . . . .   | 168        |
| 6.4      | The Acid Base Map . . . . .  | 169        |
| 7 | Respiratory Acidosis. . . . .   | 171 |
| 7.1      | Respiratory Failure . . . . .  | 172        |
| 7.2      | The Causes of Respiratory Acidosis . . . . .   | 173        |
| 7.3      | Acute Respiratory Acidosis: Clinical Effects . . . . .                                     | 174        |
| 7.4      | Effect of Acute Respiratory Acidosis on theOxy-hemoglobin Dissociation Curve . . . . . | 175        |
| 7.5      | Buffers in Acute Respiratory Acidosis . . . . .  | 176        |
| 7.6      | Respiratory Acidosis: Mechanismsfor Compensation. . . . .                              | 176        |
| 7.7      | Compensation for Respiratory Acidosis . . . . .  | 177        |
| 7.8      | Post-hypercapnic Metabolic Alkalosis . . . . .   | 178        |
| 7.9      | Acute on Chronic Respiratory Acidosis . . . . .  | 179        |
| 7.10     | Respiratory Acidosis: Acute or Chronic? . . . . .  | 180        |
| 8 | Respiratory Alkalosis . . . . .   | 181 |
| 8.1      | Respiratory Alkalosis. . . . .   | 182        |
| 8.2      | Electrolyte Shifts in Acute Respiratory Alkalosis. . . . .                                 | 183        |
| 8.3      | Causes of Respiratory Alkalosis . . . . .  | 184        |
| 8.4      | Miscellaneous Mechanisms of Respiratory Alkalosis. . . . .                                 | 185        |
| 8.5      | Compensation for Respiratory Alkalosis. . . . .  | 187        |
| 8.6      | Clinical Features of Acute Respiratory Alkalosis . . . . .                                 | 188        |
| 9 | Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .  | 189 |
| 9.1      | The Pathogenesis of Metabolic Acidosis. . . . .  | 191        |
| 9.2      | The pH, $\text{PCO}_2$ and Base Excess: Relationships. . . . .                             | 192        |
| 9.3      | The Law of Electroneutrality and the Anion Gap . . . . .                                   | 193        |
| 9.4      | Electrolytes and the Anion Gap. . . . .  | 194        |
| 9.5      | Electrolytes That Influence the Anion Gap . . . . .  | 195        |
| 9.6      | The Derivation of the Anion Gap . . . . .  | 196        |
| 9.7      | Calculation of the Anion Gap . . . . .   | 197        |

|           |  |            |
|-----------|--|------------|
| 9.8       | Causes of a Wide-Anion-Gap Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .                                | 198        |
| 9.9       | The Corrected Anion Gap ( $AG_c$ ) . . . . .   | 199        |
| 9.10      | Clues to the Presence of Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .                                  | 200        |
| 9.11      | Normal Anion-Gap Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .  | 201        |
| 9.12      | Pathogenesis of Normal-Anion Gap Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .                          | 202        |
| 9.13      | Negative Anion Gap . . . . .   | 203        |
| 9.14      | Systemic Consequences of Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .                                  | 204        |
| 9.15      | Other Systemic Consequences of Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .                            | 205        |
| 9.16      | Hyperkalemia and Hypokalemia in Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .                           | 207        |
| 9.17      | Compensatory Response to Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .                                  | 208        |
| 9.18      | Compensation for Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .  | 209        |
| 9.19      | Total $CO_2$ ( $TCO_2$ ) . . . . .   | 210        |
| 9.20      | Altered Bicarbonate Is Not Specificfor a Metabolic Derangement . . . . .           | 211        |
| 9.21      | Actual Bicarbonate and Standard Bicarbonate . . . . .                                  | 212        |
| 9.22      | Relationship Between ABC and SBC . . . . .   | 213        |
| 9.23      | Buffer Base . . . . .  | 214        |
| 9.24      | Base Excess . . . . .  | 215        |
| 9.25      | Ketosis and Ketoacidosis . . . . .   | 216        |
| 9.26      | Acidosis in Untreated Diabetic Ketoacidosis . . . . .                                  | 217        |
| 9.27      | Acidosis in Diabetic Ketoacidosis Under Treatment . . . . .                            | 218        |
| 9.28      | Renal Mechanisms of Acidosis . . . . .   | 219        |
| 9.29      | L-Lactic Acidosis and D-Lactic Acidosis . . . . .                                      | 220        |
| 9.30      | Diagnosis of Specific Etiologies of Wide AnionGap Metabolic Acidosis . . . . .     | 221        |
| 9.31      | Pitfalls in the Diagnosis of Lactic Acidosis . . . . .                                 | 223        |
| 9.32      | Renal Tubular Acidosis . . . . .   | 224        |
| 9.33      | Distal RTA . . . . .   | 225        |
| 9.34      | Mechanisms in Miscellaneous Causes of NormalAnion Gap Metabolic Acidosis . . . . . | 226        |
| 9.35      | Toxin Ingestion . . . . .  | 227        |
| 9.36      | Bicarbonate Gap (the Delta Ratio) . . . . .  | 228        |
| 9.37      | Urinary Anion Gap . . . . .  | 229        |
| 9.38      | Utility of the Urinary Anion Gap . . . . .   | 230        |
| 9.39      | Osmoles . . . . .  | 231        |
| 9.40      | Osmolarity and Osmolality . . . . .  | 232        |
| 9.41      | Osmolar Gap . . . . .  | 233        |
| 9.42      | Abnormal Low Molecular Weight Circulating Solutes . . . . .                            | 234        |
| 9.43      | Conditions That Can Create an Osmolar Gap . . . . .                                    | 235        |
|           | Reference . . . . .  | 236        |
| 10 | Metabolic Alkalosis . . . . .   | 237 |
| 10.1      | Etiology of Metabolic Alkalosis . . . . .  | 238        |
| 10.2      | Pathways Leading to Metabolic Alkalosis . . . . .                                      | 239        |
| 10.3      | Maintenance Factors for Metabolic Alkalosis . . . . .                                  | 240        |

|           |  |            |
|-----------|--|------------|
| 10.4      | Maintenance Factors for Metabolic Alkalosis:Volume Contraction . . . . . | 241        |
| 10.5      | Maintenance Factors for Metabolic Alkalosis:Dyselectrolytemias . . . . . | 242        |
| 10.6      | Compensation for Metabolic Alkalosis . . . . .                               | 243        |
| 10.7      | Urinary Sodium . . . . .   | 244        |
| 10.8      | Diagnostic Utility of Urinary Chloride (1) . . . . .                         | 245        |
| 10.9      | The Diagnostic Utility of Urinary Chloride (2). . . . .                      | 246        |
| 10.10     | Diagnostic Utility of Urinary Chloride (3) . . . . .                         | 247        |
| 10.11     | Some Special Causes of Metabolic Alkalosis . . . . .                         | 248        |
| 10.12     | Metabolic Alkalosis Can Result in Hypoxemia. . . . .                         | 250        |
| 10.13     | Metabolic Alkalosis and the Respiratory Drive. . . . .                       | 251        |
| 11 | The Analysis of Blood Gases . . . . .                                 | 253 |
| 11.1      | Normal Values . . . . .  | 254        |
| 11.1.1    | Venous Blood Gas (VBG) as a Surrogatefor ABG Analysis. . . . .           | 254        |
| 11.2      | Step 1: Authentication of Data . . . . .                                     | 255        |
| 11.3      | Step 2: Characterization of the Acid-Base Disturbance . . . . .              | 256        |
| 11.4      | Step 3: Calculation of the Expected Compensation . . . . .                   | 257        |
| 11.5      | The Alpha-Numeric (a-1) Mnemonic . . . . .                                   | 258        |
| 11.6      | The Metabolic Track . . . . .  | 259        |
| 11.7      | The Respiratory Track . . . . .  | 260        |
| 11.8      | Step 4: The 'Bottom Line': Clinical Correlation. . . . .                     | 261        |
| 11.8.1    | Clinical Conditions Associated with SimpleAcid-Base Disorders . . . . .  | 262        |
| 11.8.2    | Mixed Disorders. . . . .   | 263        |
| 11.9      | Acid-Base Maps. . . . .  | 265        |
| 12 | Factors Modifying the Accuracy of ABG Results . . . . .               | 267 |
| 12.1      | Electrodes . . . . .   | 268        |
| 12.2      | Accuracy of Blood Gas Values . . . . .                                       | 269        |
| 12.3      | The Effects of Metabolizing Blood Cells . . . . .                            | 270        |
| 12.4      | Leucocyte Larceny. . . . .   | 271        |
| 12.5      | The Effect of an Air Bubble in the Syringe. . . . .                          | 272        |
| 12.6      | Effect of Over-Heparization of the Syringe. . . . .                          | 273        |
| 12.7      | The Effect of Temperature on the Inhaled Gas Mixture . . . . .               | 274        |
| 12.8      | Effect of Pyrexia (Hyperthermia) on Blood Gases . . . . .                    | 275        |
| 12.9      | Effect of Hypothermia on Blood Gases. . . . .                                | 276        |
| 12.10     | Plastic and Glass Syringes. . . . .  | 277        |
| 13 | Case Examples. . . . .  | 279 |
| 13.1      | Patient A: A 34 year-old man with Metabolic Encephalopathy . . . .           | 281        |
| 13.2      | Patient B: A 40 year-old man with Breathlessness . . . . .                   | 282        |
| 13.3      | Patient C: A 50 year-old woman with Hypoxemia . . . . .                      | 283        |

|       |  |            |
|-------|--|------------|
| 13.4  | Patient D: A 20 year-old woman with Breathlessness. . . . .                                | 284        |
| 13.5  | Patient E: A 35 year-old man withNon-resolving Pneumonia . . . . .                     | 285        |
| 13.6  | Patient F: A 60 year-old man with CardiogenicPulmonary Edema . . . . .                 | 286        |
| 13.7  | Patient G: A 72 year-old Drowsy COPD Patient. . . . .                                      | 287        |
| 13.8  | Patient H: A 30 year-old man with Epileptic Seizures . . . . .                             | 289        |
| 13.9  | Patient I: An Elderly Male with OpiateInduced Respiratory Depression . . . . .         | 291        |
| 13.10 | Patient J: A 73 year-old man with CongestiveCardiac Failure. . . . .                   | 293        |
| 13.11 | Patient K: A 20 year-old woman with a Normal X-ray. . . . .                                | 295        |
| 13.12 | Patient L: A 22 year-old man with a Head Injury . . . . .                                  | 297        |
| 13.13 | Patient M: A 72 year-old man with Bronchopneumonia. . . . .                                | 299        |
| 13.14 | Patient N: A 70 year-old woman witha Cerebrovascular Event . . . . .                   | 301        |
| 13.15 | Patient O: A 60 year-old man with COPDand Cor Pulmonale . . . . .                      | 303        |
| 13.16 | Patient P: A 70 year-old smoker with Acute Exacerbationof Chronic Bronchitis . . . . . | 305        |
| 13.17 | Patient Q: A 50 year-old man with Hematemesis . . . . .                                    | 307        |
| 13.18 | Patient R: A 68 year-old man with an Acute Abdomen . . . . .                               | 309        |
| 13.19 | Patient S: A young woman with Gastroenteritisand Dehydration. . . . .                  | 311        |
| 13.20 | Patient T: A 50 year-old woman with Paralytic Ileus . . . . .                              | 313        |
| 13.21 | Patient U: An 80 year-old woman with Extreme Weakness . . . . .                            | 315        |
| 13.22 | Patient V: A 50 year-old man with Diarrhea . . . . .                                       | 317        |
| 13.23 | Patient W: A 68 year-old woman withCongestive Cardiac Failure . . . . .                | 319        |
| 13.24 | Patient X: An 82 year-old woman withDiabetic Ketoacidosis . . . . .                    | 321        |
| 13.25 | Patient Y: A 50 year-old male in Cardiac Arrest. . . . .                                   | 323        |
| 13.26 | Patient Z: A 50 year-old Diabetic with Cellulitis . . . . .                                | 325        |
|       | Index. . . . .  | 327 |

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-4471-4314-7>

Handbook of Blood Gas/Acid-Base Interpretation

Hasan, A.

2013, XVIII, 332 p. 361 illus., 359 illus. in color.,

Softcover

ISBN: 978-1-4471-4314-7