

Contents

1	The “Legal Framework” to Fight Terrorists	1
1.1	Law Enforcement or Counterterrorism?	3
1.2	Legal Principles of the Substance of Counterterrorism Law	3
1.3	Authorization to Order Counterterrorism Operations	10
1.4	Some Data on Terrorism in Russia and Its Limitations	11
	References	15
2	The Northern Caucasus as a Colonial Phenomenon	17
2.1	The Relevance of the Colonial Model	18
2.2	Colonialism, Resistance, and Terrorism	20
	References	20
3	Conceptualizations of Russian Counterterrorism	21
3.1	The Situation Before Beslan	23
3.2	The Situation Post-Beslan	24
	References	25
4	The Parties’ Strategies and Tactics	27
4.1	Some Practical Realities of the Russian Counter-Insurgency Effort	28
4.2	Russia’s Strategic Thinking	33
4.3	Asymmetrical Fighting in the Northern Caucasus	35
4.4	Russia’s Reliance on Political Proxies	37
4.5	Approaches to Counterinsurgency	39
	References	44

5 Conflict Dynamics: Tipping Points, Social and Political Networks, and Momentum 47
References 50

6 Conclusion and Final Observations. 51
References 56

Annex: The Demographic Factor 59

Counterterrorism in Areas of Political Unrest

The Case of Russia's Northern Caucasus

Burger, E.S.; Cheloukhine, S.

2013, XXIV, 61 p., Softcover

ISBN: 978-1-4614-5139-6