

Contents

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Foreword .....                               | 7  |
| Preface .....                                | 11 |
| Contents .....                               | 13 |
| List of Figures .....                        | 17 |
| List of Tables.....                          | 19 |
| Introduction .....                           | 23 |
| 1. The case for “Local Oil Nationalism”..... | 31 |
| 1.1 Secession-prone regions.....                    | 31        |
| 1.2 Why oil fuels nationalism.....                  | 42        |
| 1.3 What is known about oil and civil conflict..... | 51        |
| 1.4 Oil conflict to oil development.....            | 60        |
| 2. From peace to conflict (and back).....    | 71 |
| 2.1 The Conflict Matrix.....                        | 71        |
| 2.2 The impact of policies .....                    | 78        |
| 2.3 What triggers conflicts .....                   | 84        |
| 3. Bolivia and Sudan: a perfect split .....  | 91 |
| 3.1 Bolivia.....                                    | 93        |
| The pendulum of nationalization .....               | 93        |
| Poverty, inequality and coups .....                 | 100       |
| The waltz of gas profits.....                       | 113       |
| Between chart and conflict.....                     | 119       |
| 3.2 Sudan.....                                      | 125       |
| The longest conflict in the world .....             | 125       |
| 600 tribes for 400 languages .....                  | 127       |
| North, South and oil in between.....                | 131       |
| Inventing in a war-free Sudan .....                 | 135       |
| 3.3 What can we learn from Bolivia and Sudan .....  | 136       |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 4. Indonesia &amp; Malaysia: islands, ethnicities, oil .....           | 141 |
| 4.1 Indonesia .....   | 142        |
| War and Peace .....   | 143        |
| Militarizing a country .....  | 147        |
| Between corruption and development .....                                      | 153        |
| The line of oil .....   | 158        |
| Different cultures, different rebellions .....                                | 162        |
| Thirty years, two histories .....   | 165        |
| 4.2 Malaysia .....  | 175        |
| The Malay dominance .....   | 176        |
| The British factor and the White Rajas .....                                  | 180        |
| Few oil royalties and social stability .....                                  | 183        |
| 4.3 What can we learn from Indonesia and Malaysia .....                       | 188        |
| 5. China and Iran: the risk for peripheral producing enclaves .....    | 191 |
| 5.1 China .....   | 192        |
| The Uighurs revolt and the oil factor .....                                   | 193        |
| Failed attempts of appeasement .....  | 198        |
| 5.2 Iran .....  | 204        |
| The gold of Iran .....  | 204        |
| A rift on the line of oil .....   | 208        |
| 5.3 What can be learned from China and Iran .....                             | 213        |
| 6. Angola and Nigeria: tribal fragmentation in Sub-Saharan Africa .... | 217 |
| 6.1 Angola .....  | 219        |
| A post-Cold War conflict .....  | 219        |
| A perfect case of oil-fuelled conflict .....                                  | 223        |
| Ethnic tensions and the oil spark .....                                       | 228        |
| 6.2 Nigeria .....   | 231        |
| 140 million people, 2 million barrels per day (and both growing) .....        | 232        |
| Tribal oil wars .....   | 236        |
| The fuel of war .....   | 244        |
| 6.3 What can be learned from Angola and Nigeria .....                         | 251        |
| 7. Natural resources and the question of ethnic nationalisms .....     | 253 |
| 7.1 Four observations about the “Clash of Nationalisms” .....                 | 253        |
| 7.2 The “Acehnese Syndrome” and the “Conflict Trap” .....                     | 262        |
| 7.3 Resources, nationalism and identity .....                                 | 265        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 8. Three Provocative Considerations .....                | 269 |
| 8.1 Does repression work? .....                                 | 269        |
| 8.2 Does social engineering work?.....                          | 271        |
| 8.3 Is private property better than nationalization? .....      | 272        |
| Conclusion .....   | 277 |
| Appendix 1 – Duplets comparison elements .....           | 283 |
| Appendix 2 – Cross-cluster comparisons (main ones) ..... | 285 |
| Bibliography .....                                       | 289 |
| Publications and books.....                                     | 289        |
| Interviews.....   | 308        |
| About the Author.....                                    | 311 |

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-531-19442-4>

Our Land, Our Oil!
Natural Resources, Local Nationalism, and Violent
Secession

Casertano, S.

2013, XXI, 290 p. 20 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-531-19442-4