
Contents

1	Punishment as Part of Modern Criminal Law Theory	1
1.1	The Origins of Punishment	1
1.2	The Formal Part of Punishment in Modern Criminal Law Theory	7
1.2.1	Punishment as Part of the Structure of the Offense	7
1.2.2	Punishment as an Indication of the Severity of the Offense	9
1.3	The Substantive Integration of Punishment into Criminal Law Theory	11
1.3.1	Applicability of Criminal Law Principles to Punishment	11
1.3.2	Balancing and Completing the Imposition of Criminal Liability	12
2	General Purposes of Punishment	15
2.1	Retribution	16
2.1.1	The Evolution of Retribution in Criminal Law	16
2.1.2	Retribution as a Subjective Pricing of Suffering	21
2.1.3	The Function of Retribution Among the General Purposes of Punishment	22
2.2	Deterrence	25
2.2.1	The Evolution of Deterrence in Criminal Law	25
2.2.2	Deterring the Individual Offender from Recidivism (Individual Deterrence)	28
2.2.3	Deterring Potential Offenders by Punishing the Individual Offender (Public Deterrence)	33
2.2.4	The Function of Deterrence among the General Purposes of Punishment	35
2.3	Rehabilitation	37
2.3.1	The Evolution of Rehabilitation in Criminal Law	37
2.3.2	Rehabilitating Offenders to Prevent Recidivism	41

2.3.3	The Function of Rehabilitation among the General Purposes of Punishment	44
2.4	Incapacitation	46
2.4.1	The Evolution of Incapacitation in Criminal Law	46
2.4.2	Physical Incapacitation of Offenders	48
2.4.3	The Function of Incapacitation among the General Purposes of Punishment	52
2.5	Integration and Comparison of the General Purposes of Punishment	54
3	General Considerations of Punishment	57
3.1	Considering the Impersonal Characteristics (in rem) of the Offense	57
3.1.1	Identifying Impersonal Characteristics	57
3.1.2	Relevance of the General Purposes of Punishment	59
3.1.3	Adequacy and Proportionality	60
3.2	Considering the Personal Characteristics (in personam) of the Offender	64
3.2.1	Identifying Personal Characteristics	64
3.2.2	Relevance of General Purposes of Punishment	65
3.2.3	Recidivism	67
3.2.4	Personal Status	77
3.2.5	Personal Difficulties	84
3.2.6	Delinquent Association	88
3.2.7	Procedural Cooperation with Law Enforcement Authorities	95
3.2.8	Offender's Positive Contribution to Society	97
4	General Structure of Doctrinal Sentencing	103
4.1	Basic Structural Elements of Sentencing in Criminal Law	103
4.2	Uniformity	107
4.3	Determining the Type and Scope of Punishment	110
4.3.1	Choosing the Appropriate Punishment	110
4.3.2	Maximum Sentencing, Mandatory Sentencing, Mandatory Minimum Sentencing, and Degrees of Severity of Punishments	112
4.4	Sentencing Combinations	115
5	Physical Punishments	121
5.1	Essence of Physical Punishments	121
5.2	Capital Penalty	123
5.2.1	Evolution and Developments	123
5.2.2	Reflection of the General Purposes of Punishment	126
5.3	Flogging	129
5.3.1	Evolution and Developments	129
5.3.2	Reflection of the General Purposes of Punishment	130

5.4	Mutilation	132
5.4.1	Evolution and Developments	132
5.4.2	Reflection of General Purposes of Punishment	135
5.5	Deprivation of Civil Rights and Liberties	137
5.5.1	Evolution and Developments	137
5.5.2	Reflection of General Purposes of Punishment	139
5.5.3	Infamy	140
5.5.4	Statute of Limitations and the Expunging of Criminal Records	147
5.6	Imprisonment	148
5.6.1	Evolution and Developments	148
5.6.2	Reflection of General Purposes of Punishment	156
5.6.3	Suspended Imprisonment	158
5.6.4	Mandatory Public Service	163
5.6.5	Conditional Release	166
5.6.6	Part-Time Imprisonment	169
5.6.7	Imprisonment for Unpaid Fines	172
5.7	Probation	173
5.7.1	Evolution and Developments	173
5.7.2	Reflection of General Purposes of Punishment	177
5.7.3	Rehabilitative Public Service	179
5.7.4	Probation with No Criminal Record	183
6	Economic Punishments	189
6.1	The Essence of Economic Punishments	189
6.2	Fine	191
6.2.1	Evolution and Developments	191
6.2.2	Reflection of General Purposes of Punishment	195
6.2.3	Suspended Fine	197
6.3	Forfeiture	200
6.4	Damages to the Victim	204
6.4.1	Evolution and Developments	204
6.4.2	Reflection of General Purposes of Punishment	207
6.5	Legal Expenses	209
	Conclusion	211
	Cases	213
	Bibliography	219
	Index	233

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-642-32387-4>

The Right to Be Punished
Modern Doctrinal Sentencing
Hallevy, G.
2013, XVI, 236 p., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-3-642-32387-4