

Contents

Part I Public Housing in the East

1 The Transferability of Public Housing Policy Within Asia: Reflections from the Hong Kong-Mainland China Case Study . . .	3
Rebecca L.H. Chiu
2 Public Housing in Mainland China: History, Ongoing Trends, and Future Perspectives . . . . .	13
Jie Chen, Juan Jing, Yanyun Man, and Zan Yang
3 Public Housing Programs and the Challenge of Household Affordability in Beijing . . . . .	37
Zan Yang, Chengdong Yi, and Wei Zhang
4 Public Housing in Shanghai: A Tool with Multiple Purposes . . . .	49
Ying Chang and Jie Chen
5 Challenges to Public Housing in Post-colonial Hong Kong . . . . .	65
Ngai Ming Yip
6 Public Housing Policy in Taiwan . . . . .	85
Chin-Oh Chang and Shu-Mei Yuan
7 The Story of Singapore's Public Housing: From a Nation of Home-Seekers to a Nation of Homeowners . . . . .	103
Yongheng Deng, Tien Foo Sing, and Chaoqun Ren
8 New Experiments in Public Housing Supply in Seoul, South Korea: The Possibilities and Limits . . . . .	123
Yeong-Hee Jang and Soo-Hyun Kim
9 Public Housing and Neoliberal Policy in Japan . . . . .	143
Yosuke Hirayama

Part II Public Housing in the West

10 Public Housing in Europe and North America . . . . .	165
Alan Murie
11 From Public Housing to Joint Ventures: Lessons from the U.S. Housing Policy Development . . . . .	181
Lan Deng and Zhu Xiaodi
12 Social Housing in the United Kingdom . . . . .	199
Mark Stephens
13 “Everyone Should Be Housed”: The French Generalist Model of Social Housing at Stake . . . . .	215
Claire Lévy-Vroelant
14 Maturation of the Dutch Social Housing Model and Perspectives for the Future . . . . .	239
Peter Boelhouwer
15 Understanding Variation in the Size of the Public Housing Sector Across Swedish Municipalities: The Role of Politics . . . . .	259
Roger Andersson
16 “Unorthodox” Housing Policy in Hungary: Is There a Way Back to Public Housing? . . . . .	279
József Hegedüs

Part III Concluding Part

17 Reflections . . . . .	303
Ray Forrest

The Future of Public Housing

Ongoing Trends in the East and the West

Chen, J.; Stephens, M.; Man, Y. (Eds.)

2013, XXVI, 310 p. 36 illus., 27 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-642-41621-7