

Contents

1 Ecopsychology and Phenomenology: An Introduction	1
Fernando Castrillón
Part I Phenomenologies of the Earth: Deepening Our Experience of Nature and its Alterity	9
2 Intimacy, Otherness, and Alienation: The Intertwining of Nature and Consciousness	11
Kaisa Puhakka
3 Mountain Reflections: Reverence for the Consciousness of Nature	27
Ian-Michael Hébert
4 Diamond in the Rough: An Exploration of Aliveness and Transformation in Wilderness	47
John Davis
5 Intimate Responsivity as Essence-Calling-Path-Fruition: Eco(psycho)logical Ethics Via Zen Buddhist Phenomenology	65
Will W. Adams
6 The Naturalist’s Presence: Notes Toward a Relational Phenomenology of Attention and Meaning	89
Trileigh Tucker
7 Nomadic Dimensions of Education with the Earth-in-Mind	109
Laura H. Mitchell
8 A Phenomenology of Intimate Relating and Identification with the Whole (and the Tale of the Woefully Misguided Aspirations of the Common Land Barnacle)	127
Jeff Beyer

Part II Phenomenology, Environment, and Ethics 141

9 The Who of Environmental Ethics: Phenomenology and the Moral Self 143
Charles S. Brown

10 Elemental Imagination: Deconstructive Phenomenology and the Sense of Environmental Ethics 159
Sam Mickey

11 Geologic Soul: An Ethic of Underworld Force 177
Matthew Cochran

12 Climate Chaos, Ecopsychology, and the Maturing Human Being 195
Jeff Beyer

Part III The Earth Unseen: Phenomenologies of Invisibility, Apocalypse, Death and the Unhuman..... 209

13 Apocalyptic Imagination and the Silence of the Elements 211
Ted Toadvine

14 Eros of Erosion: The Shaping of an Archetypal Geology..... 223
Matthew Cochran

15 The Invisibility of Nature: Garbage, Play Forts, and the Deterritorialization of Urban Nature Spaces..... 237
Eva-Maria Simms

16 Lorecasting the Weather: Unhumanizing Phenomenology for Decoding the Language of Earth 251
Craig Chalquist

Index..... 261

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-4614-9618-2>

Ecopsychology, Phenomenology, and the Environment

The Experience of Nature

Vakoch, D.; Castrillón, F. (Eds.)

2014, XXIV, 265 p. 10 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-1-4614-9618-2