

Contents

1	Theory of Innovation	1
1.1	Technology and Efficiency	3
1.2	Endogenous Aspects of Innovation	5
1.3	Selection and Industry Evolution	9
1.4	Innovation Through Technology Consortium	10
1.5	Economic Implications	23
2	Innovation Models	27
2.1	Innovation Diversity	27
2.2	Innovation Models of Industry Growth	33
2.3	New Ideas on Innovation Models	55
3	Schumpeterian Innovation	63
3.1	Creative Accumulation	63
3.2	Creative Destruction	65
3.3	Adjustment Mechanisms	66
3.4	Evolutionary Fitness	68
3.5	Dynamic Flexibility	71
3.6	Innovation and Market Competition	72
3.7	Sharing Knowledge Capital	76
4	Endogenous Innovation	79
4.1	Profit Expectations	79
4.2	Englmann's Model	81
4.3	Coinvention and Coevolution	85
4.4	Schumpeterian Perspectives	86
4.5	Public Research Expenditure	90
4.6	Endogenous Industry Growth	97
5	Innovation Diversity: Industry Applications	99
5.1	Innovation Types	99
5.2	Expansion in Variety of Products	101
5.3	Optimal Growth with Endogenous Innovation	103

5.4	Industry Applications	105
5.5	Innovation and Industry Evolution	120
6	Innovation Challenges	123
6.1	Managerial Challenge.....	123
6.2	Marketing Challenge.....	126
6.3	Network Challenge.....	129
6.4	Knowledge Creation and Diffusion	130
6.5	Innovation Policy Changes	134
6.6	Innovation Experience in Asia	136
7	Managing Innovation	141
7.1	Management Strategies	142
7.2	Business Under Increasing Returns	146
7.3	Digital Divide and Innovations	148
	Bibliography	151

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-02182-9>

Theory of Innovation

A New Paradigm of Growth

Sengupta, J.

2014, X, 154 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-02182-9