
Contents

1	Introduction: A Short History of Virology	1
1.1	What Is a Virus?	2
1.2	Plagues Before the Germ Theory	2
1.3	Development of the Microscope and Germ Theory	5
1.4	Vaccination in the Time of Jenner	7
1.5	Louis Pasteur and Robert Koch	9
1.6	How Can We Differentiate a Virus from a Bacterium?	13
1.7	Plant Viruses	14
1.8	Human and Animal Viruses	16
1.9	Viruses and Cancer	16
1.10	Bacteriophage	17
1.11	Modern Molecular Biology	18
1.12	Viral Studies in the 1950s	19
	References	21
2	What Is a Virus?	23
2.1	Definition of a Virus	23
2.2	Are Viruses Alive?	25
2.3	Viral Structure	26
2.4	Nucleic Acid	30
2.5	Virus Classification	30
2.6	Virus Replication Cycle	32
2.7	How Are Viruses Spread?	33
2.8	Aerosol and Airborne Spread	34
2.9	Fecal-Oral Spread	36
2.10	Insect Route	37
2.11	Sexual Transmission	39
	References	40
3	A History of Cell Culture	41
3.1	The Beginnings	42
3.2	Harrison and Carrel	42

3.3	Growth of Virus in Culture	44
3.4	Development of the Plaque Assay.	46
3.5	HeLa Cells and Cloning	47
3.6	Birth of Monoclonal Antibodies	49
3.7	Appendix.	51
	References	51
4	The Discovery of Bacteriophage and the d’Herelle
	Controversy	53
4.1	Discovery of Bacteriophage	53
4.2	Bacteriophagology	55
4.3	Phagotherapy	57
4.4	D’Herelle and the Phage Controversy	58
4.5	Phage Institute in Tiflis (Tbilisi).	59
	References	61
5	The Beginnings of Molecular Biology	63
5.1	Early Studies with Bacteriophage	63
5.2	The Phage Group	64
5.3	Lysogeny and Phage λ	68
5.4	The Oncogene Theory of Cancer	73
	References	74
6	The History of Immunology	77
6.1	What Is Immunology?.	78
6.2	Henle’s Contribution to Immunology	78
6.3	Metchnikoff and Ehrlich	79
6.4	Development of Antibody Theory and Structure.	82
6.5	The Clonal Theory of Antibody Production	84
6.6	Genetic Basis of Antibody Formation	87
6.7	Cell-Based Immunity	87
6.8	T-helper Cells	90
6.9	Complement Cascade	93
6.10	Skin as a Component of the Immune System.	95
6.11	Toll-Like Receptors and Pattern Recognition	96
	References	97
7	Interferons.	101
7.1	Discovery of Interferon	102
7.2	Inhibitory Factor.	103
7.3	First Clinical Trials.	104
7.4	How Does Interferon Protect Cells Against Virus Infection?	105

7.5	Classification of Interferons	106
7.6	Cloning of Interferon Genes.	106
7.7	Interferon Alpha and Beta	107
7.8	Interferon-Gamma.	108
7.9	Interferon Lambda: Type III Interferons	110
7.10	Interferon's Biological Activity	110
7.11	How Do Viruses Escape Interferon Activity?	114
7.12	Clinical Studies of Interferons with Virus	114
7.13	Interferon as an Anti-cancer Agent	115
7.14	The Interferon Society.	116
7.15	Conclusions	117
	References	117
8	Cancer and Viruses	121
8.1	The War on Cancer.	121
8.2	Introduction to Cancer at the Molecular Level	123
8.3	Oncogenes	124
8.4	Tumor Suppressor Genes	126
8.5	Chromosomal Aberrations	127
8.6	Viral-Oncogene Theory of Cancer	128
8.7	Retroviruses and Cancer	131
8.8	The BRCA1 and BRCA2 Genes.	133
8.9	DNA Tumor Viruses.	136
8.10	Hepatocellular Carcinoma	139
	References	140
9	Smallpox	143
9.1	Origins of Smallpox	143
9.2	The Effect of Smallpox on European History.	146
9.3	Effect of Smallpox on the New World	146
9.4	Smallpox in Mexico	147
9.5	Smallpox and Slavery	148
9.6	Why Were Native Peoples More Susceptible to the Virus?	151
9.7	Outbreaks of Smallpox Among Other "Virgin Populations:" Iceland and the Shetland Islands.	153
9.8	Religion, Tradition and Smallpox	153
9.9	Variolation.	155
9.10	Jenner's Vaccination	157
9.11	Eradication of Smallpox	159
9.12	Natural Resistance to Smallpox	161
9.13	Smallpox as Weapon of Mass Destruction	161
9.14	The Pox Viruses.	162
	References	164

10	Yellow Fever	165
10.1	Introduction	165
10.2	Origins of Yellow Fever	166
10.3	Yellow Fever and Slavery	167
10.4	Yellow Fever in North America	168
10.4.1	Philadelphia	168
10.4.2	Memphis	170
10.5	The Louisiana Purchase	171
10.6	The Spanish-American War	172
10.7	Carlos Finlay	173
10.8	The United States Army Yellow Fever Commission	175
10.9	Panama Canal	182
10.10	The Virus	183
10.11	Vaccine Development	185
10.12	Other Hemorrhagic Fever Viruses	186
10.13	Yellow Fever Today (2014)	187
	References	188
11	Influenza	191
11.1	The Virus	191
11.2	Antigenic Drift and Antigenic Shift	193
11.3	History of Influenza Epidemics	195
11.4	The H5N1 Influenza Epidemic	196
11.5	H7N9 Influenza Epidemic	198
11.6	Viral Reservoirs	199
11.7	The Great Pandemic of 1918	200
11.8	Molecular Characteristics of the 1918 Pandemic Virus	203
11.9	Can We Avoid Pandemics?	205
11.10	Molecular Biology of Influenza	206
11.11	Drugs Developed Against Influenza	207
	References	208
12	Poliovirus and Other Picornaviruses	211
12.1	Introduction	211
12.2	Early History of Poliomyelitis	212
12.3	The Polio Epidemics	213
12.4	Discovery of the Poliovirus	217
12.5	Roosevelt and Polio	218
12.6	The March of Dimes	220
12.7	Treatment for Polio	221
12.8	Development of a Polio Vaccine	223
12.9	Picornaviruses	229
12.10	Foot and Mouth Disease Virus	231
	References	232

13	Hepatitis	233
13.1	What Is Hepatitis?	233
13.2	History of Jaundice	234
13.3	Hepatitis A	235
13.4	Hepatitis B	236
13.5	Hepatitis B Therapy and Vaccine	240
13.6	The Discovery of Hepatitis C	243
13.7	Risk Factors for Hepatitis C; Testing	243
13.8	VIII Vaccine Development	245
13.9	Treatment	246
	References	247
14	Herpesvirus	249
14.1	Burkitt's Lymphoma	249
14.2	Epstein-Barr Virus and c-myc Translocation	252
14.3	Naso-Pharyngeal Carcinoma and Other Tumors	253
14.4	Epstein-Barr Virus and Mononucleosis	254
14.5	The E-B Virus	255
14.6	Kaposi's Sarcoma	256
14.7	Herpes Simplex	257
14.8	Worldwide Prevalence of HSV-2	259
14.9	Chicken Pox: Varicella-Zoster	260
14.10	Viral Latency	264
	References	265
15	HIV and AIDS	267
15.1	The Beginnings of a Pandemic	268
15.2	Isolation of the Virus	271
15.3	Social Implications of AIDS	273
15.4	Why Were Homosexual Males More Likely to be Infected?	274
15.5	AIDS in the USA in the 1980s	275
15.6	Test for AIDS and Blood Supply	277
15.7	Why Test?	279
15.8	Anti-retroviral Therapy	280
15.9	Vaccine Development	282
15.10	The Scandals of Contaminated Blood	284
15.11	Romania	285
15.12	Contaminated Blood in China and Other Asian Countries	285
15.13	Origin of HIV	287
15.14	AIDS in 2013	288
15.15	AIDS in Africa	289
15.16	Male Circumcision and AIDS	293
15.17	AIDS in the USA in 2013	293

15.18	AIDS in Asia	294
15.19	AIDS in Russia and the Former Soviet Union	296
15.20	The Public Relations Campaign Against AIDS.	297
15.21	Conspiracy Theories and AIDS Denial	298
15.21.1	Oral Polio Vaccine Theory	298
15.21.2	Virus Developed by Humans for Political Purposes	298
15.21.3	AIDS Denial	299
15.22	The Virus	301
15.23	Pathogenesis.	302
	References	304
16	Phage Therapy and the Future	309
16.1	Early Days of Phage Therapy.	309
16.2	U.S. Clinical Trials	311
16.3	Phage Therapy Between 1920 and 1940	312
16.4	Phage Therapy in the 1960s.	313
16.5	Phage Therapy Today	315
16.6	Phage as an Alternative to Antibiotics.	315
16.7	Conclusions	317
	References	319
17	Viral Oncolysis or Virotherapy	321
17.1	A Short History of Viral Oncolysis.	321
17.2	Adenovirus	323
17.3	Adenovirus Plus GM-CSF	327
17.4	Herpes Viral Vectors.	327
17.5	Vaccinia Virus	329
17.6	Poliovirus	330
17.7	Other Viruses.	331
17.8	Conclusions	333
17.9	Virotherapy and Biotech Companies	333
	References	334
18	Gene Therapy and Viral Vectors	337
18.1	An Introduction to Gene Therapy	337
18.2	Early Days of Gene Therapy	340
18.3	Gene Therapy of ADA Deficiency	342
18.4	Lentivirus as Vectors	345
18.5	Adenovirus Vectors.	346
18.6	Adeno-Associated Virus	350
18.7	Current Status of Gene Therapy	352
	References	353

19	Vaccines Against Viral Infections	355
19.1	Introduction	355
19.2	Smallpox	359
19.3	Rabies	362
19.4	Yellow Fever	364
19.5	Poliovirus	366
19.6	Measles	367
19.6.1	Measles Vaccine and Autism	368
19.7	Influenza	371
19.8	Rational Approach to Designing Vaccines	373
19.9	Vaccines from Plants	374
	References	376
20	Emerging Viruses	379
20.1	Nipah and Hendra Viruses	379
20.2	Ebola Virus	381
20.3	SARS	385
20.4	Middle East Respiratory Syndrome Virus	388
20.5	HantaVirus	388
20.6	Lassa Fever	390
20.7	West Nile Virus	391
	References	396
21	Manufacturing Viruses	399
21.1	Development of In Vitro Techniques for Virus Assembly	399
21.2	DNA Synthesis	401
21.3	Viruses Produced In Vitro Without a Natural Template (Until 2013)	403
21.4	In Vitro Synthesis of Bacteriophage ϕ X174	406
21.5	Expanding the Host Range of Influenza Virus	406
	References	410
22	Viruses as Biological Weapons	413
22.1	Introduction	413
22.2	History of Biological Warfare	414
22.3	Twentieth-Century Horrors	416
22.4	Weapons Development in the Soviet Union	418
	References	421
	Index	423

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-07757-4>

Viruses and Man: A History of Interactions

Taylor, M.W.

2014, XIX, 430 p. 175 illus., 144 illus. in color.,

Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-07757-4