
Contents

1	Introduction: Approaches to Understanding Shanghai Urbanism	1
1.1	The Need for Understanding Shanghai Urbanism.....	1
1.2	A Transitional Period: Tremendous Change Within a Limited Window of Time	2
1.3	Medium-Scale Urban Issues	2
1.4	Structure of the Book	3
1.4.1	Part I: Understanding Shanghai Urbanism.....	3
1.4.2	Part II: Exploring Alternative Solutions for Urban Regeneration and New City Making	4
1.4.3	Part III: Reflecting on Future Chinese Urbanity	4
 Part I Understanding Shanghai Urbanism
2	Evolution of Urban Planning and City Development of Shanghai: The Past Three Eras and the Present	9
2.1	Shanghai's Past Three Eras of Urbanisation	9
2.1.1	Shanghai in Modern Times: From a Small Town to a Metropolis 1843–1949	9
2.1.2	The Shanghai of New China: A Primary Socialist Industrial City 1949–1990.....	10
2.1.3	Rebuilding a World-Class City 1991–2010.....	13
2.2	Shanghai Today: Transitioning to the New Century and Its Challenges	16
2.2.1	Urbanising Suburbs and Re-urbanising the Central City	16
2.2.2	Achievements and Problems from the Near Past.....	16
2.2.3	A Time-Limited Transition with Rapid and Slow Changes	17
	Bibliography	18
3	Observation of the Different Urbanisation Situations in Shanghai Full Territory.....	19
3.1	Central City Historical Urbanism	21
3.2	Socialist Worker Class New Villages	22
3.3	Contemporary Urban Patterns.....	26

3.3.1	Main Axis and the Key Elements Organised by It	27
3.3.2	New Manufacturing and High-Tech Zones	27
3.3.3	Large-Scale Public Transport System and the New Areas Developing Along It	27
3.4	Upcoming and Redeveloping Regions	28
3.4.1	Central City Large-Scale Redevelopment Areas	28
3.4.2	New Satellite Cities	29
3.4.3	Developing Traditional Towns	29
3.4.4	Urbanising Rural Areas	30
Appendix	30
	Notes for Case Studies	30
	Case Study 01: The Traditional Chinese Town: Shanghai Lao-Cheng-Xiang	31
	Case Study 02: The Bund Area	34
	Case Study 03: Linong Typology	37
	Case Study 04: Huaihai Middle Road Area	42
	Case Study 05: The Former West French Concession Area	45
	Case Study 06: Anshan New Village Area	48
	Case Study 07: Quyang New Village Area	51
	Case Study 08: Lujiazui Central Business District (CBD)	54
	Case Study 09: Civic Centre Complex: Huamu Civic Centre Area	57
	Case Study 10: Luxury Residential Area: Huamu Residential Area	60
	Case Study 11: Jinqiao Manufacturing Zone	63
	Case Study 12: Zhangjiang High-Tech Park	66
	Case Study 13: Zhouhai Road Metro Station Area	69
	Case Study 14: Huinan Town	72
	Case Study 15: Xinchang Town	75
	Case Studies 16 and 17: Chenjia Town and Surrounding Villages at Chongming Island	79
	Case Study 18: Fengxian District's Area Along Daye State Road	85
	Bibliography	88

Part II Exploring Alternative Solutions for Urban Regeneration and New City Making

4	Post-use of 2010 Shanghai EXPO UBPA Site: The Best Experimental Opportunity for Urban Regeneration in China	91
4.1	Background and Context: Urban Regeneration Tapping the Opportunity of a Big Event	91
4.2	Key Challenge: Exploiting Potentials of the Site to Create Quality Environments	92
4.3	Two Alternative Solutions: New Block and Street Typologies to Encourage Urban Life	97

4.3.1	Solution One: Creating Human-Scale Streets and Blocks with High-Rise Towers for Rich Urban Life	97
4.3.2	Solution Two: New Urban Block Typologies Working with an Added Layer of Connectivity	98
	Appendix.....	98
	Studio Works Contributors and Tutor	98
	Studio Works 1: Creating Human-Scale Streets and Blocks with High-Rise Towers for Rich Urban Life.....	100
	Studio Works 2: New Urban Block Typologies Working with an Added Layer of Connectivity	106
	Bibliography	112
5	Xuhui Waterfront Area: Urban Restructuring for Quality Waterfront Working and Living	113
5.1	Background and Context: Waterfront Redevelopment with a New Vision	113
5.2	Key Challenge: A Vision Without a Clear Structure	114
5.3	Two Alternative Solutions: Core Zone and Central Spine for the Xuhui Waterfront Area	116
5.3.1	Solution One: Integrated Core Zone – Serving Both New and Old Developments.....	116
5.3.2	Solution Two: Central Spine – A Commercial Mixed-Use Spine for Integrated Urban Living	117
	Appendix.....	118
	Studio Works Contributors and Tutor	118
	Studio Works 1: Integrated Core Zone.....	120
	Studio Works 2: Central Spine – A Commercial Mixed-Use Spine for Integrated Urban Living	128
	Bibliography	134
6	Lingang New City: Physical Development Is Inseparable from Urban Life.....	135
6.1	Background and Context: An Ambitious New City	135
6.2	Key Challenge: A City with Physical Development but No People	136
6.3	Two Alternative Solutions: Street-Based and Polycentric Plans for the ‘New Town’ of Lingang	137
6.3.1	Solution One: Street-Based Plan – Learning from Conventional Urban Fabric and Making It Contemporary.....	137
6.3.2	Solution Two: Polycentric Plan – Following a Suitable White Field Development Model	141
	Appendix.....	142
	Studio Works Contributors and Tutor	142
	Studio Works 1: Achievable, Compact, Livable and Vibrant City – Proposing a Main Strip and a Ring Street by Incorporating Both Conventional and Contemporary City Patterns	144

Studio Works 2: A Polycentric Town – To Provide Two Scales of Easily Accessed Centers to Serve Everyday Needs of the People	152
Bibliography	158

Part III Reflecting on Future Chinese Urbanity

7 Today's Phenomena and Issues: Understanding Chinese Cities and Their People from a Foreign Student's Perspective	161
7.1 Phenomena: First-Hand Observations of Shanghai and Other Chinese Cities	161
7.1.1 Unsustainable City	161
7.1.2 Extremes in Quality and Their Inappropriate Mixing	162
7.1.3 Skin-Deep History	163
7.1.4 Fragmented Systems	163
7.2 Factors: The Reasons Behind the Phenomena	165
7.2.1 Economic/Administrative Factors	165
7.2.2 Social Factors	169
7.2.3 Professional Factors	170
7.3 Inherent Issues: Larger and Deeper-Rooted Issues	170
7.3.1 A Transitional Period: People Have Not Caught Up with the City	170
7.3.2 The Paradox of the Role of the Profession Versus the Architect's Ego	171
7.3.3 The Global System in Which We Are All Caught	171
Bibliography	171
8 Challenges in Implementation: Insights from Different Perspectives	173
8.1 Interview with Wu Jiang	173
8.1.1 The Challenging Gap Between Academic Ideals and Reality	174
8.1.2 Reflections on Academic Research and Professional Education Based on the Experience of City Governing	175
8.1.3 Problems in the Education of This Profession	176
8.2 Interview with Wang Lin	177
8.2.1 Learning Points from the Multiple Facets of Real-Life Work	177
8.2.2 Urban Research	179
8.2.3 Suggestions for Urban Planning and Architectural Education	180
8.3 Interview with Guan Yetong	181
8.3.1 The Feasibility of a Plan	181
8.3.2 The Right Person	182
8.3.3 Viewing the Role of Planning from a Planning Administrative Perspective	183
8.3.4 Suggestions for Planners	184

8.4	Interview with K.B. Albert Chan	184
8.4.1	Challenges in Implementation from a Developer's Point of View	185
8.4.2	Suggestions for Urban Planning and Architecture Education	187
8.4.3	Views on the Future of Chinese Cities from a User's Perspective.....	187
9	Conclusion: The Role of Urban Planning and Design in the Transitional Period	189
	About the Authors	191

Shanghai Urbanism at the Medium Scale

Sha, Y.; Wu, J.; Ji, Y.; Chan, S.L.T.; Lim, W.Q.

2014, XIII, 192 p. 189 illus., 134 illus. in color.,

Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-642-54202-2