

Preface

This report is a partial result of the “China Quarterly Macroeconomic Model (CQMM)”, a project of the Center for Macroeconomic Research (CMR) in Xiamen University. The CMR is one of the Key Research Institutes of Humanities and Social Sciences of the Ministry of Education of China. The research is funded by the National Social Science Foundation of China (13&ZD029), the Key Research Institutes of Humanities and Social Sciences of the Ministry of Education of China (13JJD790025, 13JJD790026), and the Youth Project of National Social Science Foundation of China (13CJL017).

Since the launch of CQMM 7 years ago, 14 forecast reports with policy simulations and 7 essay collection books on China’s macroeconomic analysis have been published. This is the 15th forecast report, which is a summary of forecast results released at the “China Macroeconomic Advanced Forum (Fall, 2013), CQMM Press Conference for Economic Projections for 2013–2014”. The forum was jointly organized by the Center for Macroeconomic Research, Xiamen University, and the Economic Information Daily, Xinhua News Agency, in Beijing on August 18, 2013. Since the Fall of 2012, Springer began to publish the English version of these forecast and analysis report series entitled China’s Macroeconomic Outlook twice a year.

We are grateful to all the participants for their valuable comments at the press conference. We revised the report based on their comments. We also appreciate support from Economic Information Daily, Xinhua News Agency. We thank the media for reporting the conference. Of course, we are fully responsible for all possible mistakes in this report.
