

Contents

List of Tables and Figures .....	13
----------------------------------	----

Part A – Into the Topic

1 Introduction: Focus and Approach

1.1 Overview and Research Statement .....	17
1.2 Research Questions and Analytical Structure .....	22
1.3 Locating the Present Research .....	27
1.3.1 Political Representation and Recruitment .....	27
1.3.2 The Evolution of a Catchall Concept: The Notion of 'Migration Background' in Formal Documents .....	29
1.3.3 Stigma Revisited: Using the Concept of Stigma in Analysis of Status-Rich Actors .....	30
1.3.4 Multifaceted Structure of the Concept of "Migration Background": From "Deficit" to "Resource" .....	31
1.4 Method, Data, and Research Design .....	32
1.5 Overview of Chapters .....	34

Part B - Reflection on Relevant Concepts: Towards a Way to Examine Politicians with Migration Backgrounds

2 Approaching Political Recruitment and Representation

Introduction .....	39
2.1 Political Recruitment and Political Elite Studies .....	43
2.2 The Rocky Road to Power: Supply-Demand Side Theory for Recruitment .....	46
2.2.1 'It's me you are looking for': Supply-Side Factors .....	46
2.2.2 'I am looking for THE ONE...' Demand-Side Explanations of Gatekeepers in the Political System .....	51

2.3 Representation Theory: Being the Voice of the Voiceless? .....	55
Concluding Remarks .....	59
3 Setting the Stage: The Multifaceted Structure of the Concept 'Migration Background' and the Road from Deficit to Difference and Diversity
Introduction .....	63
3.1 Tracing the Term "Migration Background" .....	68
3.2 The Deficit-to-Difference Triangle: The Three Phases of Examining Migration Background as a Marker in Scholarly Work .....	72
3.2.1 Cluster One .....	73
3.2.2. Cluster Two.....	74
3.2.3 Cluster Three .....	78
3.3 Kaleidoscope of the "Stigma" Concept .....	80
3.3.1 Stigma Reloaded .....	81
3.4 'It is not all about deficits': Turning Deficit into an Asset.....	92
Concluding Remarks.....	99
Part C - Research Design
4 Methodical Process and Empirical Considerations
Introduction .....	105
4.1 Grounded Theory as a Point of Departure .....	106
4.1.1 Theoretical Sampling and Purposeful (Criterion Based) Sampling.....	108
4.2 Interview Design: Problem-Centred Interview Design (PCI) in Elite and Specialised Interviews .....	110
4.3 Justification of PCI for this Study .....	112
4.4 Definition of Respondent Group and Access .....	116
4.5 Field Access .....	117
4.6 Tape-Recording and Generation of Transcripts .....	118

5 The Researcher vs. the Researched: Demystification of the Researcher in the Interview Encounter
Introduction .....	121
5.1 The See-Saw of Power between Interviewee and Interviewer .....	124
5.2 Turning the Mirror onto the Researcher: On the Location of the Researcher as In- and Outsider .....	127
5.3 Insider, Outsider, or Both: Changes in the Course of Study .....	129
5.4 Lost in Translation: Switching Between Languages in the Field and Analysis .....	131
Concluding Remarks .....	132
 6 The Kitchen of Data Collection &amp; Data Analysis
Introduction .....	135
6.1 First Encounters with the Elected: Informal Contacts and Pilot Interview .....	136
6.2 Data Compilation .....	137
6.3 'Listening with a Big Ear': Interview Cohorts .....	139
6.4 Design of Questions .....	144
6.5 Open Coding .....	148
6.6 Memoing .....	151
6.7 Comparing, Contrasting and Abstraction of Data .....	152
6.8 And Then 'Aha!' Did I Say: Genesis of the Core Category .....	155
6.8.1 The Strategy of Neutralisation .....	158
6.8.2 The Strategy of Redefinition .....	159
6.8.3 The Strategy of Compensation .....	160
6.8.4 The Strategy of Singularisation .....	161
6.8.5 The Strategy of Political Diversification .....	162
6.9 The Core Category .....	162

Part D - Findings of the Empirical Data: A Level-by-Level Analysis of the Five Strategies of Management of the Marker “Migration Background” in Politics

7 Level of Formation: At the Doors of a Political Career

Introduction .....	169
7.1 The Strategy of Neutralisation: Common Patterns in Political Career Representation
Introduction .....	170
7.1.1 Sameness in Professionalism: “A Political Career as any other...” .....	173
7.1.2 Benchmarking the ‘Earned’ and ‘Gifted’ Mandates .....	178
7.1.3 Socialisation in the System: ‘Being as at Home in Germany as any other in the Parliament’ .....	184
Concluding Remarks .....	190

8 Level of Recalibration: Via Redefinition, Recognition and Negotiation

Introduction .....	195
8.1 The Strategy of Redefinition: Roles and Functions
Introduction .....	196
8.1.1 Being the Role Model .....	201
8.1.2 Brokers or Bridge-Builders between Cultures .....	206
8.1.3 The Double-Edged Sword: Enrichment vs. “Being Instrumentalised” .....	211
8.2 Strategy of Compensation: The Burden of Proof
Introduction .....	219
8.2.1 Glorifying the ‘Extra Mile’ through Diligence and Hard Work .....	220
8.2.2 Command of Language(s) as the Ticket Out .....	224
Concluding Remarks .....	226

9 The Level of Selective Delineation

Introduction .....	231
9.1 The Strategy of Singularisation
Introduction .....	232
9.1.1 Stimulant Migrant for Success: 'Education is the Key to a Society' .....	234
9.1.2 Alibi Mandates in Parties and Own Deserved Positions .....	237
9.1.3 Longing for a Future Normalcy: Defining Normal and Exotic .....	241
9.2 The Strategy of Political Diversification: Decision-Making in Parliamentary Functions
Introduction .....	243
9.2.1 Political Action beyond the Shadow of Countrymen .....	245
9.2.2 Quo Vadis? Avowal or Disavowal of Interests in Migration- and Integration-Related Themes .....	250
9.2.3 Bound by Experience: Why Politicians with Migratory Backgrounds are Better Spokespersons for Migration/Integration .....	253
9.2.4 'Possum, sed nolo.': Once a Spokesperson on Migration Policy, Always a Spokesperson on Migration Policy .....	259

Part E - Final Remarks

10 Concluding Chapter

Introduction .....	267
10.1 Discussion on Key Concepts: Representation, Migration Background .....	270
10.1.1 Political Representation .....	270
10.1.2 "Migration-Background" as a Marker .....	277
10.2 Data Collection and Data Analysis .....	282
10.3 Overview of Research Findings .....	284
10.4 Research Achievements .....	290
10.5. Limitations and Demarcations .....	292
10.6 Recommendations for Future Research .....	293

Bibliography .....	295
---------------------------	-----

I Long for Normality

A Study on German Parliamentarians with Migration
Backgrounds

Nergiz, D.D.

2014, XIV, 300 p. 5 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-658-01871-9