

Table of Contents

Foreword	V
Table of Contents	VII
List of Figures	IX
List of Tables	XI
List of Abbreviations	XIII
1. Real-life negotiation research in Spanish and German professional service firms	1
2. Theoretical foundations	4
2.1 Negotiations as cooperation and competition	4
2.2 Professional service firms as a suitable object of study	8
2.3 Characterization of Spanish and German cultures	12
2.3.1 Hofstede and GLOBE cultural dimensions	12
2.3.2 High and low-context communication	15
3. An exploratory study based on qualitative interviews	16
3.1 Qualitative research study following an interpretative paradigm according to a grounded theory approach	16
3.2 Data collection through qualitative in-depth interviews	19
3.2.1 Qualitative in-depth interviews	19
3.2.2 Interview guide	20
3.2.3 Theoretical sampling process	21
3.2.4 Sample characteristics	22
3.3 Data analysis and interpretation	26
3.3.1 Data treatment: transcription and coding	26
3.3.2 Overview to data results	27
4. Results	28
	VII

4.1 Which are the negotiation issues?	30
4.2 When and how are negotiation issues introduced?	33
4.2.1 First stage: contact initiation	33
4.2.2 Second stage: proposal and negotiation preparation	36
4.2.3 Third stage: proposal submission and closing the deal	43
4.2.4 Issue introduction in banking	45
4.2.5 Issue introduction recapitulation	47
4.3 How are issues negotiated?	48
4.3.1. Agenda setting or the order in which issues are negotiated	48
4.3.2 Issue management or the negotiation strategies involving issues	51
4.3.3 Agenda setting and issue management in banking	53
4.3.4 Multi-party sequential negotiations in consulting companies dealing with clients with organized purchasing departments	54
4.4 Which factors influence the negotiation of issues?	57
4.4.1 Institutional guidelines and performance evaluation	58
4.4.2 Focus on long term relationships and trust building	58
4.4.3 Negotiation power and switching costs	59
4.4.4 Emerging cultural differences	60
5. Discussion	60
5.1 What needs to be reconceptualized on our understanding of negotiations	60
5.2 Towards a productization of professional services	63
5.3 Attenuation of cultural differences in sales negotiations in professional service firms	64
5.4 Conclusion: limitations and future research	65
Exhibits	69
References	73

Sales Negotiations in Professional Service Firms
An Exploratory Study on Agenda Setting and Issue
Management

Prat, M.

2014, XIII, 76 p. 8 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-658-04498-5