

Table of Contents

List of Figures	XIII
List of Tables	XV
Abbreviations	XVII
Abstract	XIX
Zusammenfassung	XX
A Research Background	1
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Motivation and Relevance	1
1.2 Research Gaps and Goals of this Work	6
1.3 Structure of the Dissertation	12
2 Conceptual Development	14
2.1 Forms of Multichannel Strategies	14
2.2 Channel Configuration	18
2.3 Channel Integration	22
2.3.1 Dimensions, Risks, and Potentials of an Integrated Channel System	22
2.3.2 The Relevance of the Internet for Channel Integration	27
2.3.3 Research on Channel Integration	29
2.3.3.1 Conceptual Research related to Channel Integration	29
2.3.3.2 Empirical Studies on Channel Integration	34
2.3.4 Operationalization of Channel Integration: Online Integration	37
2.4 Conceptual Framework	42
B Development of Hypotheses	45
1 The Role of Perceived Service Quality Online	45
2 The Role of Perceived Online Purchase Risk	46
3 The Effects of Online Integration on Perceived Purchase Risk and Service Quality Online	48
4 Online Integration and Willingness to Pay across Channel Formats	49
5 Loyalty and Purchase Intention in the Online Store	52

5.1	Online Integration and the Relative Performance of the Online Channel	55
5.2	Moderation Effects for Perceived Online Service Quality and Purchase Risk	58
5.3	Channel Synergies and Cannibalization	60
C	Study 1: Online Integration and Willingness to Pay	65
1	Study Design, Procedure, and Participants	65
2	Manipulation of the Independent Variables	68
3	Selection of Measures	72
3.1	Dependent Measure	72
3.2	Covariates	73
3.3	Manipulation and Confound Checks	76
4	Results	77
4.1	Manipulation and Confound Checks	77
4.2	The Effect of Online Integration on WTP	78
4.3	Mediation Analysis: How Online Integration Increases WTP in the Online Channel	85
5	Discussion	86
D	Study 2: Online Integration, Channel Loyalty, and Channel Choice.....	91
1	Study Designs.....	91
1.1	Data Collection 1: Manipulation of the Independent Variable: Facilitating Research Shopping	92
1.2	Data Collection 2: Manipulation of the Independent Variables: Facilitating Research Shopping & Increasing After Sales Service.....	94
2	Selection of Measures	97
2.1	Dependent Measures.....	97
2.2	Perceived Online Service Quality and Purchase Risk as Mediator Variables	98
2.3	Moderator Variables and Covariates	99
2.4	Manipulation and Confound Checks	100
3	Participants of the Study and Sample Description	101

4	Datasets Derived from the Experiments.....	106
5	Overview of Analyses	108
5.1	The Mediating Role of Perceived Service Quality and Purchase Risk	109
5.1.1	Rationale and Methodology.....	109
5.1.2	Online Loyalty and Purchase Intention	111
5.1.3	Relative Loyalty and Purchase Intention.....	114
5.1.3.1	Pooled Sample Structural Equation Model Results	114
5.1.3.2	Hierarchical Regression Results	117
5.1.3.3	Facilitating Research Shopping vs. Increasing Online After Sales Service	121
5.1.4	Multiple Group Analyses.....	124
5.1.5	Discussion.....	128
5.2	Channel Synergies - The Impact of Online Integration on Customer Loyalty Online and Offline.....	132
5.2.1	Rationale and Methodology.....	132
5.2.1.1	Mutual Dependencies of Online and Offline Customer Loyalty	132
5.2.1.2	Data Analysis Strategy and Model Specification	133
5.2.2	Descriptive Analyses and Mean Comparisons	135
5.2.2.1	Pooled Sample Results.....	135
5.2.2.2	Facilitating Research Shopping vs. Increasing Online After Sales Service Results.....	136
5.2.3	Instrumental Variables Regression.....	138
5.2.3.1	Endogenous Effects of the Online and Offline Loyalty Constructs.....	138
5.2.3.2	Instrumental Variables Identification	141
5.2.3.3	Pooled Sample Results.....	145
5.2.3.4	Comparison of Integration Types: Facilitating Research Shopping vs. Increasing Online After Sales Service Results	151
5.2.4	Discussion.....	156
5.3	Channel Cannibalization - The Effects of Online Integration on Channel Purchase Choice Online and Offline	158
5.3.1	Rationale and Methodology.....	158

5.3.1.1	Mutual Dependencies of Online and Offline Channel Choice	158
5.3.1.2	Data Analysis Strategy and Model Specification	159
5.3.2	Descriptive Analyses and Mean Comparisons	160
5.3.2.1	Pooled Sample Results.....	160
5.3.2.2	Comparison of Integration Types: Facilitating Research Shopping vs. Increasing Online After Sales Service	162
5.3.3	Multinomial Logistic Regression	163
5.3.3.1	Discrete Channel Choice Variable Identification	163
5.3.3.2	Predicted Probabilities of Channel Selection.....	166
5.3.3.3	Multinomial Logistic Regression Results.....	168
5.3.3.4	Marginal Effects	174
5.3.4	Discussion.....	178
6	Summary of Results	180
E	Managerial Suggestions	183
1	A Roadmap for Channel Integration Decisions	183
2	Creating External Fit: Customers and Competitors	186
2.1	Analysis of the Competitive Position	186
2.2	Customer Analysis.....	192
2.3	Generating a Market-Based Long List of Integration Possibilities	200
3	Creating Internal Fit: Organizational Structure and Cross-Channel Corporate Mindset.....	205
3.1	Organizational Structure.....	205
3.2	Generate a Cross-Channel Corporate Mindset	213
4	Integration Activity Evaluation and Implementation Strategy	219
F	Conclusions	224
1	General Discussion.....	224
2	Theoretical Contribution	226
3	Practical Contribution.....	227
4	Limitations and Future Research.....	229
G	References	232

H	Appendix	263
1	Exemplary Screenshots of the Online Channel Renderings Study 1	263
2	Exemplary Screenshots of the Online Channel Renderings Study 2	265
3	Scale Items and Psychometric Properties for Study 2	274
4	Customer Segmentation Results Firm B	279

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-658-04572-2>

Online Channel Integration

Value Creation and Customer Reactions in Online and Physical Stores

Binder, J.

2014, XX, 281 p. 42 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-658-04572-2