

Contents

| | | |
|----------|--|-----------|
| 1 | The Nature of Free Rational Agency | 1 |
| 1.1 | Preliminary Remarks on the Good and the Right | 1 |
| 1.2 | Some Further Preliminary Clarifications: Moral Worth, Freedom and Agency | 4 |
| 1.3 | A Hegelian Reading of Rational Agency | 9 |
| 1.4 | Freedom, Autonomy and Recognition | 12 |
| 1.5 | Social Normativity and Practices of Reason-Giving | 17 |
| 1.6 | The Spectre of Communitarianism | 21 |
| 1.7 | Conclusion | 24 |
| 2 | Analysing Freedom and Autonomy: Recognition, Responsibility and Threats to Agency | 25 |
| 2.1 | Freedom as Recognition: Normative and Political | 26 |
| 2.2 | Freedom, Recognition and Social Justice | 32 |
| 2.2.1 | Green and Taylor on Recognition | 34 |
| 2.2.2 | Honneth on Recognition | 38 |
| 2.3 | Freedom and Responsibility | 45 |
| 2.4 | Threats to Agency | 49 |
| 2.5 | Freedom, Fairness and Equality | 54 |
| 2.6 | Conclusion | 59 |
| 3 | Needs, Interests and Rights | 61 |
| 3.1 | Some General Reflections on Needs, Interests and Preferences | 62 |
| 3.2 | Need-Based Theories | 64 |
| 3.3 | Nussbaum on Needs and Capabilities | 69 |

| | | |
|----------|--|------------|
| 3.4 | Fundamental Interests..... | 72 |
| 3.5 | Rival Accounts of Interests..... | 76 |
| 3.5.1 | Pettit on Common Avowable Interests..... | 79 |
| 3.6 | Agency, Interests and Basic Rights..... | 82 |
| 3.7 | Conclusion..... | 85 |
| 4 | Capabilities, Freedom and Sufficiency..... | 87 |
| 4.1 | Indexing Social Disadvantage..... | 88 |
| 4.2 | Capabilities, Rational Agency and Non-Domination..... | 92 |
| 4.3 | A Principle of Sufficiencyarian Justice..... | 96 |
| 4.4 | Existing Forms of Sufficiencyarianism..... | 100 |
| 4.5 | Defending Sufficiencyarian Justice..... | 103 |
| 4.6 | An Example for the Socio-Economic Consequences of Sufficiencyarian Justice..... | 111 |
| 4.7 | Concluding Remarks..... | 115 |
| 5 | Collective Agency, Democracy and Political Institutions..... | 117 |
| 5.1 | Individual and Collective Agency..... | 118 |
| 5.2 | Identifying with Collective Decisions..... | 121 |
| 5.3 | Legitimate Political Institutions..... | 126 |
| 5.3.1 | Accountability..... | 128 |
| 5.3.2 | Transparency..... | 130 |
| 5.3.3 | Responsiveness..... | 131 |
| 5.3.4 | Epistemic Reliability, Recognition, and Respect for Interests..... | 134 |
| 5.4 | Democratic Practice..... | 136 |
| 5.5 | Political Participation, Agency and Ossification..... | 140 |
| 5.6 | Conclusion..... | 142 |
| 6 | Global Justice and Non-Domination..... | 145 |
| 6.1 | Some Preliminary Observations Concerning Global Justice..... | 146 |
| 6.2 | The Case Against Strong Cosmopolitanism..... | 149 |
| 6.2.1 | Associative Duties, or the Nationality Argument..... | 150 |
| 6.2.2 | Collective Responsibility Arguments..... | 153 |
| 6.2.3 | Self-Determination..... | 158 |
| 6.2.4 | The Basic Structure, Cooperation and Reciprocity..... | 160 |
| 6.2.5 | State Coercion and Autonomy..... | 164 |
| 6.3 | Agency and Global Justice: Publics, Affected Interests and Non-Domination..... | 167 |
| 6.4 | Global Democracy: Dispersing Power and Polycentric Politics..... | 170 |

6.5 Republican Global Justice: Going Beyond
Democratic Inclusion 174

6.6 Conclusion 176

Conclusion: Freedom, Recognition and Non-Domination 179

Author Biography 183

Bibliography 185

Index 199

Freedom, Recognition and Non-Domination

A Republican Theory of (Global) Justice

Schuppert, F.

2014, XXI, 201 p.,

ISBN: 978-94-007-6806-2