

Contents

1	Introduction: Imagining the Unimaginable	1
	Jim Norwine
Part I Setting the Stage
2	Estrangement: A Beginner’s Guide to the Strangeness of the World . .	15
	Jonathan M. Smith
3	Global Climate Change	25
	Gerald R. North
4	An Evolving Worldview: Culture-Shift in University Students	43
	Michael S. Bruner, John Davenport, and Jim Norwine
Part II Imagining a World: General Impacts and Implications
5	Field Notes from the Future: Environmental Conditions at Four Localities in 2100	67
	Michael Jennings
6	Getting From Here to There: Policy Pathways to Address Human Mobility in the Context of Climate Change	89
	Koko Warner
7	The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly: Thoughts on Possible Outcomes . . .	113
	John Davenport
Part III Imagining a World: Specific Regional Impacts and Implications
8	Europe 2050–2100: Imagining New Lifeways/Lifestyles	141
	Niem Tu Huynh and Anke Uhlenwinkel

9	The Projected Death of the Fertile Crescent	193
	Pinhas Alpert, Fengjun Jin, and Akio Kitoh
10	The Future of the Middle East	205
	Ilhan Kaya, Yilmaz Ari, and Hakkı Yazıcı
11	Imagined Lifeways in North America ca. 2100	225
	Mark Bjelland, Michael S. Bruner, and John Davenport
12	Climate Change and Its Impact on Cultural Shifts in East and Southeast Asia	245
	Niem Tu Huynh, Wen Lin, L. Renee Ness, Darlene Occeña-Gutierrez, and Xuân Duy Trần
Part IV Inhabiting an Imagined World: Better or Worse? Four Interpretations
13	The Postmodern Environment	305
	Gladden J. Pappin
14	Blissful Devolution: Our Rolling Judgment Day	327
	David J. Nemeth
15	The Guilt of Hollow Men: Global Warming as Postmodern Apocalypse	351
	Jonathan M. Smith
16	Colliding with Reality: Liquid Modernity and the Environment	363
	Arran Gare
17	Epilogue: The End of the Arctic as We Know It	393
	Robert Harriss
Index		405

A World After Climate Change and Culture-Shift

Norwine, J. (Ed.)

2014, XX, 410 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-94-007-7352-3