

Contents

1	Introducing the Situational Context, Macro-Sociolinguistics and Key Elements of Language Planning and Policy in Malaysia	1
1.1	The Malaysian Story	1
1.2	Singapore	5
1.3	Indonesia	6
1.4	Understanding Sociolinguistics	8
1.5	Language Education Policy and Planning Approaches in Malaysia	9
1.6	Top-down and Bottom-up Policies	12
	References	14
2	Language, Nation-Building and Identity Formation in a Multi-Ethnic Society	17
2.1	Nationalism and Nation-Building	18
2.2	Ethnic Linguistic Identity—Pluralism or Divisiveness?	22
2.3	Supranational Identity: The Role of English	26
	References	31
3	The Role of Language Education During Colonial Rule and Post-Independence Period	35
3.1	The Pre-Independence Period	36
3.2	Evolution of Immigration into Malaya	36
3.3	The British Approach to Managing the Social and Educational Life of the Malay, Chinese and Indian communities	38
3.4	Post-Independence Period	40
3.5	Nationalism and Bahasa Malaysia	41
3.6	The Development of Bahasa Malaysia	43
3.7	Frustrations over the Implementation of Bahasa Malaysia	45
3.8	Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia	48
3.9	The Response of the Non-Malay Communities to the Institution of Bahasa Malaysia as the National Language	50
3.10	Language and Citizenship	51
	References	53

4	Drastic Change in the Medium of Instruction: From Bahasa Malaysia to English	55
4.1	The Shift from Bahasa Malaysia to English (2003)	56
4.2	Reasons for the Change in Language Policy	57
4.3	Influence of Globalization and the Knowledge Economy on Selection of English in the Domain of Science and Technology	59
4.4	Knowledge Economy: Implications for Human Resource Capability	59
4.5	Knowledge and Information Explosion: Implications for Language Policy	60
4.6	The Contrast with Japan	62
4.7	Lack of Language Legislation in the Domain of Business and Industry	63
4.8	Weakened Employment Base for Graduates from Public Universities	64
4.9	The Reaction from Tertiary Institutions	66
	References	67
5	The Re-reversal from English to Bahasa Malaysia	71
5.1	Challenges of Teacher Preparedness	75
5.2	Rural-urban Divide	77
5.3	The Element of Choice for Schools	78
5.4	Language Policy as a Means of Equalising Opportunities Amongst Multi-ethnic Populations	81
5.5	The Political Factor	83
5.6	Linguistic Crossroads	84
	References	86
6	The Impact of the Change in Medium of Instruction in Malaysia on the Chinese Community and Mother-Tongue Education	89
6.1	Education in Mother Tongue Education: A Brief History	90
6.2	Linguistic Pluralism	91
6.3	Challenges Facing Chinese Schools	92
6.4	Chinese Educationists' Response to the Implementation of Change in MOI	94
6.5	243 Formula	96
6.6	243 Formula for Upper Primary Levels	96
6.7	6232 Formula for Upper Primary Levels	97
6.8	Whither the Way Forward?	97
6.9	The Re-Reversal of PPSMI and the Present Situation of Chinese Schools	98
	References	101

7	The Revival of a Minority Language in Malaysia: The Dynamics between National Linguistic Ideology and Ethnic Linguistic Identity	103
7.1	Historical Background of the Punjabi-Sikh Community in Malaysia	104
7.2	Political Viewpoint: Mahathir and Minority Languages	105
7.3	Unravelling the Ideology Underlying the Rhetoric of the Former Prime Minister	105
7.4	Liberal Approach to Mother-Tongue Education: Its Impact on Punjabi Language	106
7.5	Reasons for Gradual Decline of the Functional Roles of the Punjabi Language	107
7.6	Dynamic Tension Between National Collective Identity and Ethnic Community Identity and Ethnic Community Identity	109
7.7	Present-Day Government Measures for Mother-Tongue Acquisition: Impact on Punjabi Language	111
7.8	Community-Driven Reverse Language Shift (RLS) Measures	112
7.9	Punjabi Text-Book Development and Teacher Training	113
	References	116
8	Conclusion: The Road Ahead for Malaysia: Balancing Ethnic, National and International Identities	119
	References	124

Language Policy Challenges in Multi-Ethnic Malaysia

Gill, S.K.

2014, XV, 124 p. 1 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-94-007-7965-5