

Contents

Author’s preface . . . . . ix

Acknowledgements . . . . . xi

1. Shuttle at the crossroads . . . . . 1

    A “new” Space Shuttle . . . . . 1

    An ambitious mission . . . . . 19

    Glimmers of the future . . . . . 38

    Mission for Japan . . . . . 54

    “ Weird science ” . . . . . 67

    Record rendezvous . . . . . 84

    A precursor to Space Station . . . . . 97

    Record-setters . . . . . 110

2. A new partnership . . . . . 125

    Voyage of destiny . . . . . 125

    An American ‘living’ in space . . . . . 149

    “ Atlantis in free drift ” . . . . . 181

    An ‘international’ space station . . . . . 195

    A ‘permanent’ American presence? . . . . . 215

3. Preparing for Space Station . . . . . 255

    Visiting a national icon . . . . . 255

    Broken ankle, broken plans, broken record . . . . . 275

    Technology for Space Station . . . . . 288

    Last chance spacewalks . . . . . 301

    Science for Space Station . . . . . 318

    End of the old era . . . . . 332

    Powerful X-ray eyes . . . . . 349

    Revisiting a national icon . . . . . 362

4. Steps to the future	379
Fire!	379
A troubled summer	392
Arrival of ‘The Wolfman’	411
The final voyages	425
A glimpse of the future	438
5. New millennium	453
Brave new world	453
The end of Mir	464
A new dawn	481
Epilogue: The new millennium	500
Bibliography	507
Index	517

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-4939-1306-0>

The Twenty-first Century in Space

Evans, B.

2015, XI, 519 p. 87 illus. in color., Softcover

ISBN: 978-1-4939-1306-0