

Contents

1	Discipline-Based Professional Development	1
	Transforming Undergraduate Science Education	2
	Active Learning and Evidence-Based Teaching Approaches	2
	Professional Development for Teaching in the University	4
	Pedagogical Content Knowledge	5
	The Five PCK Components	6
	PCK for the Undergraduate Level	8
	Overview and Brief History of the Teaching and Learning Center (TLC)	8
	Key Contributors to a Disciplinary TLC	9
	Institutional Levels and External Entities Involved in Change Efforts	11
	Credibility and Buy-In	12
	How to Initiate a Disciplinary TLC	14
	Outline of the Book	15
	References	16
2	Building Interest and Engagement Through Enrichment Activities	19
	Visiting Teacher/Scholars	19
	Characteristics of Visiting Teacher/Scholars	19
	Seminars and Workshops	23
	Guiding Principals in Developing Seminars and Workshops	24
	Selecting Seminar and Workshop Topics	25
	Evaluation of Seminars and Workshops	25
	PCK Focus of Seminars and Workshops	25
	Conclusion	34
	Implementation Guide	34
	Tips for Hosting a Successful Teacher/Scholar Visit	34
	Example Seminars and Workshops by PCK Component	35
	References	50

3	Acculturation of New Faculty Members	55
	Preparation and Work Context of New Faculty Members	55
	Getting to Know Our New Faculty Members	56
	Overview of the New Faculty Longitudinal Study	57
	Analysis of Study Findings by PCK Component	58
	Professional Development for New Faculty Members	72
	Welcome Workshop	73
	Seminars and Workshops	74
	Individual Consulting	74
	Connections to Networks and Faculty Learning Communities	75
	Funding Opportunities	75
	Conclusion	75
	Implementation Guide	76
	Longitudinal Study: Interview Protocols	76
	Welcome Workshop	78
	Welcome Packet	83
	References	85
4	Consultation for Individuals and Groups of Faculty	89
	The Need for Ongoing Professional Development	89
	Bridging the Gap Through Professional Development	90
	Our Model for Consulting	91
	Consultation for Individuals	93
	Consultation for Groups of Faculty	95
	Conclusion	101
	Implementation Guide	101
	Consultation for Individuals	101
	Consultation for Faculty Learning Communities	106
	References	110
5	Preparing Graduate Students for Their Teaching Responsibilities	115
	Need for Training	116
	Types of Training Currently Offered	116
	Short Workshops for Beginning GTAs	117
	Longer Preparatory or Support Course	117
	Teaching as Professional Development	117
	Being Observed	118
	Observation of Experienced Teachers	118
	Certificate Programs	118
	National Professional Development Networks	119
	Professional Development for GTAs in Our University	120
	Needs Assessment	120
	Our Professional Development Programs for GTAs	122
	Conclusion	131

Implementation Guide	132
Workshop: The Role of the GTA	132
Mandatory Six-Week Teaching Preparatory Course	134
2-Credit Course for Graduate Students	146
References	179
6 Evaluating the Effectiveness of a Teaching and Learning Center	185
The Role of Comprehensive Program Evaluation	185
Needs Assessment: A First Step	186
Stakeholders and Their Input into the TLC Needs Assessment	187
Final Steps of the Needs Assessment Process	192
Ongoing Evaluation: Measuring Five Levels of Program Impact	193
Level 1: Participation	194
Level 2: Satisfaction	200
Level 3: Learning	203
Level 4: Application	205
Level 5: Impact	211
Conclusion	216
Implementation Guide	216
Guiding Questions for Departmental Meetings—Needs Assessment....	216
Sample Completed Faculty Learning Community
Observation Protocol	217
References	218
7 Concluding Thoughts	223
Lessons Learned	224

A Discipline-Based Teaching and Learning Center

A Model for Professional Development

Marbach-Ad, G.; Egan, L.C.; Thompson, K.V.

2015, XVI, 226 p. 31 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-01651-1