

Contents

The Youth Experience Gap	1
1 Some Stylized Facts	5
1.1 Indicators of Absolute Disadvantage	5
1.2 The Relative Disadvantage	6
1.3 The AD and RD	7
1.4 The RD Over Time	10
1.5 Gender Differences	11
1.6 Employment Protection Legislation	12
2 The Youth Experience Gap	13
3 The Mainstream Approach to the Causes of Youth Unemployment . . .	15
4 Weaknesses of the Mainstream Approach	18
4.1 The Argument Against Negative Duration Dependence	18
4.2 Becker's Argument of Market Failure for Job-Specific Training . . .	19
4.3 Temporary Work: Stepping Stones or a Dead-End Jobs?	20
4.4 Labor Market Flexibility: Cause or Consequence?	21
5 The Interventionist Approach	25
5.1 The Challenge of Flexicurity	25
5.2 Employment Services and Job Search Strategies	26
5.3 The School-to-Work Transition	29
5.4 The Role of Family Networks	32
5.5 Youth Guarantee and Macroeconomic Stimulus	34
6 A Classification of School-to-Work Transition Regimes	37
6.1 North European System: Active Labor Market Policy	39
6.2 Continental European: The Dual Educational System	41
6.3 The Anglo-Saxon System: High Quality of Education and Labor Market Flexibility	44
6.4 The South European System: The Family and ... Temporary Work	46
6.5 The New Member States: Building a Modern Welfare System . . .	51
7 Discussion and Summary Remarks	54
References	55

The Youth Experience Gap
Explaining National Differences in the School-to-Work
Transition

Pastore, F.

2015, XVI, 61 p. 7 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-10195-8