
Contents

Part I Background

1 Introduction	3
1.1 Physical Evidence and the Holocaust	3
1.2 A Unique Approach	6
1.3 Defining Holocaust Archaeology	8
1.4 To Dig or Not to Dig ...	9
1.5 Archaeologies of the Holocaust	12
1.6 Traces of Memory	14
1.7 After Archaeology	14
1.8 Holocaust Archaeologies: Approaches and Future Directions	15
References	16
2 Context	19
2.1 Historical Background	19
2.2 Investigating Genocide	21
2.2.1 During World War II	23
2.2.2 Early Investigations of Holocaust Sites	25
2.2.3 Early Attempts to Identify Holocaust Victims	26
2.2.4 Holocaust Memorials	27
2.2.5 The Development of Genocide Investigations	29
2.2.6 Conflict Archaeology	30
2.3 Holocaust Archaeology	31
2.3.1 Scenarios	31
2.3.2 Legal Investigations	31
2.3.3 Humanitarian Projects	34
2.3.4 Commercial Archaeology	40
2.3.5 Serendipitous Discoveries and Rescue Archaeology...	41
2.3.6 Making Comparisons	42
2.4 Documenting Holocaust Sites	43
2.5 Reflections	45
References	46

3	Reading the Landscape.....	53
3.1	Understanding Context.....	53
3.2	Narratives of the Holocaust.....	54
3.2.1	Popular Narratives.....	54
3.2.2	Counter-Narratives.....	57
3.3	Between History and Memory.....	57
3.3.1	The Painful Past.....	58
3.3.2	Living Witnesses.....	59
3.3.3	The Modern Relevance of the Holocaust.....	59
3.3.4	The Implications of ‘Doing’ Archaeology.....	60
3.3.5	Opposition.....	61
3.4	Defining ‘Communities’.....	62
3.5	Religion and Sacred Spaces.....	64
3.5.1	Sacred Spaces.....	65
3.5.2	Jewish Halacha Law.....	66
3.5.3	Roma and Sinti.....	72
3.5.4	Christian Views on Death and Burial.....	74
3.5.5	Jehovah’s Witnesses.....	76
3.5.6	Victims’ Opinions.....	76
3.5.7	Differing Beliefs.....	77
3.6	Complexities.....	77
3.7	Why Should We Respect Different Beliefs?.....	78
	References.....	79

Part II Methodologies in Holocaust Archaeology

4	Ethical Issues and Project Design.....	87
4.1	Ethical Practice.....	87
4.2	Project Planning.....	88
4.2.1	Past, Present and Futures.....	88
4.2.2	Documentary Research.....	89
4.2.3	Site Visits.....	91
4.2.4	Discussions with Affected Groups and Individuals....	91
4.3	Methodological Considerations.....	93
4.3.1	Issues with Invasive Work.....	93
4.3.2	New Approaches.....	96
4.4	Practicalities.....	102
4.5	Sites with Alternative Functions.....	104
4.6	Community Archaeology Strategies.....	105
4.7	Defining the Field.....	109
	References.....	109
5	Desk-Based Investigation.....	113
5.1	Interdisciplinary Methodologies.....	113
5.2	Project Planning.....	113
5.3	Documentary Evidence.....	117
5.4	Witness Testimonies.....	117
5.5	Interviews.....	119

5.6	Plans	120
5.7	Availability and Reliability	123
5.8	Data Presentation and Analysis	127
5.9	Cartographic Data	127
5.10	Photographic Data	129
5.11	Media and Art	131
5.12	Historic Aerial Imagery	132
5.13	Modern Aerial Imagery and Satellite Data	135
5.14	Geographical Information Systems	137
	References	139
6	Above-Ground Field Investigations	143
6.1	Non-invasive Approaches	143
6.2	Light Detection and Ranging	143
6.3	Unmanned Aerial Vehicles	146
6.4	Walkover Surveys	147
6.5	Forensic Archaeological Search	149
6.5.1	Search Techniques	150
6.5.2	Forensic Taphonomy	152
6.5.3	Recording Taphonomic Indicators	156
6.6	Global Positioning System and Total Station Survey	157
6.7	Laser Scanning	163
6.8	Multi-Photo Photogrammetry	165
6.9	Building Recording	166
	References	168
7	Below-Ground Investigations	171
7.1	Assessing Buried Remains	171
7.2	Geophysical Survey	171
7.2.1	Ground Penetrating Radar	172
7.2.2	Resistance Survey	174
7.2.3	Magnetometry	176
7.2.4	Other Methods	178
7.2.5	Method Selection	179
7.2.6	Managing Expectations	180
7.3	Excavation	181
7.3.1	Rationale for Excavation	182
7.3.2	Excavation Strategies	182
7.3.3	Managing Expectations	185
7.4	Post-Recovery Analysis and Conservation	185
7.5	Excavating Human Remains	188
7.5.1	Body Recovery	189
7.5.2	Confirmatory Excavations	190
7.5.3	DNA Testing	192
7.6	Geochemical Testing	193
	Conclusion	194
	References	194

Part III Archaeologies of the Holocaust

8 Physical Evidence of the Holocaust	199
8.1 Introduction	199
8.2 Internment Camps and Sites	200
8.3 Extermination Camps	206
8.4 Ghettos	208
8.5 Euthanasia Sites	212
8.6 Killing and Disposal Sites	213
8.7 Infrastructure	217
8.7.1 Railways	217
8.7.2 Roads and Pathways	219
8.7.3 Sewers, Privies and Waterways	220
8.8 Beyond Boundaries	222
8.9 Material Evidence	224
8.10 Holocaust Landscapes	227
References	229
9 Archaeologies of Oppression, Deception and Resistance	235
9.1 Introduction	235
9.2 Control and Oppression	236
9.3 Evolving Landscapes	239
9.3.1 Interaction with the Landscape	239
9.3.2 Understanding Landscape Development	241
9.3.3 Absence	244
9.4 Camouflage, Concealment and Deception	245
9.4.1 Camouflage	246
9.4.2 Concealment	247
9.4.3 Deception	249
9.4.4 Living a 'Normal Life'	253
9.5 Resistance and Defiance	254
9.5.1 Temporality of Resistance	254
9.5.2 An Archaeology of Resistance	255
9.5.3 Techniques and Further Potential	258
9.6 Evidence of Absence	259
References	260
10 Archaeologies of Life, Work and Death	265
10.1 Introduction	265
10.2 Archaeology as a 'Material Witness'	265
10.3 Every Building Tells a Story	267
10.3.1 Standing Buildings	267
10.3.2 Demolished Structures	272
10.4 The Role of Labour in Life and Death	273
10.5 Products of Forced Labour	274
10.5.1 The Built Environment	275
10.5.2 'Raw Materials'	277

10.6 Burial and Body Disposal	278
10.6.1 Contesting Popular Perceptions	278
10.6.2 Cremation	279
10.6.3 Concealing Human Remains	281
10.6.4 Opportunistic Burial Sites	282
10.6.5 Marking of Graves	283
10.6.6 The Graves of Others	283
10.7 Identification	285
References	286
11 The Traces of Memory	291
11.1 Introduction	291
11.2 Issues Caused by Landscape Change	291
11.3 Recording the Past and Understanding the Present	294
11.4 Memorials and Museums as Layers	296
11.4.1 Construction of Memorials and Museums	297
11.4.2 Configuration of Preserved Traces	298
11.4.3 Care and Maintenance	301
11.4.4 Sites as Symbols	302
11.5 Reuse and Modification	303
11.5.1 Circumstances of Reuse	304
11.5.2 Recording Reuse	309
11.6 Vandalism and Dilapidation	309
11.7 Mapping the ‘Unseen’	312
11.8 ‘Performing’ Heritage	316
11.8.1 Observation	316
11.8.2 Mapping Memories	319
11.8.3 Perpetuation of Memory	319
References	320
12 (Re-)Presenting the Holocaust	325
12.1 After Archaeology	325
12.2 What Can Holocaust Archaeology Reveal?	326
12.3 A Future Resource	328
12.3.1 Written Accounts	328
12.3.2 Enhancing Museums and Memorial Spaces	328
12.3.3 Digital User Interfaces	330
12.3.4 Remote Exhibitions	332
12.3.5 Media	332
12.3.6 Internet and Social Media	334
12.3.7 Materials for Educators and Students	335
12.3.8 The Arts and Archaeology	336
12.4 Ethical Considerations	337
12.5 Challenging Historical Narratives	339
12.5.1 Political Narratives	339
12.5.2 Challenging Witnesses	342
12.5.3 Entering Historical Narratives	343
12.5.4 Increasing Engagement	345

12.6 Uses and Abuses of Archaeology	347
12.7 The Future of Holocaust Archaeology.....	349
References	351
Index	355

Holocaust Archaeologies

Approaches and Future Directions

Sturdy Colls, C.

2015, XVII, 358 p. 148 illus., 130 illus. in color.,

Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-10640-3