

Contents

1 Introduction: Youth Quotas—Mapping the Field	1
Jörg Tremmel, Antony Mason, Igor Dimitrijoski and Petter Haakenstad Godli
2 What Do Quotas Do? Reflections on the Ubiquity and Justice of Quotas	7
Radostin Kaloianov
3 Are Youth Quotas a Form of Ageism?	21
Tobias Hainz
4 Better Procedures for Fairer Outcomes: Can Youth Quotas Increase Our Chances of Meeting the Demands of Intergenerational Justice?	37
Juliana Bidadanure
5 Can Youth Quotas Help Avoid Future Disasters?	57
Ivo Wallimann-Helmer
6 Saving the Planet by Empowering the Young?	77
Anja Karnein and Dominic Roser
7 Towards All Voices, from All Levels and in Their Own Ways? A Discussion of the Youth Quota Proposal as an Incremental Policy Innovation for Sustainability	93
Rafael Ziegler
8 Encouraging and Supporting Children’s Voices	109
Sarah-Jane Conrad, Claire Cassidy and Christian Mathis
9 Democracy or Epistocracy? Age as a Criterion of Voter Eligibility	125
Jörg Tremmel and James Wilhelm

10 Giving 16-Year-Olds the Vote. Experiences from Norway	149
Petter Haakenstad Godli
11 Afterword: Libertarian Hesitations	177
Marcel Wissenburg
Index	187

Youth Quotas and other Efficient Forms of Youth
Participation in Ageing Societies

Tremmel, J.; Mason, A.; Godli, P.H.; Dimitrijoski, I. (Eds.)

2015, X, 188 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-13430-7