

Contents

1	Heidegger's Life and Early Philosophy	1
1.1	Early Philosophy	4
1.2	Human Being	7
1.3	Critical Thinking in the Early Heidegger	11
	References	14
2	Heidegger's Later Philosophy	15
2.1	Truth	16
2.2	Language	17
2.3	Art and Poetry	18
2.4	Thinking	21
2.5	Critical Thinking in the Later Heidegger	22
2.6	Humanism	23
2.7	Enframing	25
	References	28
3	Education Enframed and 'Real'	31
3.1	Heidegger on Education	33
3.2	Heidegger and English-Language Education Scholarship: The First Wave	36
3.3	Education and Enframing: The Second Wave	37
3.4	'Real' Education	43
	References	45
4	The Meaning of Learning	47
4.1	Learning and the Early Heidegger	48
4.2	Learning as Entanglement	49
4.3	Learning as Disentanglement	50
4.4	Learning and the Later Heidegger	51
4.5	Two Modes of Learning in Heidegger	52
4.6	Learning in Young Dasein	53

4.7	Heidegger and Learning Theory	54
4.8	Behaviourism	54
4.9	Cognitive Learning Theory	56
4.10	Situated Learning Theory	57
4.11	Learning in Everyday Contents	58
4.12	Humanist Learning Theory	59
4.13	Conclusion	60
	References	61
5	What Is Called Teaching?	63
5.1	The Early Heidegger and Teaching	64
5.2	The Later Heidegger and Teaching	69
5.3	Heidegger the Teacher	77
5.4	Conclusion	80
	References	82
6	The Question Concerning Curriculum	85
6.1	Curriculum Traditions	87
6.2	Reconceptualising Curriculum	94
6.3	Toward an Ontological Curriculum	98
	References	103
7	Heidegger's Challenge to Education	105
7.1	Problematizing Education	106
7.2	Contributions to a 'Real' Education	109
	References	113

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-19805-7>

Martin Heidegger

Challenge to Education

Hodge, S.

2015, XII, 113 p., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-19805-7