

Contents

Foundations

Channel Choice: A Literature Review	3
Christian Ø. Madsen and Pernille Kræmmergaard
Conceptualising the Digital Public in Government Crowdsourcing: Social Media and the Imagined Audience.	19
Panos Panagiotopoulos and Frances Bowen
Steering the Digital Agenda at Arm's Length. All Wobble, No Spin: The Contextual Lens	31
Maddalena Sorrentino, Marco De Marco, and Paolo Depaoli
E-Government Systems Design and Implementation in Developed and Developing Countries: Results from a Qualitative Analysis	44
Catherine G. Mkude and Maria A. Wimmer
Theoretical Support for Social Media Research. A Scientometric Analysis . . .	59
Laura Alcaide Muñoz and Manuel Pedro Rodríguez Bolívar

Open and Smart Government

Big and Open Linked Data (BOLD) to Create Smart Cities and Citizens: Insights from Smart Energy and Mobility Cases	79
Marijn Janssen, Ricardo Matheus, and Anneke Zuiderwijk
Open Innovation Contests for Improving Healthcare – An Explorative Case Study Focusing on Challenges in a Testbed Initiative	91
Siri Wassrin, Ida Lindgren, and Ulf Melin
Public Accountability ICT Support: A Detailed Account of Public Accountability Process and Tasks	105
Rui Pedro Lourenço, Suzanne Piotrowski, and Alex Ingrams
Mediating Citizen-Sourcing of Open Government Applications – A Design Science Approach	118
Mai Abu-El Seoud and Ralf Klischewski
Processing Linked Open Data Cubes	130
Efthimios Tambouris, Evangelos Kalampokis, and Konstantinos Tarabanis

Scrutinizing Open Government Data to Understand Patterns in eGovernment Uptake	144
Helle Zinner Henriksen

Advancing e-Government Using the Internet of Things: A Systematic Review of Benefits	156
Paul Brous and Marijn Janssen

Understanding Public-Private Collaboration Configurations for International Information Infrastructures	170
Bram Klievink

Services, Processes and Infrastructure

Inter-organizational Public e-Service Development: Emerging Lessons from an Inside-Out Perspective	183
Marie-Therese Christiansson, Karin Axelsson, and Ulf Melin

What Is This Thing Called e-Service? Interoperability Challenges in e-Service Modelling.	197
Svein Ølnes and Arild Jansen

Removing the Blinkers: What a Process View Learns About G2G Information Systems in Flanders	209
Lies Van Cauter, Monique Snoeck, and Joep Crompvoets

Makers and Shapers or Users and Choosers Participatory Practices in Digitalization of Public Sector	222
Katarina L. Gidlund

Why Realization Mismatches Expectations of e-Government Project Benefits? Towards Benefit Realization Planning	233
Dian Balta, Vanessa Greger, Petra Wolf, and Helmut Krcmar

Electronic Data Safes as an Infrastructure for Transformational Government? A Case Study	246
Joachim Pfister and Gerhard Schwabe

An Ontology of eGovernment.	258
Arkalgud Ramaprasad, Aurora Sánchez-Ortiz, and Thant Syn

Application Areas and Evaluation

Privacy in Digital Identity Systems: Models, Assessment, and User Adoption	273
Armen Khatchatourov, Maryline Laurent, and Claire Levallois-Barth

Comparing Local e-Government Websites in Canada and the UK	291
Laurence Brooks and Alexander Persaud
Evaluating a Passive Social Media Citizensourcing Innovation	305
Euripidis Loukis, Yannis Charalabidis, and Aggeliki Androutsopoulou
Three Positives Make One Negative: Public Sector IS Procurement.	321
Aki Alanne, Pasi Hellsten, Samuli Pekkola, and Iris Saarenpää
Proactivity Postponed? ‘Capturing’ Records Created in the Context of E-government – A Literary Warrant Analysis of the Plans for a National e-archive Service in Sweden.	334
Ann-Sofie Klareld
Author Index	349

Electronic Government

14th IFIP WG 8.5 International Conference, EGOV 2015,
Thessaloniki, Greece, August 30 -- September 2, 2015,
Proceedings

Tambouris, E.; Janssen, M.; Scholl, H.J.; Wimmer, M.A.;
Tarabanis, K.; Gascó, M.; Klievink, B.; Lindgren, I.;
Parycek, P. (Eds.)

2015, XV, 349 p. 37 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-22478-7