

Extensive Table of Contents

List of Figures.....	XIX
List of Tables	XXI
Abbreviations	XXVII
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Research problem and aim	1
1.2 Research questions	7
1.3 Scope of research	10
1.4 Research methodology and approach.....	12
1.5 Structure of thesis	14
2 Literature Review and Theoretical Background.....	19
2.1 Brands and identity-based brand management.....	19
2.2 Sponsorship and its role in the marketing communications mix	21
2.2.1 History and development	21
2.2.2 Definitions and current understanding.....	30
2.2.3 Sponsorship forms	35
2.2.4 Sponsorship objectives.....	41
2.2.5 Role in the marketing communications mix	46
2.3 Sponsorship alliance.....	53
2.4 Brand image	56
2.4.1 Historical roots of brand image in marketing	57
2.4.2 Characteristics and definition of the brand image concept.....	59
2.4.3 Attitude-based perspective on brand image.....	72
2.4.4 Associative network-based perspective on brand image	78
2.4.5 Functions of brand image.....	81
2.5 Theoretical perspectives on image transfer.....	93
2.5.1 Congruity theory	94
2.5.2 Multi-store model of memory	103
2.5.3 Associative learning theory.....	106

3	Conceptual Framework	115
3.1	Objectives and guiding principles of a conceptual framework	115
3.2	The behaviorist S-R paradigm.....	116
3.3	The cognitivist S-O-R paradigm	119
3.4	Application of the cognitivist S-O-R paradigm on image transfer in a sponsorship alliance	120
3.4.1	The realm of stimulus	121
3.4.2	The realm of response	122
3.4.3	The realm of organism	124
3.5	Synthesis of the conceptual framework	135
4	Development of Research Model.....	139
4.1	Brand image transfer from co-sponsor to focal sponsor	139
4.2	Stability of focal sponsor brand image.....	141
4.3	Brand image transfer from sponsorship property to focal sponsor	142
4.4	Direct and moderating effects of brand image fit	143
4.4.1	Direct effects of brand image fit	144
4.4.2	Moderating effects of brand image fit	147
4.5	Moderating effects of focal sponsor brand familiarity.....	151
5	Research Design and Methodology.....	157
5.1	Creation of a fictitious sponsorship alliance	157
5.2	Experimental design and data collection.....	159
5.3	Sampling procedure.....	162
5.4	Assessment of measurement scales.....	166
5.4.1	Assessment of brand image scale – Attitude-based perspective.....	171
5.4.2	Assessment of brand image scale – Associative network-based perspective ..	173
5.4.3	Assessment of brand image fit scale.....	174
5.4.4	Assessment of brand familiarity scale	175

6	Hypotheses Testing and Discussion of Results	177
6.1	Manipulation checks	177
6.2	Convergence of brand attitudes and personality profiles	178
6.2.1	Hypotheses testing	179
6.2.2	Discussion	183
6.3	Attitude transfer in the fictitious sponsorship alliance.....	184
6.3.1	Hypotheses testing	188
6.3.2	Discussion	190
6.4	Personality transfer in the fictitious sponsorship alliance.....	192
6.4.1	Hypotheses testing	193
6.4.2	Discussion	195
6.5	Direct effects of brand image fit	198
6.5.1	Hypotheses testing	198
6.5.2	Discussion	198
6.6	Moderating effect of focal sponsor/co-sponsor brand image fit	201
6.6.1	Hypotheses testing	203
6.6.2	Discussion	204
6.7	Moderating effect of co-sponsor/sponsorship property brand image fit.....	206
6.7.1	Hypotheses testing	206
6.7.2	Discussion	207
6.8	Moderating effects of focal sponsor/sponsorship property brand image fit.....	209
6.8.1	Hypotheses testing	209
6.8.2	Discussion	212
6.9	Moderating effects of focal sponsor brand familiarity.....	213
6.9.1	Hypotheses testing	214
6.9.2	Discussion	215
6.10	Summary of empirical findings.....	218

7	Conclusions and Future Research Directions.....	221
7.1	Key findings	221
7.1.1	A co-sponsor's brand image can spill over to the focal sponsor	221
7.1.2	A good matchup with the property will be of direct favor for a sponsor.....	222
7.1.3	Brand image fit is beneficial to image transfer between allied brands	223
7.1.4	Familiar brands may stand to gain more from allied brands	223
7.2	Implications for sponsorship practice	224
7.2.1	Implications for brand managers	224
7.2.2	Implications for sponsorship property managers.....	228
7.3	Contributions to sponsorship research	229
7.4	Limitations and directions for future research	231
	References.....	235
	Appendixes.....	279

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-658-07249-0>

Growing Brands Through Sponsorship
An Empirical Investigation of Brand Image Transfer in a
Sponsorship Alliance

Gross, P.

2015, XXVIII, 349 p. 26 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-658-07249-0