1	Introduction	15
1.1	Achievements and Enduring Questions in Trust Research	15
1.2	Aim and Structure of this Work	21
1.3	Summary of Empirical Results	25
2	The Concept of Trust.....	29
2.1	Objective Structure	31
2.1.1	Constituents of Interpersonal Trust Relations	31
2.1.2	The Basic Trust Problem.....	33
2.1.3	Trust and Action.....	35
2.1.4	Social Uncertainty.....	36
2.1.5	Vulnerability	38
2.2	Subjective Experience.....	39
2.2.1	The Phenomenology of Trust.....	39
2.2.2	Expectations and Intentions	41
2.2.3	About Risk	48
2.2.4	Morals of Trust.....	52
2.2.5	Feelings and Emotions	56
2.3	Conceptual Boundaries	63
2.3.1	Familiarity and Confidence	63
2.3.2	Self-Trust	66
2.3.3	System Trust	67
2.3.4	Distrust.....	69
2.4	From Structure to Experience	74
3	Origins and Explanations: An Interdisciplinary Approach.....	79
3.1	Psychological Development.....	81
3.1.1	Learning and Socialization.....	81
3.1.2	Basic Trust	85
3.1.3	Individual Dispositions and Traits	88
3.1.4	Models of Trust Development.....	91
3.2	Sociological Perspectives.....	97
3.2.1	Functions of Trust	97

3.2.2	Social Embeddedness.....	100
3.2.3	Social Capital and Reciprocity.....	110
3.2.4	Trust and Culture.....	112
3.3	The Economics of Trust.....	119
3.3.1	The Rational Choice Paradigm	119
3.3.2	Modeling Trust.....	123
3.3.3	Encapsulated Interest	126
3.3.4	Contracts and Agency	132
3.3.5	Social Preferences	139
3.3.6	The Limits of Rational Choice	147
3.4	Is Trust Rational?	151
4	Trust and Adaptive Rationality	157
4.1	Different Routes to Trust	159
4.2	Adaptive Rationality	166
4.2.1	The Dual-Process Paradigm.....	166
4.2.2	Context Dependence	174
4.2.3	Heuristics and Mental Shortcuts	180
4.2.4	The Neuroscience of Trust	185
4.3	Determinants of Information Processing	188
4.3.1	Opportunity	189
4.3.2	Motivation.....	190
4.3.3	Accessibility, Applicability, and Fit.....	191
4.3.4	Effort-Accuracy Tradeoffs	192
4.4	Dual-Processing: A Critical Assessment	194
4.5	The Model of Frame Selection.....	197
4.5.1	Modeling Adaptive Rationality.....	197
4.5.2	The Automatic Mode	200
4.5.3	The Rational Mode.....	204
4.5.4	The Mode-Selection Threshold.....	207
4.6	Explaining Conditional and Unconditional Trust	215
4.7	Theoretical and Empirical Implications	225

5	The Social Construction of Trust	235
5.1	Defining the Context.....	237
5.1.1	Symbolic Interaction	237
5.1.2	Language and other Signals	241
5.1.3	Relational Communication.....	247
5.1.4	Framing Relationships	249
5.2	Trust and Identity	251
5.2.1	The Concept of Identity.....	251
5.2.2	Categorization Processes.....	255
5.2.3	Signaling Identities.....	260
5.3	Active Trust Production	264
5.3.1	Active Trust.....	264
5.3.2	Impression Management	266
5.3.3	Trust Management Strategies.....	268
6	Developing an Empirical Test.....	273
6.1	Operationalization of Dependent and Independent Variables	276
6.1.1	The Measurement of Trust	276
6.1.2	Linking Transfer Decisions and Processing Modes	280
6.1.3	Recording Decision Times	282
6.1.4	Chronic Accessibility of Frames and Scripts	287
6.1.5	Intuition and the “Need for Cognition”	291
6.1.6	Control Variables	294
6.2	Experimental Design and Method.....	295
6.2.1	Experimental Design	295
6.2.2	Context Treatment.....	297
6.2.3	Incentive Treatment	300
6.2.4	Participants.....	303
6.2.5	Materials and Procedure.....	305
6.3	Empirical Hypotheses	306
6.3.1	Using the Model to Predict Trust	306
6.3.2	Main Effects.....	307
6.3.3	Interaction Effects	311
6.4	Descriptive Statistics.....	316
6.5	Analyzing Trust	324
6.5.1	Model Specification	324

6.5.2	Chronic Frame and Script Accessibility	329
6.5.3	NFC/FI as Mode-Selection Determinants	341
6.5.4	Discussion	343
6.6	Analyzing Decision Times	347
6.6.1	Model Specification	347
6.6.2	Distribution of DT and Non-Parametric Analyses	348
6.6.3	Chronic Frame and Script Accessibility	355
6.6.4	NFC/FI and Decision Times	358
6.6.5	Discussion	361
6.7	Exploring Subgroups	363
6.7.1	Low and High Accessibility	363
6.7.2	Cognitive Types	364
6.7.3	Combining Accessibility and Processing Preferences	367
6.8	Summary of Empirical Results	369
7	Synthesis: A Broad Perspective on Trust	377
7.1	Trust, Framing, and Adaptive Rationality	379
7.2	The Role of Institutions and Culture	383
7.3	Avenues for Future Trust Research	386
