List of Abbreviations	XIX
1. Concept of the research endeavor	1
1.1 Research focus	2
1.2 Research gap	4
1.3 Relevance of research	6
1.4 Structure of research	7
2. Methodology and cognitive approach of the research endeavor	9
2.1 Epistemological approach	9
2.2 Sociological Paradigm	12
2.3 Unit of analysis	14
3. Theoretical foundation of the research endeavor	15
3.1 Selection and commensurability of theories	15
3.2 Introduction of relevant theories and their application	16
3.2.1 Entrepreneurship Theory and definition of central terms	18
3.2.2 Competence-based Theory of the Firm (CbTF)	22
3.2.3 Evolution Theory and further theories of social change	27
3.2.4 Liabilities of Newness	29
3.2.5 Human Capital Theory	34
3.2.6 Prospect Theory	35
3.2.7 Affect as Information	36
3.2.8 Path Dependence	37
3.2.9 Real Options Reasoning	46
4. Overview of existing research	49
4.1 Overview of existing research on entrepreneurial success and failure factors	50
4.1.1 Overview and critique of the research area of entrepreneurial success factors	51
4.1.2 Overview the research area and findings about entrepreneurial failure factors	54
4.1.3 Delimitation of further literature in related areas	59

4.2	Overview of existing research about fear in entrepreneurship	60
4.2.1	Existing research about emotions in general in business studies and entrepreneurship research	61
4.2.2	Existing research about fear in particular in entrepreneurship research	64
4.2.2.1	The role of fear in psychological research	65
4.2.2.2	The role of fear in economic research	67
4.2.2.3	The role of fear in entrepreneurship research	74
4.2.3	The role and definition of fear used in this research study	75
4.3	Fear of entrepreneurial failure and its components	79
5.	Entrepreneurial failure over time - the Entrepreneurial Funnel.....	83
5.1	Existing process models of entrepreneurial venture creation	83
5.2	Expansion of the existing process models from an Evolution Theory perspective and development of the Entrepreneurial Funnel	86
5.2.1	Derivation of relevant phases of the entrepreneurial process for this study.....	86
5.2.2	Application of Evolution Theory on the entrepreneurial process.....	88
5.2.3	Development of the Entrepreneurial Funnel.....	89
5.2.4	Quantification of the Entrepreneurial Funnel	94
5.3	Success and Failure in the Entrepreneurial Funnel	102
5.3.1	Path dependence within the Entrepreneurial Funnel	102
5.3.2	Reasons for success or failure in each step from a theory perspective.....	109
5.3.3	The role of fear in the Entrepreneurial Funnel	114
5.4	Outlook and expandability of framework.....	115
6.	Conceptualization of empirical research	117
6.1	Aim of empirical research and hypotheses to be tested	117
6.2	Empirical approach.....	124
6.3	Design of the survey	126
6.3.1	Design of the questionnaire	126
6.3.1.1	Usage of scales.....	128
6.3.2	Survey of the funnel step	131
6.3.3	Survey of fear	131
6.3.4	Survey of anticipated failure causes	133
6.3.5	Survey of attributes.....	136
6.3.5.1	Selection of a structuring framework for the entrepreneurs' individual attributes	137
6.3.5.2	Selection of attributes to be surveyed – economic view (skill)	138
6.3.5.3	Selection of attributes to be surveyed – psychological view (will).....	141
6.3.5.4	Selection of attributes to be surveyed – socio-demographic view.....	142

6.3.6	Consideration of social desirability	142
6.3.7	Consideration of general anxiety	146
6.3.8	Further concepts not included in this survey	148
6.4	Results of the pre-test and adaptation of the final test.....	149
6.5	Description of final survey	150
6.5.1	Selection of survey participants.....	150
6.5.2	Description of sample	152
6.6	Overview of the operationalization of the relevant variables.....	155
6.7	Empirical methodology	156
7.	Empirical findings	159
7.1	Empirical findings about the amount of fear of potential entrepreneurs (“How much do they fear?”).....	159
7.1.1	Overview of approach.....	160
7.1.2	Empirical findings about fear of failure.....	161
7.1.2.1	The amount of fear of potential founders	161
7.1.2.2	Fear of failure as predominant driver of overall fear	163
7.1.2.3	The components of fear: probability and valuation	165
7.1.2.4	Importance of each component: Valuation as dominant driver.....	168
7.1.2.5	Shift of component importance along the funnel: cold feed before foundation	170
7.1.3	Summary of results and implications	173
7.2	Empirical findings about feared causes of failure (“What do they fear?”)	176
7.2.1	Overview of approach.....	178
7.2.2	Results	179
7.2.2.1	Overview of actual failure causes of ventures according to literature	179
7.2.2.2	Determination of anticipated failure causes from survey	185
7.2.2.3	Match of actual and anticipated failure causes	195
7.2.2.4	Implications of a realistic assumption of failure reasons.....	204
7.2.2.5	Influence of the individual attributes of an entrepreneur on the accuracy of the estimation of failure reasons.....	207
7.2.3	Summary of results and implications	210
7.3	Empirical findings about the connection between the entrepreneurs’ profiles and their success chances in the steps of the Entrepreneurial Funnel	212
7.3.1	Overview of approach.....	213
7.3.2	Who fears? The influence of individual attributes on fear	214
7.3.2.1	Prerequisite: Does fear actually influence the foundation decision?	214
7.3.2.2	Conceptual thoughts and backgrounds about the influence of individual attributes on fear	215

7.3.2.3	Empirical findings about the influence of individual attributes on fear	221
7.3.2.4	Summary of individual attributes influencing fear and confirmation of hypotheses.....	227
7.3.3	Who founds? The influence of individual attributes on the probability to found a company.....	231
7.3.3.1	Prerequisite: Are the entrepreneurs' individual attributes actually relevant for the probability of foundation?	231
7.3.3.2	Findings from literature about the influence of individual attributes on the probability to found.....	233
7.3.3.3	Empirical findings about the influence of individual attributes on the probability to found.....	239
7.3.3.4	Summary of individual attributes influencing actual foundations of companies	241
7.3.4	Who succeeds? The influence of individual attributes on the probability to succeed with a venture.....	243
7.3.4.1	Prerequisite: Do the attributes of the individual founder actually influence venture success?	243
7.3.4.2	Findings from literature about the influence of individual attributes of entrepreneurs on venture success	245
7.3.4.3	Summary of individual attributes which influence the success of ventures.....	249
7.3.5	Interpretation of results and implications	250
7.3.5.1	Summary of findings	250
7.3.5.2	Interpretation.....	253
7.3.5.3	Implications	254
8.	Final summary and outlook.....	257
8.1	Final summary	257
8.2	Application of insights	260
8.3	Discussion and accordance with current state of research	264
8.4	Limitations.....	266
8.5	Outlook and suggestions for future research	270
