

About the Author

Xiaoxi Wang PhD, entitled to Special Government Allowances of the State Council, is a professor, doctoral supervisor, Academic Committee member, and the Economic Ethics Institution Director of Nanjing Normal University. He currently acts as the Vice President of the China National Association for Ethical Studies (CNAES), President of the China Association of Economic Ethics, and Director of the Renmin University of China Ethical and Moral Development Research Center Economic Ethics Institution, one of China's 100 key humanities and social science research centers as designated by the Ministry of Education. As a leading expert in the General History of the Chinese Economic Ethics Thought Research Program, a major project put out to tender by the National Social Science Fund, he is an editorial board member of journals like Chinese Social Science Digest, Studies in Ethics and Morality and Civilization, and the Chief Editor of the Chinese Economy Ethics Yearbook. His main works include Economic Ethics in China, Moral Capital and Economic Ethics (self-selection), General Theory of Ethics (chief editor), Modern Western Philosophy of Life (chief editor) and 60 Years of Ethics in China (co-author). His The Traditional Economic Ethics Thought of China has been translated into Korean. In the 2011 Chinese Outstanding Scholars in the Humanities and Social Sciences: A Report published by the Chinese University Alumni Alliance, Wang Xiaoxi was named as part of the List of Outstanding Chinese Scholars in the Humanities and Social Sciences, which was published for the third time.

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-662-45543-2>

On Moral Capital

Wang, X.

2015, XI, 266 p. 8 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-662-45543-2