
Contents

1	From Tacit Allies to Strategic Competitors: Post-Cold War
	Transformation of Sino-US Dynamics	1
	A Security Dilemma Unfolds	1
	Maritime Military Muscle-Flexing	3
	Antagonism Gains a Locus	6
	An Unusual Bipolarity	8
	Tiananmen Square's Shadows	13
	The China Threat Discourse	15
	China's 'Multipolarity' Debate	22
	References	28
2	Systemic Transitional Fluidity	35
	Modelling Complexity	35
	What Transition?	40
	A Matter of Mutual Mistrust	47
	The Prism of History	52
	An Insecurity-Dialectic Crystallises	56
	References	65
3	The Asian Pivot and a New Bipolarity	71
	Between Hope and Despair	71
	Mutual Muscularity	78
	A 'Capabilities Breakout'?	87
	Transitional Diplomacy	95
	References	97
4	Maritime Disputes: Regional Hotspots or Systemic Flashpoints? . . .	107
	An Ultimatum of Sorts	107
	A Maturing Dynamic	114
	Of Face, Fish, Oil and Gas	117
	Strategic Implications	120

Southern Discomfort	122
Resource Conundrums	126
Sleepwalking into Maritime Conflict?	132
References	138
5 Strategic Competition in a Globalised World	147
Threats and Scares	147
Electronic Warfare	152
Tables Turn	154
Peninsular Histrionics	158
A Summit Like None Other?	161
Rivalry Resurgent	164
Dialectic Dynamics	169
References	176
6 Accommodation or Annihilation?	189
A Geopolitical Hydra	189
Lethally Transitional Fluidity	193
Rivalry in a Globalised World	198
Baby Steps Forward?	203
The Void Ahead	209
References	212
Bibliography	219

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-662-46659-9>

US-China Strategic Competition
Towards a New Power Equilibrium

Ali, S.M.

2015, XIV, 230 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-662-46659-9