

Contents

1	Introduction. “A Way to Master This World”	1
1.1	Didactics of Mathematics and Hans Freudenthal: Definition of the Problem and Phrasing of the Question	1
1.2	Don Quixote: The Freudenthal Myth?	3
1.3	Research Method: The Use of Freudenthal’s Personal Archive	4
1.4	The Nature of the Study and the Historiography	5
1.5	The Structure of This Book	7
	References	8
2	Mathematics Education in Secondary Schools and Didactics of Mathematics in the Period Between the Two World Wars	11
2.1	Secondary Education in the Period Between the Two World Wars	12
2.1.1	The Origin of the School Types in Secondary Education	12
2.1.2	Some School Types	13
2.1.3	The Competition Between HBS and Gymnasium	15
2.2	Discussions on the Mathematics Education at the VHMO	16
2.2.1	The Initial Geometry Education and the Foundation of the Journal Euclides	18
2.2.2	The Beth Committee and the Introduction of Differential and Integral Calculus	22
2.2.3	The Controversy About Mechanics	25
2.2.4	Educating the Mathematics Teacher	27
2.2.5	New Insights and the Wiskunde Werkgroep (Mathematics Working Group)	30
	References	32
3	Hans Freudenthal—A Sketch	37
3.1	Hans Freudenthal—An Impression	37
3.2	Luckenwalde	39
3.3	Berlin	41
3.4	Amsterdam	43
3.5	Utrecht	51
	References	56

4	Didactics of Arithmetic	61
4.1	Dating of ‘Rekendidaktiek’	62
4.2	Cause and Intention	63
4.3	Teaching of Arithmetic in Primary Schools	66
4.4	Freudenthal’s ‘Rekendidaktiek’: The Content.....	68
4.4.1	Preface.....	69
4.4.2	Auxiliary Sciences	69
4.4.3	Aim and Use of Teaching of Arithmetic	74
4.5	‘Rekendidaktiek’ (‘Didactics of Arithmetic’): All Positive Action Starts with Criticism	76
	References	79
5	A New Start	81
5.1	Educating.....	87
5.1.1	Educating at Home.....	87
5.1.2	‘Our Task as Present-Day Educators’	88
5.1.3	‘Education for Thinking’.....	90
5.1.4	‘Educating’ in De Groene Amsterdammer.....	95
5.1.5	‘The Cooperative Task of the Educator in Forming a Person’	98
5.1.6	Education: A Summary	101
5.2	Higher Education.....	102
5.2.1	Studium Generale.....	103
5.2.2	The Teachers Training.....	106
5.2.3	Student Wage	111
5.2.4	Higher Education: A Ramshackle Parthenon or a House in Order?	113
5.3	The Wiskunde Werkgroep (Mathematics Working Group).....	114
5.3.1	Activities of the Wiskunde Werkgroep	116
5.3.2	‘The Algebraic and Analytical view on the Number Concept in Elementary Mathematics’	118
5.3.3	‘Mathematics for Non-Mathematical Studies’.....	124
5.3.4	Freudenthal’s Mathematical Working Group.....	125
	References	125
6	From Critical Outsider to True Authority	133
6.1	Mathematics Education and the Education of the Intellectual Capacity.....	136
6.2	A Body Under the Floorboards: The Mechanics Education.....	142
6.3	Preparations for a New Curriculum.....	148
6.4	Probability Theory and Statistics: A Text Book	155
6.5	Paedagogums, Paeda Magicians and Scientists: The Teacher Training.....	161
6.6	Freudenthal Internationally	170
	References	172

7	Freudenthal and the Van Hiele's Level Theory. A Learning Process	179
7.1	Introduction: A Special PhD Project.....	179
7.2	Freudenthal as Supervisor	181
7.3	'Problems of insight': Van Hiele's Level Theory	185
7.4	Freudenthal and the Theory of the Van Hieles: From 'level theory' to 'guided re-invention'	189
7.5	Analysis of a Learning Process: Reflection on Reflection	198
7.6	To Conclude.....	199
	References	200
8	Method Versus Content. New Math and the Modernization of Mathematics Education	205
8.1	Introduction: Time for Modernization.....	205
8.2	New Math	207
8.2.1	The Gap Between Modern Mathematics and Mathematics Education	207
8.2.2	Modernization of the Mathematics Education in the United States	208
8.3	Royaumont: A Bridge Club With Unforeseen Consequences	212
8.3.1	Freudenthal in 'the group of experts'	213
8.3.2	Royaumont Without Freudenthal: The Launch of New Math	224
8.4	Freudenthal on Modern Mathematics and Its Meaning for Mathematics Education	226
8.4.1	The Nature of Modern Mathematics.....	226
8.4.2	Modern Mathematics for the Public at Large	229
8.4.3	The Mathematician "in der Unterhose auf der Straße" ("In his Underpants on the Street")	230
8.4.4	Fairy Tales and Dead Ends.....	232
8.4.5	Modern Mathematics as the Solution?.....	234
8.5	Modernization of Mathematics Education in the Netherlands	236
8.5.1	Initiatives Inside and Outside of the Netherlands	237
8.5.2	Freudenthal: From WW to 'Cooperate with a view to Adjust'	239
8.5.3	The Commissie Modernisering Leerplan Wiskunde.....	242
8.5.4	A Professional Development Programme for Teachers	244
8.5.5	A New Curriculum	245
8.6	Geometry Education	250
8.6.1	Freudenthal and Geometry Education	252
8.6.2	Freudenthal on the Initial Geometry Education: Try It and See.....	254
8.6.3	Axiomatizing Instead of Axiomatics—But Not in Geometry	255
8.6.4	Modern Geometry in the Education According to Freudenthal	257

8.7	Logic.....	258
8.7.1	Exact Logic	259
8.7.2	The Application of Modern Logic in Education	262
8.8	Freudenthal and New Math: Conclusion	266
8.8.1	A Lonely Opponent of New Math?.....	266
8.8.2	Cooperate in Order to Adjust	268
8.8.3	Knowledge as a Weapon in the Struggle for a Better Mathematics Education	269
8.8.4	Freudenthal About the Aim of Mathematics Education.....	271
	References	272
9	Here's How Freudenthal Saw It	283
9.1	Introduction: Changes in the Scene of Action.....	283
9.2	Educational Studies in Mathematics	286
9.2.1	Not Exactly Bursting with Enthusiasm: The Launch.....	287
9.2.2	Freudenthal as Guardian of the Level.....	289
9.3	The Institute for the Development of Mathematics Education.....	291
9.3.1	From CMLW to IOWO.....	291
9.3.2	Freudenthal and the IOWO.....	293
9.4	Exploring the World from the Paving Bricks to the Moon.....	300
9.4.1	Observations as a Father in 'Rekendidaktiek'.....	300
9.4.2	Observing as Grandfather Walking with the Grandchildren.....	304
9.4.3	Granddad Hans: A Critical Comment	306
9.4.4	Walking on the Railway Track: The Mathematics of a 3-Year Old.....	310
9.4.5	Observing and the IOWO	312
9.5	Observations as a Source.....	314
9.5.1	Professor or Senile Grandfather?	314
9.5.2	The Paradigm: The Ultimate Example.....	316
9.5.3	Here is How Freudenthal Saw It: Concept of Number and Didactical Phenomenology	319
9.5.4	The Right to Sound Mathematics for All	327
9.6	Enfant Terrible	333
9.6.1	Weeding	333
9.6.2	Drumming on Empty Barrels.....	335
9.6.3	Freudenthal on Piaget: Admiration and Merciless Criticism....	339
9.7	The Task for the Future.....	346
	References	348
10	Epilogue. We Have Come Full Circle	361
	References.....	365
	Bibliography	367
	Index.....	367

All Positive Action Starts with Criticism

Hans Freudenthal and the Didactics of Mathematics

la Bastide-van Gemert, S.

2015, XV, 386 p. 39 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-94-017-9333-9