Part I Elements of Formal Action Theory

1	Elementary Action Systems	3
1.1	Introductory Remarks	3
1.2	Elementary Action Systems	6
1.3	Examples	13
1.4	Performability of Atomic Actions in Elementary Action Systems	21
1.5	Performability and Probability	26
1.6	Languages, Automata, and Elementary Action Systems	41
1.7	Compound Actions	50
1.8	Programs and Actions	60
2	Situational Action Systems	63
2.1	Examples—Two Games	63
2.1.1	Noughts and Crosses	63
2.1.2	Chess Playing	65
2.2	Actions and Situations	69
2.2.1	An Example. Thomson Lamp	80
2.3	Iterative Algorithms	81
2.4	Pushdown Automata and Pushdown Algorithms	90
2.5	The Ideal Agent	98
2.6	Games as Action Systems	101
2.7	Cellular Automata	108
2.8	A Bit of Physics	112
3	Ordered Action Systems	115
3.1	Partially Ordered Sets	116
3.2	Fixed-Point Theorems for Relations	118

3.3	Ordered Action Systems: Applications of Fixed-Point Theorems. . . . .	126
3.4	Further Fixed-Point Theorems: Ordered Situational Action Systems . . . . .	131

Part II Freedom and Enforcement in Action

4	Action and Deontology . . . . .	143
4.1	Atomic Norms. . . . .	147
4.2	Norms and Their Semantics. . . . .	152
4.3	The Logic of Atomic Norms . . . . .	162
4.4	The Closure Principle . . . . .	171
4.5	Compound Actions and Deontology . . . . .	176
4.6	Righteous Systems of Atomic Norms . . . . .	181
4.7	More About Norms . . . . .	189
5	Stit Frames as Action Systems . . . . .	195
5.1	Stit Semantics . . . . .	195
5.2	Stit Frames as Action Systems. . . . .	201
5.3	Ought Operators . . . . .	203
6	Epistemic Aspects of Action Systems . . . . .	209
6.1	Knowledge Models . . . . .	209
6.1.1	Introduction. . . . .	209
6.1.2	Propositional Epistemic Logic . . . . .	211
6.1.3	The Idea of Knowledge . . . . .	211
6.1.4	Gettier . . . . .	211
6.1.5	Exploring (K) . . . . .	212
6.1.6	Extensionality . . . . .	213
6.1.7	What Is Involved in Knowing? . . . . .	213
6.1.8	Situational Semantics . . . . .	214
6.1.9	The Logical Framework . . . . .	215
6.1.10	Other Renditions . . . . .	216
6.1.11	Knowledge Models as Action Systems . . . . .	216
6.2	The Frame Problem . . . . .	218
6.3	Action and Models for Non-monotonic Reasonings . . . . .	225
6.3.1	Reasoning in Epistemic Contexts . . . . .	225
6.3.2	Frames for Non-monotonic Reasonings. . . . .	232
6.3.3	Tree-Like Rules of Conduct . . . . .	238

Bibliography . . . . .	247
Symbol Index . . . . .	253
Index of Definitions and Terms . . . . .	255
Index of Names . . . . .	259

Freedom and Enforcement in Action

A Study in Formal Action Theory
