

Contents

1	Introduction	1
	The Research Project	2
	Significance of the Issue	4
	About Teacher Resilience	5
	Layout and Structure	5
	Reading the Book	6
	References	7
2	Policies and Practices	9
	Provide Relevant, Rigorous and Responsive Pre-service Preparation for the Profession	11
	Partners for Learning	11
	Commentary	12
	Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	12
	Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	12
	School Leaders	12
	Colleagues	13
	Early Career Teachers	13
	Insights from Early Career Teachers	13
	Importance of Professional Experience	13
	Diverse School Experiences	13
	Importance of Role Models	13
	Emphasising the Importance of Relationship Building	13
	Insights from School Leaders	14
	Preparing for the Twenty-First Century	14
	Gaps in Knowledge	14
	Being Innovative	14
	Wisdom from the Literature	14
	Conceptual Coherence in Teacher Education	14
	Forging Locally Appropriate Partnerships	14

Benefits of Mentoring Pre-service Teachers	14
Negotiating the School–University Divide.	15
Dangers of Imitating Practice	15
Practices That Constrain Resilience	15
Ignoring the Realities of the Classroom	15
Assuming Understanding	15
Inappropriate Appointments	15
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	15
Create Innovative Partnerships and Initiatives That Assist Smooth Transitions to the Workforce.	16
More than Just a Grade	16
Commentary	16
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience.	17
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups.	17
School Leaders	18
Colleagues	18
Early Career Teachers	18
Insights from Early Career Teachers.	19
Insights from School Leaders	19
Wisdom from the Literature	19
Pre-service Teacher Education Is a Shared Responsibility.	19
Practices That Constrain Resilience	19
Telling Teachers to Forget What They Have Been Taught in Their Pre-service Courses	19
Failing to Make the Connections	20
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	20
Implement Transparent, Fair and Responsive Employment Processes	20
At Last I Feel Like I Actually Have a Career!.	21
Commentary	22
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience.	22
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups.	22
School Leaders	23
Colleagues	23
Early Career Teachers	24
Insights from Early Career Teachers.	24
Quality Induction.	24
Threatening Practices	24
Waiting, Waiting...	24

Insights from School Leaders	25
Bending the ‘Rules’	25
Staffing Dilemmas	25
Longer Contracts	25
Wisdom from the Literature	25
Incentives, School Conditions and Teacher Retention	25
Recruitment and Retention	25
Practices That Constrain Resilience	25
Lack of Professional Development for Contract Teachers	25
Selfish Colleagues	26
Lack of Support from the Community	26
Lack of Due Process	26
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	26
References	26
3 Teachers’ Work	29
Acknowledge the Complex, Intense and Unpredictable Nature of Teachers’ Work	30
A Way Through the Fog	31
Commentary	31
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	32
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	32
School Leaders	32
Colleagues	32
Early Career Teachers	33
Insights from Early Career Teachers	33
Getting Involved in Things	33
Finding a Good Mentor	33
Taking It Easy on Myself	33
Attending to Personal Relationships	33
Insights from School Leaders	34
Giving Early Career Teachers a Chance to Find Their Feet	34
Getting to Know the School	34
Earning Credit Points	34
Wisdom from the Literature	34
Acknowledging the Relational Dimensions of Teaching	34
Appreciating the Complexity of Teaching	34
Developing a Sense of Presence in Teaching	34
Fostering a Spirit of Inquiry	35
Practices that Constrain Resilience	35
Blaming the Individual	35
Setting Unrealistic Deadlines	35

Trying to Work Through Illness	35
Beating Yourself Up	35
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	35
Develop Teachers' Curriculum and Pedagogical Knowledge and Strategies	36
Kicking the Caffeine	36
Commentary	37
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	38
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	38
School Leaders	38
Colleagues	38
Early Career Teachers	38
Insights from Early Career Teachers	39
Wanting Feedback	39
Valuing Diversity	39
Being Shown How	39
Seeing Progress	39
Insights from School Leaders	39
Recognising Early Career Teachers' Needs	39
Enabling Success	39
Encouraging Critique	40
Focusing on Positives	40
Valuing Early Career Teachers' Contributions	40
Wisdom from the Literature	40
Challenges of Inclusivity	40
Feeling Unprepared	40
Inducting for Ambitious Pedagogy	40
Multi-year, Developmental Induction	41
Giving Systematic Feedback	41
Practices that Constrain Resilience	41
Leaving Them to 'Sink or Swim'	41
Providing Only Negative Feedback on Their Curriculum and Pedagogical Knowledge and Processes	41
Leaving Them to Cope Alone with Extreme Behaviour Issues	41
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	42
Provide Support to Create Engaging Learning Environments	42
Connecting for Calm	42
Commentary	43
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	44
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	44
School Leaders	44

Colleagues	44
Early Career Teachers	44
Insights from Early Career Teachers.	45
Accepting a Shared Concern.	45
Investing in Creating Collaborative Learning Environments	45
Implementing Theory and Practice.	45
Insights from Leaders.	45
Providing a Supportive Environment	45
Acknowledging Achievements.	45
Focusing on Student Learning.	45
Providing an Accepting Learning Culture	45
Wisdom from the Literature	46
Teaching Matters.	46
Treating Students Humanely	46
Managing Learning Environments is Complex Work	46
Practices that Constrain Resilience.	46
Giving Ill-Informed Advice.	46
Criticising Rather than Helping	46
Resisting Alternative Views	46
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	47
Ensure Access to Appropriate Ongoing Support, Resources and Learning Opportunities.	47
Not Just a Luxury	47
Commentary	48
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience.	48
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups.	48
School Leaders	49
Other Teachers	49
Early Career Teachers	49
Insights from Early Career Teachers.	49
Taking Ownership of Professional Learning	49
Acknowledging the Value of Time	49
Get Excited About the Possibilities	49
Insights from School Leaders	50
Promoting Early Career Teachers as Learners	50
Acknowledging the Value of Professional Learning	50
Professional Learning as an Investment	50
The Importance of Time.	50
Certainty	50
Wisdom from the Literature	50
Empowering Teachers for Sustained Professional Learning	50
Professional Learning that Focuses on Student Success	50
Professional Learning for the Long Term	51

Practices that Constrain Resilience	51
Advocating Responsibility	51
Feeling Guilty	51
Lack of Planning	51
Presenting a Facade	51
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	51
References	52
4 School Culture	55
Promote a Sense of Belonging and Social Connectedness	56
In the Deep End	57
Commentary	57
Possibilities for Encouraging Resilience	58
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional
Groups	58
School Leaders	58
Colleagues	58
Early Career Teachers	58
Insights from Early Career Teachers	59
Getting to Know the Kids	59
Adjusting to Strange Places	59
Working with Fantastic People (or not)	59
Having a Place and Space	59
Feeling at Home	59
Insights from School Leaders	59
Working Together to Resolve Issues	59
Knowing the School Community	60
Developing Relationships in Small Schools	60
Sharing Knowledge and Experience	60
Wisdom from the Literature	60
Caring for Places and Each Other	60
Creating a Sense of Community	60
Fostering Commitment, Allegiance and Obligation	60
Shaping Identity and Possibilities	60
Practices that Discourage Resilience	61
Letting ‘Good’ Teachers Go	61
Coming to a ‘Graveyard School’	61
Challenging Weather Conditions	61
Feeling Unsupported by Administration	61
Hearing Negative Talk	61
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	61
Develop Educative, Democratic and Empowering Processes	62
Care for Them	62
Commentary	63

Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	63
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	63
School Leaders	64
Colleagues	64
Early Career Teachers	64
Insights from Early Career Teachers	64
Focusing on Achievements	64
Co-Teaching with a Peer	64
Joining Forces to Make Changes	65
Insights from School Leaders	65
Treating Early Career Teachers as Professionals	65
Being a Leader in the Classroom	65
Planning Together and Setting Goals	65
Encouraging New Ideas	65
Seeing Yourself as Part of the Bigger Picture	65
Wisdom from the Literature	66
Resisting ‘Balkanisation’	66
Valuing Inclusion and Professional Discussion	66
Being Available as a Leader	66
Remaining Open to New Ideas	66
Practices that Constrain Resilience	66
Struggling with Negativity	66
Feeling Hopeless	67
Being Excluded	67
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	67
Provide Formal and Informal Transition/Induction Processes	67
All Alone	67
Commentary	68
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	69
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	69
School Leaders	70
Colleagues	70
Early Career Teachers	70
Insights from Early Career Teachers	70
Providing an Introductory Booklet	70
Comprehensive Induction	71
Insights from School Leaders	71
Responsibility of School Leaders	71
Appropriate Placements	71
Availability of Mentors	71
Wisdom from the Literature	71
Effective Induction	71

Fostering Resilience	71
The Benefits of Collaborative Inquiry	72
Practices that Constrain Resilience	72
Opting Out of ‘Classroom Matters’	72
Appointing ‘Disappearing’ Mentors	72
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	72
Develop a Professional Learning Community	73
Team Approach	73
Commentary	74
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	74
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	74
School Leaders	74
Colleagues	75
Early Career Teachers	75
Insights from Early Career Teachers	75
Reciprocal Support	75
Collaborative Planning	75
Limiting School Practices	75
Insights from School Leaders	75
Collaboration	75
Reciprocal Learning	76
Facilitating Support	76
Giving Affirmation	76
Wisdom from the Literature	76
The Importance of School Norms and Patterns of Interaction	76
Relationship Between Professional Learning Cultures and Retention	76
Teachers as Role Models of Learning	76
Developing Common Understandings	77
Sharing Leadership	77
Practices that Constrain Resilience	77
Frequent Changes in Leadership	77
Insensitive Feedback	77
Conditional Support	77
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	77
References	78
5 Relationships	79
Promote a Sense of Belonging, Acceptance and Wellbeing	81
One on One	81
Commentary	82
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	82

Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	82
School Leaders	83
Colleagues	83
Early Career Teachers	83
Insights from Early Career Teachers.	83
Meeting Half Way	83
Fitting In	83
Building a Support Network	84
Valuing Families	84
Insights from School Leaders	84
Monitoring Early Career Teacher Wellbeing	84
Being Visible	84
Celebrating Community	84
Modelling Resilience	84
Wisdom from the Literature	84
Influence of School Relationships	84
Adverse Effects of Balkinisation	85
Early Career Teacher Disillusionment.	85
Emotions in Professional Practice	85
Practices that Constrain Resilience.	85
Valuing Conformity over Creativity	85
Underestimating Their Expertise	85
Treating Them Disrespectfully.	85
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	86
Place Student–Teacher Relationships at the Heart of the Teaching–Learning Process	86
Because of the Kids.	86
Commentary	88
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience.	88
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	88
School Leaders	88
Colleagues	89
Early Career Teachers	89
Insights from Early Career Teachers.	89
Enjoying the Students	89
Acknowledging Students’ Capabilities	89
Creating Relationship-Building Opportunities	89
Insights from Leaders.	89
Honouring Parents’ Trust	89
Building Positive Teacher–Student Relationships	90
Caring for Learning	90
Wisdom from the Literature	90

Valuing Learning Relationships	90
Sharing Power with Students	90
Negotiating Relational Challenges	90
Understanding Parents' Attitudes	90
Practices that Constrain Resilience	90
Coping Alone with Extreme Behaviours	90
Relying Too Heavily on NAPLAN	91
Holding Unrealistic Expectations	91
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	91
Foster Professional Growth	91
Focus on What's Right	91
Commentary	92
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	93
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	93
School Leaders	93
Colleagues	93
Early Career Teachers	93
Insights from Early Career Teachers	93
Valuing Professional Dialogue	93
Accepting Constructive Feedback	94
Insights from School Leaders	94
Initiating 'Learning Conversations'	94
Acknowledging Effort	94
Wisdom from the Literature	94
Valuing Teachers	94
Appreciating the Role of Positive 'Everyday' Events	94
Understanding How the Lack of Support Impacts on Teachers' Growth	94
Acknowledging the Role of Dialogue in Fostering Personal/Professional Growth	94
Practices that Constrain Resilience	95
Ignoring the Positives	95
Giving Mixed Messages	95
Making Assumptions About Knowledge	95
Not Understanding What It's Like to Be New in the Profession	95
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	95
Promote Collective Ownership and Responsibility for Professional Relationships	95
Give and Take	96
Commentary	96
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	97

Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	97
School Leaders	97
Colleagues	97
Early Career Teachers	97
Insights from Early Career Teachers	98
Chatting with People	98
Creating Supportive Networks	98
Dropping in and Lending Support	98
Insights from School Leaders	98
Valuing Each Other	98
Wisdom from the Literature	98
Creating Authentic Teacher Learning Experiences	98
Mentoring and Collaboration for School Change	99
Supporting and Retaining New Teachers	99
Developing Teacher Learning	99
Learning in Relationship with Others	99
Practices that Constrain Resilience	99
Feeling Guilty	99
Practising Negativity	99
Excluding Newcomers	99
Questions for Reflection and Conversation	100
References	100
6 Teacher Identity	103
Understand the Interplay Between Personal and Professional Identities	105
Taking Sides	105
Commentary	106
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	106
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	106
School Leaders	107
Colleagues	107
Early Career Teachers	107
Insights from Early Career Teachers	108
Finding a Balance	108
Being Yourself	108
You Do a Better Job When You're Happy in Your Work	108
It's Important that Other People See You as a Professional	108
Insights from School Leaders	108
When You Teach, You Take on a Role	108
See Yourself as a Professional	108
People are Different	108

Acknowledge the Interplay Between Personal and Professional Identities	109
Wisdom from the Literature	109
Teachers' Identities are Shaped in Interaction with Others	109
Learning to Teach Involves Learning a New Identity	109
Good Teachers Tend to be Those Who Can Be Themselves in the Classroom	109
Identity Formation Often Involves Grappling with Tensions	109
Practices that Constrain Resilience	109
Having Unrealistic Expectations	109
Having a Limited View of Professionalism or of What Constitutes Being a Teacher	110
Not Knowing Early Career Teachers as People	110
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	110
Engage in Self-reflection.	110
'But He's Unsafe...'	111
Commentary	111
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience.	112
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups.	112
School Leaders	112
Colleagues	112
Early Career Teachers	113
Insights from Early Career Teachers.	113
Talking to Others	113
Understanding the 'Bigger Picture'	113
Insights from School Leaders	113
The Importance of Time.	113
Provide Leadership	114
Teach Reflection	114
Depersonalise the Situation.	114
Wisdom from the Literature	114
Taking Responsibility for Being Reflective.	114
Reflection as the Basis for Change	114
Being Explicit.	114
Practices That Constrain Resilience	115
Forget What You Learnt at Uni.	115
Theory is Useless—Just Copy 'Good Practitioners'	115
Good Teachers are Born Good Teachers.	115
Teaching Is a 'Hands on Job'—Turn Your Brain off	115
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	115
Foster a Sense of Agency, Efficacy and Self-worth	115

The Healthier Me	116
Commentary	117
Possibilities for Promoting Resilience	117
Employers, Unions, Universities and Other Professional Groups	117
School Leaders	117
Colleagues	118
Early Career Teachers	118
Insights from Early Career Teachers	118
Appreciating the Link Between Your Wellbeing and Your Students' Wellbeing	118
Acknowledging the Importance of Education	118
Understanding That Teaching Is Emotional Work	118
Prioritising a Work–Life Balance	119
Insights from School Leaders	119
Supporting Early Career Teachers' Wellbeing	119
Managing the Highs and Lows	119
Encouraging Early Career Teachers to Ask for Help	119
Wisdom from the Literature	119
Understand the Emotional World of a Teacher	119
Recognise the Importance of 'Teacher Wellbeing'	119
Foster the Powerful Emotion of 'Hope'	119
Understand the Power of Emotions	120
Appreciate the Impact of Self-perception	120
Practices That Constrain Resilience	120
Not Asking for Support or Help	120
Not Looking After Yourself	120
Letting the Job Overwhelm You	120
Not Providing Support	120
Lacking Confidence	120
Questions for Reflection and Conversations	120
References	121
7 Conclusions	123

Early Career Teachers

Stories of Resilience

Johnson, B.; Down, B.; Le Cornu, R.; Peters, J.; Sullivan,

A.; Pearce, J.; Hunter, J.

2015, XXIII, 124 p. 2 illus. in color., Softcover

ISBN: 978-981-287-172-5