

Contents

| | | |
|----------|--|-----------|
| 1 | Introduction | 1 |
| 1.1 | The South China Sea Seen from the Perspective of Asian Regionalism | 2 |
| 1.2 | A Critical Realist Approach to Research on the South China Sea | 10 |
| 2 | Critical Realism and the Morphogenetic Approach | 15 |
| 2.1 | Clarifying the Meaning of Ontology | 15 |
| 2.2 | The Concept of ‘Emergence’ and the Implications of Living and Knowing in Open Systems | 17 |
| 2.3 | Linking Critical Realism to the Morphogenetic Approach | 19 |
| 2.3.1 | The Morphogenetic Approach in Succinct Terms | 21 |
| 2.3.2 | The Concept of ‘Interests’ in the Morphogenetic Approach | 24 |
| 3 | A Critical Genealogy of the Emergence of the South China Sea as a ‘Complex’ in International Relations | 27 |
| 3.1 | The South China Sea as Hybrid Subject and Object | 28 |
| 3.2 | The South China Sea as Colonial Subject and Object | 39 |
| 3.3 | The South China Sea as Postcolonial Subject and Object | 48 |
| 4 | The United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS III) and China’s Assertion of the U-shaped Line | 61 |
| 4.1 | The U-shaped Line in China’s Maritime Claims and UNCLOS | 62 |
| 4.2 | Testing China’s Legal Claims: Resilience or Subordination | 68 |
| 4.3 | The ‘ASEAN Way’: Between Self-reflexive Understanding and Multilateral Diplomacy with Chinese Characteristics | 73 |
| 5 | Conclusion | 85 |

| | |
|------------------------------------|-----|
| Bibliography | 93 |
| About the Authors | 103 |
| About this Book | 105 |

The South China Sea and Asian Regionalism

A Critical Realist Perspective

Truong, T.-D.; Knio, K.

2016, XII, 105 p. 20 illus., 6 illus. in color., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-13550-2