

Contents

Introduction	1
Antje Campen, Dirk Fornahl, Nikolai Iliew and Michael Hülsmann
 Part I Client’s Perspectives: Threats and Opportunities
Strategic Perspectives of Electric Mobility—Steps Towards the Slope of Enlightenment	9
Richard Colmorn and Michael Hülsmann
On the Road to an Electric Mobility Mass Market—How Can Early Adopters be Characterized?	21
Axel Ensslen, Alexandra-Gwyn Paetz, Sonja Babrowski, Patrick Jochem and Wolf Fichtner
How to Increase the Attractiveness of Electric Cars as Fleet Cars?	53
Jasmin Nehls
Flexible Carsharing—Potential for the Diffusion of Electric Mobility	67
Sandra Wappelhorst, Julia Dobrzinski, Andreas Graff, Josephine Steiner and Daniel Hinkeldein
 Part II Policy Perspectives
Public E-Mobility Funding and its Influence on Cooperation and Innovation	87
Isa Reinecke
China’s Leapfrog to New Electric Vehicles	103
Peter Thomas in der Heiden

Part III Management Perspectives

Organizations as Change Agents Towards New Modes of (Sustainable) Mobility: Insights from Practice Oriented Projects . . .	131
Dirk Dalichau and Birgit Blättel-Mink
Competition, Cooperation, or Both? Designing Coopetitive Structures in the German Automotive Supply Industry	145
Lukas Schilling, Thomas M. Fojcik and Konrad Wirmer
Valuing Battery Degradation from a Battery Lessor's Perspective	163
Björn Hildebrandt, Sebastian Busse, Simon Trang and Lutz M. Kolbe
The Influence of Organisational and Structural Parameters of Commercial Fleets on the Substitution Potential of Battery Electric Vehicles	179
Heike Flämig, Christian Matt, Christian Rudolph and Sören Christian Trümper
Who Wants to Be a Millionaire? The Lead Market Potential of Electric Mobility	195
Noreen E. Werner

Markets and Policy Measures in the Evolution of Electric
Mobility

Fornahl, D.; Hülsmann, M. (Eds.)

2016, VIII, 215 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-24227-9