

Contents

1	Introduction: The Heretic Who Survived?	1
2	Leavis: Life, Work and Heritage	5
2.1	Student, Nurse, Researcher (1914–1924)	5
2.2	Teacher, Critic, Editor-Publisher (1925–1962)	6
2.3	Teacher, Prophet (1963–1978)	8
2.4	Intellectual Affinities	9
2.5	Ortega y Gasset: Leavis’s Distant Cousin	10
2.6	Leavis Studies	11
	References	13
3	Leavis’s Educational World-View	15
3.1	A Systemic Perspective on Leavis	15
3.2	The Living Principle	17
3.3	The Living Person	18
3.4	The Living Purpose—the University as Creative Centre of Civilisation	20
3.5	A Strong Present Sense	22
	References	24
4	Leavis and Pedagogy: Critical ‘Theory’	25
4.1	Leavis’s Paradigm of Critical Exchange	25
4.2	Form and Function of the Critical Exchange	27
4.3	Leavis’s Paradigm: An Empty Metaphysic?	28
4.4	A Shared System of Values?	30
	References	33
5	Leavis and Pedagogy: Critical Practice	35
5.1	Practicability and Leavis’s Paradigm	35
5.2	Wyatt’s Criticism of Leavis	36
5.3	Pedagogisation	37
5.4	Master and Novice	38
5.5	The Paradigm’s Reception and Its Contemporary Relevance	38

5.6	Archer and Leavis on Creativity . . . . .	40
5.7	Criticality, Care and Generosity. . . . .	41
	References . . . . .	42
6	Leavis and the Creative University . . . . .	45
6.1	The Concentrated Centre . . . . .	45
6.2	Radical Disorder . . . . .	46
6.3	The University as Work-in-Progress. . . . .	47
6.4	Interdisciplinarity. . . . .	48
6.5	Reclaiming the Idea of the University . . . . .	49
6.6	The Economy of Creativity. . . . .	50
6.7	Leavis and Home Truths . . . . .	52
	References . . . . .	53
7	Being Taught by Leavis . . . . .	57
7.1	Recollections of Leavis . . . . .	57
7.2	Leavis at York . . . . .	58
7.3	Leavis's Seminar on Eliot. . . . .	60
7.4	Leavis and the Supplement. . . . .	62
	References . . . . .	64

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-25983-3>

F. R. Leavis

The Creative University

Cranfield, S.

2016, VII, 65 p., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-25983-3