

Contents

Foreword by Alfred M. Worden	ix
Acknowledgements	xii
Author’s prologue.....	xiv
1 The spaceman from Shawnee, Oklahoma.....	1
Pioneering family	2
Taking to the air	6
A determination to succeed.....	8
Test pilot days	12
Reporting to the Pentagon.....	15
Pathway to space.....	17
2 To be the best.....	23
A problem solved.....	24
First public exposure.....	25
On being an astronaut	29
The need for speed	35
Public perceptions.....	38
Using the power	41
First among equals	43
Preparing for space	47
Setting the date.....	50
3 Final preparations.....	57
Mission experiments	59
“Letting off steam”.....	64
4 Last man up in Mercury.....	73
Problems, and a delay	74
“One hell of a ride”	80
A short delay, and lift-off.....	88

Into orbit.....	93
Lights, camera, action.....	94
Drifting flight and flashing lights.....	97
The flight continues.....	99
5 “Right on the old Gazoo!”	108
Total power failure.....	109
Preparing for re-entry.....	110
Crucial countdown.....	114
Fiery journey home.....	117
“A very good space flight”	119
6 Action in the Pacific	124
Recovery rehearsals.....	124
Scrubbed for 24 hours.....	129
Ready for action.....	132
A spot-on splashdown.....	136
Readjusting to gravity.....	143
Next day at sea.....	154
Ship’s technicians remember	158
The view from Mission Control.....	160
7 A hero returns	164
The big Aloha	166
Back in Florida.....	169
Ceremony at the White House	176
An address before Congress.....	180
A New York ticker-tape celebration.....	184
“Welcome Home, Gordo”	192
8 “Eight days or bust”	204
Locating the MA-9 problems.....	206
Selecting the Gemini crews.....	207
A long-duration flight	211
Flight scrub	214
“A long time getting back”.....	215
Setting records	221
A mission ends.....	225
9 Closing doors	231
An understudy yet again	231
Losing Apollo	238
Leaving NASA behind.....	240
Life beyond Disney.....	244

Epilogue: The final journey	247
Faith 7 crisscrosses the nation	247
Last orbital flight of a spaceflight legend.....	253
 Appendices	 263
 About the author	 285
 Index.....	 286

Faith 7

L. Gordon Cooper, Jr., and the Final Mercury Mission

Burgess, C.

2016, XVIII, 291 p. 244 illus., 88 illus. in color., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-30562-2

A product of Praxis