

Contents

Part I Theories, Concepts and Methodologies in Sustainability Science

|                                                                                                                                               |          |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| Philosophy of Field Methods in the GPSS-GLI Program: Dealing with Complexity to Achieve Resilience and Sustainable Societies . . . . . | 3 |
| Takashi Mino, Miguel Esteban, Vivek Anand Asokan,Niranji Satanaratchchi, Tomohiro Akiyama, Izumi Ikedaand Chiahsin Chen               |          |

Part II Global Field Exercises

|                                                                                                                                                    |           |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Designing Field Exercises with the Integral Approach for Sustainability Science: A Case Study of the Heihe River Basin, China. . . . .      | 23 |
| Ricardo O. San Carlos, Heng Yi Teah, Tomohiro Akiyama and Jia Li                                                                                   |           |
| Field Survey Key Informant Interviews in Sustainability Science: Costa Rica's PES Policy of Changing Focus from Quantity to Quality . . . . | 41 |
| Doreen Allasiw, Yuki Yoshida, Giles Bruno Sioen, Rene Castro,Ying Palopakon, Toshinori Tanaka, Toru Terada, Akiko Iidaand Makoto Yokohari  |           |

Part III Exercises on Resilience

|                                                                                                                                                  |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Assessment of Fieldwork Methodologies for Educational Purposes in Sustainability Science: Exercise on Resilience, Tohoku Unit 2015. . . . | 67 |
| Ricardo O. San Carlos, Olga Tyunina, Yuki Yoshida, Aimee Mori,Giles Bruno Sioen and Jiaqi Yang                                               |           |
| Drawing Lessons from the Minamata Incident for the General Public: Exercise on Resilience, Minamata Unit AY2014. . . . .                  | 93 |
| Eri Amasawa, Heng Yi Teah, Joanne Yu Ting Khew, Izumi Ikedaand Motoharu Onuki                                                                |           |

Part IV Sustainability Science Field Research

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| Sustainability Science as the Next Step in Urban Planning and Design . . . . .                                                                                                                                | 117 |
| Giles Bruno Sioen, Toru Terada and Makoto Yokohari                                                                                                                                                                   |            |
| A Methodology to Evaluate Sustainability in the Face of Complex Dynamics: Implications for Field Studies in Sustainability Science . . . . .                                                                  | 137 |
| Niranji Satanaratchchi and Takashi Mino                                                                                                                                                                              |            |
| Sustainability Field Exercises in Rural Areas: Applying the Community Marginalization Framework to Examine Qualitative Changes in Rural Communities . . . . .                                                 | 153 |
| Shogo Kudo                                                                                                                                                                                                           |            |
| Participatory Mapping and Problem Ranking Methodology in the Research of Sustainable Communities—Workshop with Indigenous People Under Community-Based Forest Management Program in the Philippines . . . . . | 177 |
| Marcin Pawel Jarzebski                                                                                                                                                                                               |            |
| Rapid Sustainability Appraisal of Collapsed Jatropha Projects in Ghana Using Local Community Perceptions: Methodological Implications for Sustainability Science . . . . .                                    | 199 |
| Abubakari Ahmed and Alexandros Gasparatos                                                                                                                                                                            |            |
| Index . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                               | 229 |

Sustainability Science: Field Methods and Exercises

Esteban, M.; Akiyama, T.; Chiahsin, C.; Ikeda, I.; Mino, T.
(Eds.)

2016, VIII, 243 p. 52 illus., 25 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-32929-1