

Contents

Barriers in Nanomedicine: The Importance of Defined Chemistry and Engineering Approaches for Clinical Translation	1
Huei-Huei Chang, Shaneen Braswell, Jonathan George, Mark Gryka, Sumin Kim, Nicolas Kolmodin, Manu Kumar, Benjamin Seadler, Oluwayemisi Sonoiki, and Dipanjan Pan
Nanoscope Agents in a Physiological Environment: The Importance of Understanding Their Characteristics	29
Victoria Sherwood, Desirè Di Silvio, and Francesca Baldelli Bombelli
Rational Design of Multifunctional Nanoscale Self-Assembled Soft Materials for Biomedical Delivery Application	55
Shrinivas Venkataraman
Multimodal Imaging and Theranostic Application of Disease-Directed Agents	75
Joseph Caffarini, Nathan Kelleher, Christian C. Konopka, Madeline Mazurek, Anuradha Nandyala, Dwani Patel, Stephanie Slania, Sheryl Wang, Ravi Chandra Yada, and Dipanjan Pan
Nano-Enabled Delivery of Intracellular Therapeutics	105
Fatemeh Ostadhossein, Enrique Alejandro Daza, Daniel Frankowski, Drew Goatz, Molly Imgruet, Joseph Kus, Ryan Lake, Mallika Modak, Nick Olsen, Aaron Schwartz-Duval, Alyssa Zimmer, Nicholas Kolmodin, and Dipanjan Pan
Personalized Medicine: Where Do We Go from Here?	121
Dipanjan Pan
Index	131

Personalized Medicine with a Nanochemistry Twist

Nanomedicine

Pan, D. (Ed.)

2016, VII, 133 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-33544-5