

Contents

|          |                                                             |           |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1 | The Counterfactual Account of Causation              | 1  |
| 1.1      | Hume's Definitions                                          | 1         |
| 1.2      | Causal Dependence                                           | 2         |
| 1.3      | Overdetermination                                           | 4         |
| 1.4      | Prevention and Preemptive Prevention                        | 8         |
| 1.5      | Causal Influence                                            | 10        |
| 1.6      | Fine-Graining and Causal Contextualism                      | 12        |
| 1.7      | Causal Perspectivalism                                      | 15        |
| 1.8      | Events                                                      | 17        |
| 1.9      | Causal Models and Actual Causation                          | 18        |
| 1.10     | Causal Models, Late Preemption and Trumping                 | 21        |
| 1.11     | Does Causal Modelling Offer a New Analysisof Causation? | 24        |
|          | References                                                  | 25        |
| 2 | The Ranking-Theoretic Account of Causation           | 27 |
| 2.1      | Ranking Functions                                           | 27        |
| 2.2      | Direct Causation                                            | 30        |
| 2.3      | Ranking Theory and Overdetermination                        | 30        |
| 2.4      | Ranking Theory and Counterfactual Dependence                | 32        |
| 2.5      | Ranking Theory and Causal Models                            | 34        |
|          | References                                                  | 36        |
| 3 | The Probabilistic Account of Causation               | 39 |
| 3.1      | Prima Facie Causation                                       | 39        |
| 3.2      | Background Contexts                                         | 42        |
| 3.3      | Probabilistic Causation and Overdetermination               | 44        |
| 3.4      | Probabilistic Causation and Ranking Theory                  | 46        |
|          | References                                                  | 48        |

|                                                               |    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| 4 Causal Processes                                     | 49 |
| 4.1 Mark Transmission and Causal Processes                    | 49 |
| 4.2 Causal Processes and Overdetermination.                   | 53 |
| 4.3 Causal Processes, Preventions and Omissions               | 54 |
| 4.4 Fine-Graining Events                                      | 56 |
| References                                                    | 57 |
| 5 Explanatory Exclusion and the Context of Explanation | 59 |
| 5.1 Causal Exclusion and Explanatory Exclusion                | 59 |
| 5.2 The Context of Explanation                                | 61 |
| 5.3 Two Strategies for Explanatory Exclusion.                 | 62 |
| 5.4 The Hard Problem of Consciousness                         | 66 |
| References                                                    | 67 |
| 6 Conclusions and Final Remarks                        | 69 |
| References                                                    | 74 |
| Appendix A: Lewis's Counterfactuals                    | 75 |
| Appendix B: The Regularity Theory of Causation         | 77 |
| Appendix C: Fundamental Events                         | 83 |
| Index                                                  | 85 |

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-33800-2>

Causal Overdetermination and Contextualism

Céspedes, E.

2016, XII, 86 p. 4 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-33800-2